

PURINA HOG CHOW

Financed From From Weaning To Market For 5c Per Pig

- By supplementing your home grain with Purina Hog Chow you can raise market hogs on just about half the usual amount of feed.
- Why take, 1,100 to 1,200 lbs. of grain to put a hog on the market when you can do the same job with 500 lbs. of grain and 100 lbs. of Purina Hog Chow?
- You not only save feed but you do the job in from 2 to 4 weeks less time. In addition, you get a better finish and should get a much better grade.
- If you have the hogs and the grain, we can finance the Hog Chow you need through Purina Mills.
- Realizing that ready cash is often a scarce article at this time of year, we believe you will want to take advantage of this service.

We have on display in the Herald window a most unusual radish grown by Mr. B. Hill, Olen Williams from the roots of the first radish another good sized white radish has formed. It's too bad all radishes don't produce double results like this.

Lucky Treter's luck failed to hold. The 36-year-old "hell-driver" met instant death at the Indiana State Fair on Sunday, while making the longest leap of his career, his car crashed into the rampage. Local citizens will remember "Lucky's" daring feats at the C.N.E. last year when his car hurtled a large T.T.C. bus, and no doubt wondered then just how long his luck would hold.

At a meeting held at the home of Mrs. A. Collins, members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Lorne Scots made arrangements to send parcels direct to some 70 men from the district, who are on active service. This supercedes a previous arrangement whereby the gifts were sent collectively. The parcels will include socks and three hundred cigarettes.

There were "big doings" in Brampton on Dominion Day. There was a mammoth carnival and a large number of Georgetown people attended. O. Brownridge.

LIMEHOUSE THIS WEEK

IL L. HUTT GUEST SPEAKER AT W. I. MEETING

IL L. Hutt, of Georgetown, a former professor at O.A.C. Guelph, was guest speaker at the regular W. I. meeting at Mrs. Gowdy's on July 2nd. In his informal address he painted a picture with the house as centre of interest and the lawn as the canvas. He told how native trees, shrubbery, vines and perennials should be used in order to frame and balance the picture, special attention being given to bring out the best views and hide the unsightly spots. The ladies accepted his invitation to visit him at his home to see his gardens at a later date. The roll call was answered by handing a letter beginning with the first letter of the given name. Mrs. Wright read local, national and international events. Business dealt with sending cigarettes to each local man on active service overseas, giving flashlights to two local recent recruits and ordering three cases of gooseberry jam for shipment overseas this month. As flannellette is needed for garments it was decided to order factory cotton for quilt linings. The secretary was instructed to inquire about a speaker for a meeting on hospitalization insurance and to write for particulars on the making of blankets from used woollen materials.

The meeting was closed by singing God Save the King, and a social half hour was enjoyed.

Mr. Joseph Scott has erected a new cottage on his lot east of Miss Ivens. Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Sanford spent last week holidaying at Waubesaene. Mrs. Denis Hill and Mike have been holidaying with the Hills.

Mr. William Mitchell received the sad news by cable last Friday evening, that his nephew Sergeant Air-Gunner Norman Mitchell of the New Zealand Air Force, had died during operations in Europe. He was well-known in Limehouse, having often visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. Warwick and children, of Toronto, are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Pollett.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hall and children, of Toronto, are holidaying in Limehouse.

Miss Winifred Polkinghorne, of Toronto spent the past week with Mrs. Gale and Miss Ivens.

The Girls' Lookout Club held a tea and baking sale on Miss Ivens' lawn on Saturday afternoon, the members bringing articles for sale, and Miss Ivens providing the delightful lunch. Two lucky draws were held—one for a plated quill, won by Mrs. Harry Smethurst, of Welland. Ines Scott called forward Mrs. A. C. Patterson, a member who has moved to Toronto, and Eron Norton presented her with a silver dish on behalf of the members of the club. Mrs. Patterson thanked the girls and expressed her wish to be with them whenever possible.

Mrs. Harry Tarwell and Howard, of Toronto, spent a week with her daughter, Mrs. Ted Hoken and Melvin recently.

RED CROSS NEWS

God save our splendid men,
Send them safe home again;
God save our men,
Keep them victorious,
Patient and chivalrous,
They are so dear to us;
God save our men.

This additional verse concluded the hymn "God Save the King" in one of the many churches celebrating Dominion Day on June 28th. We think this is worthy of universal adoption and hope we will soon all be singing these heartfelt words.

KNITTING

At present the work-room is converted over the large quilt, assigned to us. We have three months to complete over eleven hundred articles, and need the help of every knitter in Georgetown and vicinity. Take away some yarn with you on that holiday and let us have the completed article when you return.

A Payer writes: "Received the sweater you sent yesterday, and I'm sure glad for the same. The one I was given when I came overseas last summer was cut off me when I was taken from the R.A.F. rescue launch to the hospital. Now that I am able to get about in a wheel chair I'm able to enjoy the comfort of the new one. Thanking you kindly, O. K. Huggins, R.C.A.P., R.N. Hospital, Weston, Ontario."

SPECIAL PROJECTS COMMITTEE

This committee is planning a mammoth Humbug Sale in September and is asking all persons in Georgetown and vicinity to gather and hold all valuable articles for this big event. Its success depends on you and we know you will not fail to give your interested support. If you wish any information regarding same call Mrs. Lawson, the convenor, at 1191 1/2 Street, or write to the committee, care of the given to us. The proceeds of their sale will help the Red Cross carry on their many and varied works of mercy which the war has greatly increased.

WHERE OUR MONEY GOES

To Prisoners-of-War. For instance, Harold Denny, famous war correspondent for the New York Times, and recently released from internment camps in Italy and Germany, expressed the joy which the arrival of these parcels gave to himself and his fellow prisoners when he stated, "When Red Cross food parcels began arriving we at last could have 'meat that you can see' instead of the small Italian ration ground to invisibility in the steam." To help the men fighting the "Battle of the Atlantic" at the Port of Halifax, the Red Cross workers acting for the Canadian people, in the year 1941 from January to December, visited more than six hundred ships and distributed more than 200,000 articles of clothing. Men on warships of all the allied nations and merchant ships of practically every country with the exception of our enemies, have been given socks, sweaters, underwear, scarves, leather helmets, mittens, etc. to protect them during the cold long watches at sea. "Could we Red Cross workers share with our generous contributors across the Dominion the actual experiences of our days? We would give them a host of vivid memories, which would not fade in a lifetime—memories of a smile brought to a haggard face, or of a heart-felt thank you from parched and fevered lips."

The finished articles received in the Warehouse (Ontario Division, Toronto) for the first four and one-half months of this year numbered 1,107,484, which included hospital supplies, knitted comforts and civilian clothing. This is more than half the total of 1941.

STILL ANOTHER SERVICE

At the request of the Ontario Farm Service Force, which is recruiting young boys and girls for farm work, the nutrition department of the Ontario Division of the Red Cross has agreed to supervise the nutrition of some of the camps which house from ten to twenty youngsters. This department supplies educational material, menus, recipes and instructions to the camps and helps in solving any problems which may arise in connection with the food.

RED CROSS CONTRIBUTORS

"This giving to the Red Cross is a form of selfless service most closely allied with the front line of our forces overseas. It is a sure solid means of backing up their efforts one hundred per cent and making their way a little easier—and there is no doubt of the appreciation. Thousands upon thousands of letters reach our shores, telling over and over how the Red Cross has been a friend."—P. H. Gordon, Chairman of Executive Committee.

Presentation to Amy Greenwood

The annual picnic of S.S. No. 16, Esqueping was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wilson, on Wednesday, June 24th. All the school children attending school now and most of the children who have not yet reached school age, were present. A large percentage of the honorees were represented by the parents as well. The usual ball game and races were held, much interest to the children and teacher. Among those present were: Mrs. W. A. Wilson, Mrs. Robert Ruddle and Mr. John Nickell—who had been classmates at the school many years ago and who could recall many interesting incidents. Tables were set on the lawn and a bounteous lunch was served by young girls of the community. At this time a very interesting event took place when June Lerch, on behalf of the pupils of the school at S. S. No. 16 Esqueping, read a farewell address to their teacher, Miss Greenwood, who resigned after completing four and a half years teaching at the school. Following the address, Mary Lindsay and Dick Appleyard presented their teacher with a Walnut Occasional Chair and an Electric Table Lamp. Miss Greenwood expressed her appreciation for their kindness in presenting her with the chair and lamp and also for the excellent record that the school had set in raising $130.00 as a war effort during the past year, with 9 pupils all in the Junior grades. The presentation address was as follows:

Georgetown, June 24, 1942
Dear Miss Greenwood:—
It was with the keenest regret that we learned short days ago of your projected departure from our midst. The sad news brought home to us how much you meant in the lives of our students. We remembered how conscientiously and efficiently you performed your duties and that you spared no pains to help us over our obstacles. We all agreed as to your thorough mastery of your teaching profession, your tact, kindness and other priceless social qualities.

We felt that we should somehow give shape to our appreciation of your sterling services, that we ought to do something tangible to express our high esteem for you as an excellent teacher and refined lady. So, we are presenting you with this slight token of our great regard for you.

May we hope that you will continue to enjoy health and prosperity. That no clouds of sadness may mar the horizon of your happy skies, is our most sincere wish.

Signed on behalf of the pupils and ratepayers of S. S. No. 16, Esqueping:

THE DIM LANTERN

"He's sitting up there on the terrace," Mrs. Allison further informed them. "Do you think I'd better ask him to come over?"

They thought she might, but her hospitable purpose was never fulfilled, for as she stepped out on the porch, a long, low limousine stopped in front of the house, and out of it came Jane in all the glory of a great bunch of orchids, and with a man by her side, whose elegance measured up to the limousine and the lovely flowers.

They came up the path and Jane said, "Mrs. Allison, may I present Mr. Towne, and will you give him a cup of tea?"

"Indeed, I will," Mrs. Allison seemed to rise on wings of gratification, "only it is chocolate and not tea."

And Frederick said that he adored chocolate, and presently Mrs. Allison's little living-room was all in a pleasant flutter; and over on Jane's terrace, Evans Folliste sat, a lonely sentinel, and pondered on the limousine, and the elegance of Jane's escort.

Once old Bophy called to him, "You'll catch your death, Mr. Evans."

He shook his head and smiled at her. A man who had lived through a winter in the trenches thought nothing of this. Physical cold was easy to endure. The cold that clutched at his heart was the thing that frightened him.

W.C.T.U. AWARDS, ESSAY AND POSTER CONTEST

The W. C. T. U. takes pleasure in publishing the names of the winners in the recent essay and poster contest conducted annually by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union through provincial, county and local unions.

With the purpose of stimulating special interest in the study of scientific facts regarding beverage alcohol (which study forms part of the Health course prescribed by the Department of Education) these contests have been held annually in Georgetown and district for more than sixteen years.

This year as a variation, the presentation of the awards was made at the Sunday School session, eight in number, of the denomination to which the winners are connected, instead of at the Public School as is the usual procedure. The prizes given by the local W.C.T.U. were in the form of War Saving Stamps, while the county awards were in cash. The entries of winners of first and second county prizes, automatically enter the provincial contest and we hope may win recognition there also.

The W.C.T.U. wishes to thank the teachers and pupils of all the co-operating schools and also the Sunday school superintendents who so kindly made a place in their programme for the presentation of awards. Special thanks is extended to Mrs. H. Hutt, Rev. C. C. Cochrane and Rev. R. C. Todd, who gave generously of their time and interest in judging the entries in the local contest.
