What Council is Doing

It came as good news to the ratepayers of Georgetown, when Council announced a mill reduction in the tax rate for 1942 at their meeting last week. This was especially welcome at a time when the cost of living has greatly increased and not all taxpayers receive the cost of living bonus; when the government is asking every loyal citizen to save more and buy more War Savings Certificates and Victory Bonds; when the Red Cross and countless other charitable and war service organizations are appealing for greater support. Twenty-five years ago Georgetown had a mill rate of 40 mills, the same as today, but in the intervening years the tax rate has risen to a high of 50 or 51 mills, and only during the past decade has the tendency been to lower the tax rate. Bearing the fact that some unforeseen expenditure does not crop up in the meantime, next year will see a still further reduction.

This saving to the taxpayer has only been made possible by a rigid practice of parsimony and economy. A more or less pay-as-you-go policy with a steady retirement of the bonded debt should the policy be adopted to in future years more home owners and manufacturers will find their way to our town. We do not believe council should carry this policy to the extreme to the point where municipalities dependent upon us are left in abeyance in order to keep the mill rate low. For instance 1942 would be no better year in which council could inaugurate a municipal garbage collection system. We believe this expenditure could be met through the current account.

WE DON'T AGREE:

While it was a fine gesture on the part of the municipal council to repeal the salary by-law during wartime, we do not necessarily agree with this move. It is our contention that the members of council should receive some remuneration for their services to the town. Private business has to pay for these services, and likewise municipal business should be conducted in the same manner. It is not expected by the ratepayers that these men give of their time and service to the community without some small consideration. However, as we said before, it is a fine gesture, and will no doubt be accepted as graciously as the lower tax rate.

WOULD GEORGETOWN BACK A PROPOSITION LIKE THIS?

It has been suggested to the Town Council that ways and means be found to take care of an overflow population now existing in the Malton-Brampton area. The large aeroplane factory at Malton are finding it difficult to place the thousands of men in their employ in suitable boarding places or in finding them suitable accommodations for their families. Several inquiries in Brampton, Weston and Toronto are now taxed to capacity, and with hundreds arriving almost weekly to the plant, Georgetown has been asked to help relieve this situation.

The Town Council proposes that citizens willing to take boarders, roomers, or rent rooms in their homes, should this be an essential improvement and get in touch with the town clerk and leave their names immediately, as a preliminary step toward bringing new citizens to Georgetown. If a large percentage comply with the wishes of the council, further steps will be taken.

Increasing the population in this way would bring much added business to the town, and the additional revenue might be appreciated as the purse-strings may have to be drawn a little tighter this war continues.

It is hoped citizens will comply with this request, and more will be written on the subject at a later date. The council seem willing to publicize the advantages of living in Georgetown and commuting to Malton, if the citizens care to co-operate.

To the press of advertising this week, the serial "Two Keys to a Cabin" was unavoidably crowded out. It will appear again next week.

Here we are again!
Mrs. E. McCauley we are sorry to learn, fell on the ice recently and fractured her wrist and had to be taken to Guelph hospital for treatment. But we are pleased to learn that she has arrived home again and is getting along nicely. We hope that she will soon be able to go around again as usual.

The recent snowstorm blocked the roads for a while, but the snowplow have been out and traffic is resumed again. The snow will be very beneficial in protecting the fall wheat, etc.
