"As We See It"

By J. A. Strang

NO DOUBT everybody likes pictures. They give one a much better idea of what the subject looks like than any description of it would convey. The word though is used to name several different kinds of scenes. It could mean movies of course, or it might mean photographs, or snapshots. Again there is such a thing as word pictures, and then there are these innumerable pictures that hang on memory's wall. Often the mention of some particular word will recall one of those memory pictures. The mention of the City of Nanaimo, which you will know is located on the Island of Vancouver, recalls to mind this picture. We had shipped our car across the Straits that Saturday afternoon and upon landing at Nanaimo we had all gone to the barber shop for a hair cut. There are times when a hair cut can make one feel so much better and this was one of those times. Then we put up our tent in the motor camp and although we were far from home and only had a tent to live in yet we had the usual Saturday night bath. It was early to bed that night and waking early on Sunday morning we stepped outside the tent to see what was going on. There were quite a few motorists in camp that night, but as we stepped out, the only other person in sight was a lady combing her hair outside her tent, about four tents down our row. She was quite stout and was wearing riding breeches. At that time bobbed hair was quite the thing, however, this lady hadn't adopted the abbreviated fashion, as yet and she had a heavy head of dark brown hair and it was quite long. Somehow the long hair didn't seem to fit in along with those riding breeches on that stout lady, and even yet every time we hear Nanaimo mentioned that amusing picture flashes across memory's screen.

Another picture that we often speak of occurred one morning early in the city of St. Catharines. The Garden City is quite a lively, smart city, but as we drove a sister of ours to the early morning train that day it was almost as quiet as any rural community. Arriving at the station ahead of the train at 10.15 in the car and tried to think of something interesting to say. No doubt you know how difficult it is to keep up an interesting conversation under those circumstances. As we sat there a taxi drove in, in a hurry. The driver jumped out and picking up his fare's grips, hustled along to the baggage room quite smartly. He was dressed in his proper uniform, a navy blue outfit, with peak cap and all; however, in his haste to dress that morning he had neglected to shove in his shirt tail, and perhaps you can picture him hustling along with those grips. Needless to say we found plenty to laugh at until the train arrived that morning. Often it is an amusing picture of this kind that we remember best of all.

WHEN DRIVING through the country we often notice something or other that we would like to investigate further if we only had the time. On the last Saturday of August, this fall, we were coming through the city of Kitchener on our way home and we arrived directly in front of one of the city churches just as a wedding party was coming out. The usual decorated car was sitting at the curb close by; however, a large soft drink truck was parked directly in front of the church and apparently it was intended to be there. The bride and groom jumped up on this truck to have their picture taken. Of course we didn't stop to find out why this particular arrangement had been made. However, it gave us something to think about. We wondered perhaps if this particular romance hadn't started with a nickel and a bottle of pop and "two straws please," away back in their younger days. Of course, possibly either the bride or the groom, or even both of them, may have been employed by the soft drink company that owned the truck. However we like to think of the "two straws please" as the better solution to the mystery.

WE UNDERSTAND that initiations have been curtailed in schools, colleges and universities and the reason given of course is on account of the war. We fall to see where the soft-peddling of initiations is any help towards winning the war. The freshmen, that will miss this ceremony, will be missing something that is impossible to replace, as they are only freshmen once. Initiations are not unlike these jokes that the guests like to play on the bride and groom at weddings. The groom does everything that he can think of in order to fool the guests so that they will be unable to decorate the car that they intend using on their honeymoon and yet if the guests don't find the car and decorated in both bride and groom feel as though they have been short-changed. In both instances it is a good lesson in the art of "being able to take it."

ACTON FALL FAIR
Special prizes and exhibits to stimulate farm production will feature the 1941 Acton Fair to be held next Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 16 and 17. In addition to all the big features which make this one of the finest of the Ontario rural fairs, The Empire Shows will feature the midway with their ferris wheel, rides, shows, merry-go-round, etc.
The big arena performance on Tuesday night has a new list of special attractions, including Arthur McCauley and Ruth Campbell, Ginger Oil, the acrobatic horse, Blonde and Athabaska, etc., etc., all under the direction of Russ Creighton, the well known director. The fair will be officially opened by Colonel A. O. F. Beardmore.

Bring your exhibits for the Fall Fair in early to the hall.

MESSAGES FOR HITLER
A workman in a Canadian plant puts the final stamp of approval on completed shells, lacking only a fuse to be ready for shipment to Great Britain. Each of these death-dealing missiles carries a message to Hitler from the Canadian people, who after two years of war are more determined than ever to eradicate the Hun hordes from the face of the earth.
