A WAY TO SERVE... AND A WAY TO MAKE MONEY

IN THESE DAYS we are all anxious to serve our country's best interests. But we are all increasingly conscious, too, that "money makes the mare go." So it's mighty pleasing and important, too, to find a way to serve, and at the same time break more than even.

Here's one way, "made to order": Fill all the brooder space you have with early chicks... the best you can buy.

These huge British orders for eggs at a price ranging between 28.70 and 32.15c per dozen, Grade A-Large, at Canadian aboard, and the Dominion Government subsidy of 3c per dozen on Grade A-Large bought for export, have put a definite "floor" under Canadian egg prices. Unless we miss our guess by a mighty wide margin, Winter and Spring egg prices, this year, will hold at least 7c, and probably 10c per dozen above those of a year ago. That's a paying difference, and it appears likely to continue.

We don't suggest over-expanding, overloading, or overcrowding... That's bad business. But we do suggest that you should use all the poultry equipment you have, to the limit. Start all the good chicks you have accommodation for, early... just as soon as you can get your brooder house cleaned up, tightened up, and ready. Both the egg and broiler markets look so promising that you can't afford to overlook this really extra-special profit possibility; and there's practical patriotism in it, as well as profit.

Naturally, when you're choosing your good chicks, we would like to have you consider Bray Chicks. They're good chicks. They've done a real profit-making job for others. They ought to do the same for you. Get your order in early.

Started Chicks!
We have a limited number of 2 and 3-week-old started chicks available for immediate shipment. First come, first served—no get in touch with us right away.

Two Keys to a Cabin

"You were afraid we'd quarrel," he said.
"Yes I was. If you'd seen your face when Mother asked me what I intended to do this winter."
"I never heard anything so completely selfish," he burst out with low vehemence.

"It was tactless of her to have spoken of it in your presence, perhaps. But that's Mother's way. She calls it being practical. It didn't occur to her that you would think her heartless, as you did—"

"But she's your mother, Gay!"

"We each lead a completely independent existence. It's not a bad idea. When I see what some mothers do to their children, I'm glad Kitty is like she is."

"But you don't want to visit Tory Wales in Palm Beach?"

"There's only one thing I really want to do—"

"Don't you know how that makes me feel?"

"Flattered. I should hope!" Her smile trembled.

"No, you can't know," he said bitterly. "You can't know what it's like to feel humiliated, not to be able to take you away with me now, tonight to have you make explanations which I should make. You haven't been happy and neither have I, except that first day Christmas Eve."

"Yesterday and today in the country. Weren't you happy?" I was.

"But why?" They moved slowly only their feet conscious of the rhythm of the walk. "Because you avoided any reference to the subjects upon which we disagree because we were alone except for Kate and your father?"

"Oh, dear!" Her laughter shook. "I made you come here because I was afraid we'd quarrel if we were alone, and I wanted your last night to be pleasant. Don't, John, bring spoils everything. If we were on at this rate—"

"Per heaven, I'd rather quarrel in the lighted air of this city!"

"I'm sorry, but I've got to know what at this rate," his voice was low and steady. "Tell me. Do you want to go to the States with me?"

"I don't know," she said. "I don't know you can't be a girl's partner. I'm there."

"I love you," she said steadily. "Do you love me?" His lips moistened in further words came. "He is that her eyes brimmed with tears."

"During," he said, moved as he was a ways by her tears. "Let's get out of here. I don't want to talk to the others. I want to be alone with you."

"I want that, too!" She blinked, then smiled. "Do I look spotty from sleep?" "Lucky I don't use mascara."

"Very lucky. You look lovely!" His arms released her reluctantly. "Can we say all the polite things now and get away?"

"Of course we can!" She held his hand tightly as they made their way through revolving couples toward the table which her step-father had engaged. No one was there. The other members of the party were dancing in the glow of artfully mellowed lights on the crowded floor.

"We'll have to wait," John sighed. "No, we won't!"

"But politeness, darling!"

"Wait!" She caught up her evening bag from the table, opened it, took out a hip stick. Holding fast

"We'll have to wait," John sighed.

with her left hand to his hand, she printed in staggering bright red capitals on the table cloth—

"GOOD-BY!"

GAY AND JOHN."

G.H.S. Visitor
AGI George O'Brien, visited a favorite haunt of his on Tuesday when he entered G.H.S. Everyone acquainted with George was quite pleased to welcome him back, even though it was only for a short stay.

BEATTY vs. CARTER

Referee—E. Early
First period—In the first four minutes of play, A. Orrie scored a goal, making the score 1 - 0 for Carter. Orrie of the Beatty squad retaliated almost immediately by scoring, thus tying the teams 1 - 1. Lorusso, assisted by Early, scored, giving Beatty a 2 - 1 lead. Hoare received the only penalty of the game after tripping Beatty. Near the close of the first period, Early and Beatty each scored. Carter came back with one, leaving the score at the end of the first period, 4 - 2 for Beatty. It wasn't until the end of this period that the goalies made their appearance. The teams had played almost the whole time with open nets, which speaks well for the defencemen on both teams.

Second period—In the opening minutes of this period, Orrie scored for the Beatty team, making the score 5 - 2. The rest of the period was certainly full of surprises. Carter played a sensational one-man game, pulling his squad out of the hole by scoring three goals in quick succession, tying the score 5 - 5.

From then on the spectators were thrilled by some real action, both goals making some stupendous saves. Shortly before the final bell, Carter again scored, giving the Carter team the game with a final score of 6 - 5.

Many thanks to Bill Kelly for reporting the G.H.S. hockey game. Doesn't everyone agree that he is a splendid sports reporter?
