The Editor's Corner

WITH MIXED FEELINGS

It is with mixed feelings that we write this week what will probably he our last editorial for the duration of the war. For over two years, since assuming editorship of the Herald, we have striven to convey some of our own ideas and our own pet theories in this little corner which belongs to us alone, while in the remaining pages we have chronicled the births and deaths. marriages and social events, accounts of meetings . . . all those things which make up the every-day life of the people in this district. Now on the eve of departure, a glance backward shows all the places we have failed, all the things "left undone which ought to have been done," as the prayer tells us. But, too, we have a feeling of pride in certain things accomplished . . . two funds inaugurated which have met with generous response from our readers, an active service column which records the doings of our boys in uniform and a complete list of men in service which we have spent many hours keeping up-to-date and accurate.

We have done our best to encourage worthwhile things-Victory Loan campaigns, Red Cross drives, recruiting appeals, anything which will help Canada's war effort. Now the time has come when we bow out of the picture for a spell to do our own small part in democracy's struggles . . . As one little cog in a mammoth wheel which shall one day roll over the Axis dictators and crush forever their creed of blood and hate. It is not easy to say "good-bye" to a job which has been an ever-present source of joy, to exchange our present life as a civilian for the more restricted life of a soldier. But we do only what thousands of other Canadians have already done, and if our little cog can Mrengthen the wheel in any way, then we shall not feel that it has been in vain. Meanwhile, as publisher, we shall ever have in mind the welfare of this community to which one day we shall return by God's grace.

SOME "THANK YOU'S"

No weekly newspaper is or can be the work of any one individual or any one group. As a composite picture of the weekly happenings of the district, there are many who help out along the way. It would be impossible for your editor to record the Limehouse news as fully and accurately as our correspondent, Mrs. A. W. Benton, to tell what happens out Ashgrove way like Mrs. Frank Ruddell, or in Stewarttown like Mrs. Mary Baily, in Ballinafad like Mrs. J. P. Kirkwood, in Glen Williams like Mrs. J. R. Williams, or in Terra Cotta like Mr. J. R. Stringer. To these faithful correspondents, we are grateful, as well as to all the press secretaries of various organizations and to the occasional senders of personals and news items which we otherwise might miss.

Then, too, our advertisers whose financial support makes this paper possible, have been more than generous and we can only trust that our readers will not forget this when making purchases.

Last, but by no means least, is our staff led by a good friend and an untiring worker in the person of "Mac" McGilvray, whose advice and help to your editor has been invaluable in making the Herald what it is. No business can be successfully run without an efficient staff, and that is one thing that has caused us no concern.

YOUR NEW EDITOR

During our absence, the editorial chair will be filled by our wife-the first time that a woman has played this role in Georgetown. We hope that she may receive the same co-operation that we have received and that everyone will help out to make her job a little easier. Born and brought up in Georgetown, she needs no introduction to most of you. Those of you who don't know her, we hope you will drop into the office and make yourselves acquainted, as you did when we were a stranger. We know that she will do her best to give you a newspaper worth reading and in our absence we shall be proud to think that she is carrying on a job to which we shall one day return.
