ATLANTIC SENTRY

The approach of enemy U-boats to within a few miles of the Canadian coast has placed new responsibilities upon the hard-working Canadian Navy. A gunner on one of the R.C.N.'s patrol vessels is shown loading an anti-aircraft gun.

"TIN HATS" FOR THE ARMY

Although the soldiers refer to their head gear as "tin hats" these helmets are actually made of fine grade steel and are subjected to exacting tests. This batch is part of the production of a big Canadian plant which in peace time specializes in cooking utensils.

Lieut.-Gen. McNaughton Inspects C.P.R. Tanks

THE stepped-up tempo of tank production at Angus Shops, Montreal, was evident everywhere when Lieut.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton made a detailed inspection of the big Canadian Pacific plant, whose machinery is turning out increasing numbers of medium weight "Valentines" for the armed forces. Accompanied by ranking officials of the Canadian Army and senior officers of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Canada's No. 1 soldier received a first hand picture of tank construction from the smallest parts to the finished product. He displayed keen interest in the construction of the speedy war machines, a type that has been highly praised by the Russians on the field of battle. Highlight of General McNaughton's visit followed the shop inspection when six of the khaki-painted "Valentine" tanks, fresh from the Angus shops assembly line, raced out on the shops Midway, where they wheeled, plunged, and went through various other tactics to show their manoeuvrability.

Above scene shows a group of Angus-built tanks awaiting shipment for "active service". Lieut.-Gen. McNaughton comments on some detail of tank construction. Others in the group include (left to right) H. B. Bowen, chief of motive power and rolling stock; Brig.-Gen. E. de B. Panet, Officer Commanding, M.D. 4; J. H. Berry, director general of auto mobile and tank production; Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of the Canadian General Staff; D. C. Coleman, vice-president, Canadian Pacific Railway.

WHAT YOUR RATION CARD LOOKS LIKE

"Fill her up" will become an unfamiliar phrase in Canada on April 1st. For each coupon the service attendant detaches from your book, shown here, he will deliver a unit of gasoline. If you want only half a unit the seller can bisect a coupon along a perforated line. When the plan was first announced it was thought a coupon would be for five gallons, but the change is becoming more acute and no one can predict how much it will represent.

Princess Alice Inspects Girls' War Work

HER Royal Highness Princess Alice paid an informal visit recently to the offices of the Canadian National Telegraphs in Montreal to inspect children's outfits made for the Royal Sailors Rest at Portsmouth, England, in their own time by members of the Canadian National Telegraphs Girls Service Group. The Fortieth Institution provides for the care of dependents of seafaring men. Large consignments of these outfits, which are for infants and children up to six years of age, have been sent by the telegraph girls during the past year. The members of the group were presented to Her Royal Highness after she had inspected their work and expressed her appreciation of their aid to the British war sufferers. Upper picture shows one of the girls being presented by Miss Alice. At right, Princess Alice receiving presentation bouquet from Miss Eleanor Stewart, Hon. Secy. of the C. N. Telegraphs.

MONICA MUGAN'S GUY

When several young college men were quarantined they cast around for a special treat to celebrate the occasion. They didn't determine on a ski trip or a party at the hotel. They invited Monica Mugan to tea. It seems that they became Monica-conscious while confined to their rooms, listened by accident first and then by choice. They decided to entertain her. They purchased a smart recorded arrangement of her theme music, "I'll See You Again"; set for four, had the kettle boiling and, as their petite radio friend marched in slightly out of breath, they set the gramophone going.

A little later when introductions were over and Monica was enjoying an excellent cup of tea, one of the boys asked: "How did you like the recording?" Monica had to admit that the whole date was so much off the beaten track she had lost her celebrated aplomb, hadn't recognized the Noel Coward tune with which her programme opens every day.

Here is Monica with two of her young hosts, Eric Hardy, and Stuart Wanner, during the famous tea party at University College, Men's Residence. Miss Mugan is heard Monday to Friday inclusive over CHLZ Toronto at 11:30 a.m.
