Georgetown, Aug. 17th, 1942

Editor of the Herald: Dear Madam: In looking over the prize list of Toronto Township Agricultural Society fall fair, being held in Streetsville, Sept. 19th, we notice the following: 1 year's subscription to the Georgetown Herald, for best house plant with the most number of bloom.

A SUBSCRIBER

August 17th, 1942

Dear Madam: Man, Oh Man; What an editorial! The following found in a recent issue of the Herald: "Another 'open-night' pastime which we notice being indulged in more than formerly, is that of driving the car down to the lake for an hour or so and watch the people go by."

A Place to Park

In regard to the Saturday night car parking problem, the following verse is taken from an Iowa paper. It was written by a farmer's wife: I'm just one of those country Hicks Who come from away out in the sticks. To voice my woe and make a plea

For all the other books like me. We work like hick six days a week. And when we're done we like to streak To our home town to buy our eats And meet our neighbours on the street. We can't take off no working day. And if we do, there's hell to pay; You folks in town don't do that way. You do your buying every day. And that's why I don't think it's right. To hog the streets on farmers' nights. You've got your cars parked on the street. Before we hicks sit down to eat; Then we must stop hogs and feed the sows; Coax all the juice from bossy cows; Pick up the eggs, coop up the hen; Shave off the whiskers (if we're men); Dress in overalls and calico-- Since wheat has gone so gosh-darned low-- Crank up the fiver, give her juice. Then start for town... but what's the use? The streets are lined far up and down With cars of folk who live in town. Who seem to think it's quite a treat: To see the "rubes" stagger up the street; With butter jars and eggs and cream; But say it takes a lot of steam. To lug that stuff six blocks or more; You walk until your feet get sore; Your shoulders ache, you're seeing red. You wish that you were home in bed. And then you spy that yellow paint That's put just where the auto ain't. There's two cars where there should be three. They've straddled that there mark you see. It's our town too, so please be fair. We want to spend our nickels there. You've watched us long enough to see We need a parking place, by gee! Thanks for publishing this item

Active Service Notes

Hedley Shaw's Car Stolen

At 3:00 o'clock last Friday morning, Mr. Hedley Shaw was awakened by the shrill ring of his telephone. Chief W. G. Marshall was on the other end of the wire with startling news. He informed Mr. Shaw that his car had been stolen from in front of his home an hour or so ago, and that the thieves had been apprehended in Guelph. In their desire to make a quick getaway from the district, they had travelled through a stop light on Guelph Main Street at a speed of 60 or 70 miles an hour. The Guelph police gave chase and caught up with them in short order. After taking them into custody, the police questioned the three youths closely. They admitted having stolen a car in Toronto that same night and having abandoned it on Norval hill, when they ran out of gas. From there they proceeded to Georgetown on foot. Here the trio decided to go back to find someone else's car as a means of transportation, and proceeded to break the lock on Mr. Hedley Shaw's coupe and make off with it. They were driving his car when the Guelph police arrested them. Chief W. G. Marshall and son Douglas brought Mr. Shaw's car back to him Friday morning. The thieves were taken to Milton jail and they come up for trial there today.

Sorry Boys!

By the Publisher

For almost three years, it has been this newspaper's privilege to mail a free copy of the Herald each week to any man in uniform, at home or overseas, who wished to receive it. During the past two months, when our publisher has himself been away from home, we have come to realize just how much the home-town paper does mean to a man in army camp—and we have shared that feeling which comes when the weekly budget of news is unwrapped. So it is with real regret that we announce that conditions force us to eliminate this service after this date, and that this will be the last week that we will be mailing out the free copies. A growing list of active service subscribers (114 in number at last count), coupled with rising business costs makes it impossible to carry on under our former system.

We hope that the men in uniform will keep in touch with the home-town news, and that they will become subscribers. We know that army pay doesn't afford many luxuries, but if you break it down it's less than one chocolate bar a week. At the time of writing, we have received no information from the Government that newspapers mailed from the office of publication will not be allowed shipment overseas, although private individuals are barred from mailing complete copies of a newspaper. So this is one way that the men overseas can still be assured of reading all the district news.

We aren't begging for favours. There were no strings attached to our free offer of the past three years. We were tickled to death to send them with the thought that we were doing one little part for the war effort. But as time goes on, with more and more men in uniform, and with their first request for a copy of the Herald, it is financially impossible for the Herald to carry the load. So if you've enjoyed reading the news, and still want to keep up on boys, just send along two dollars next pay-day—or if you can't afford that, make it a dollar or fifty cents, and send the rest later on.

Send HIM "The Herald" ... ON LAND ... IN THE AIR ... ON THE SEA. Nothing cheers up your lad like the news from home. $2.00 a year at home or abroad. Includes illustration of three men in uniform.

RED CROSS NEWS THE VALLANT Some men may think they have conquered fear. That never again they will cringe and pale. But that is never accomplished here. Their wishful thinking will not avail. Each time fear arises it must be met. And faced and conquered. What man can say He has suffered all? He must know that yet May be greater perils along the way. For men kill men they have never seen. And unclean men, in return, may slay Men who except for war had been Friends and companions along the way.
