"As We See It"

By J. A. Blain

FROM TIME TO time we notice that the opening of picture shows on Sunday has been advocated especially in those centres where a great many of our soldiers are located. It looks like the thin edge of the wedge is being used in an attempt to get away from the quiet Sunday in our Dominion, and of introducing the open Sunday more like that of other countries. Those of us who may belong to the older generation don't like the idea and yet if we think it over seriously we find that perhaps it is we who are to blame for this wanting entertainment on the Sabbath Day. Maybe you will remember that first car that you bought. After riding behind a horse and buggy it was quite a treat to go for a ride in the new car. Of course we still had to try to make a living for ourselves as well as for our families and as a result we had to stick to our work during the week but on Sunday, that was different, and we would get the car all serviced ready for a week-end trip. Maybe we did wait until after Sunday School before starting off, however we made sure that the young boys would have their day School as soon as possible and of course they didn't need much urging along those lines. Later on the bright idea was introduced to have Sunday School in the morning previous to the morning church service and then of course we became a balance of the way to go wherever we wanted to. The arrangement had its advantages and many of us learned more of the surrounding country during those trips than we had ever thought possible. However after taking a trip every week end we soon became used to that arrangement and it at times we had to stay home all day Sunday it did seem to be a very quiet day. If we found it so we can rest assured that the younger generation is found it that way also and it isn't difficult to realize that those soldier boys who are now away from home find Sunday rather quiet no matter where they may be located. If they have been stationed near or in any of our cities they soon see all there is to be seen there. Again, they aren't acquainted with any of the folk who live in those cities and sometimes aren't given any too glad a welcome in that particular locality. So maybe, I can't much wonder that they wish to wish for a picture show or something else along that line on the Sabbath Day. Naturally upon first thought we decide that surely they could get along without a show on Sunday but when we think it over seriously we begin to wonder if it hasn't been responsible for the way they look at the matter.

—John Snell, fourth of the Snells of that name of Barrypool, England, immigrated to Canada in 1830 and became the pioneer of the Snell family in America. One of his granddaughters, Elizabeth, daughter of Elias, was the guest of honour at a large family party at her home on November 18th, on the occasion of her eightieth birthday. She was born in Bnelgrove on November 18th, 1842. The village was named for the Snells, who coming from England one by one, or becoming independent one by one, acquired adjoining properties so that at one time they owned one thousand acres of good Canadian land.

was doing everything in her power to make it the best that could be produced. Her husband, Mr. Walker O. Blain, was like his wife, new to the newspaper field and he was a soldier of the King, and therefore both he and Mrs. Blain need the support and co-operation of all, and they deserved just that.

Producing a paper is a great task, and also a grave responsibility, one must forget about personal things, and use the "We" pronoun. They must seek out the news that will be most interesting to their readers, in other words they must have a nose for news. That is one way the women can help greatly, by sending in local items. Church news of all the various activities of the church, club and social functions.

It requires courage as well as skill to produce a paper and give the right support Mr. Blain had both.

Mr. O. McOlivry, as manager has a big task too, and he is one of you, having been raised here and he is co-operating with Mr. and Mrs. Blain to give you the best paper, in the best community and it is for you as citizens to support the paper, morally and financially, and in that way you help to make the task lighter.

Mrs. Macdonald also spoke of her trip to Scotland previous to the outbreak of the war, and in our imagination she took us with her to the many beautiful spots in that country, such as Glasgow, Edinburgh, Strirling, Arr, Burn's Cottage and Monument.

The war clouds said Mrs. Macdonald were very much in evidence no matter where one went. Posters urged the young men to join the modern army, and all had their gas masks.

Soldiers were in training at Strirling Castle, fine young men, ready for the call to duty when it came.

She reminded us of Scotland's National Poet, Robert Burns, who he preached the brotherhood of man. That was many years ago but that, said she is exactly what we are fighting for today.

The hostess who was assisted by several of the ladies served postum and sandwiches.

Mrs. C. Macdonald Guest Speaker at Group Meeting

The regular meeting of Group 4 of the W.A. of the United Church was held last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. McDermid. Nearly 20 ladies were present to hear the guest speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. C. Macdonald, of the Herald staff.

Mrs. Clark introduced the speaker to the audience and then turned her comments to talk to them at this time.

Mrs. Macdonald chose as her subject, "The value of a Good Newspaper to the Community", and stated that she put emphasis on the word Good, as a poor one was not worth talking about. It was no good to itself nor to the community, which it circulates, and unfortunately, we find many of them.

A good paper was valuable, and reflected the character, or type of editor who produced it.

You are fortunate in Georgetown in that you have the "good type" of paper, in fact, few were better. The amount of news was exceptional for the size of the town and community where it circulated. Your editor, Mrs. Mary Blain
