YOU SAVE MORE MONEY BY USING
Watkin's AA Fly Spray

It isn't the cost per gallon that counts, it's the number of gallons you use. It costs about 80 to 90 cents a gallon for a heavy oil spray, but it takes one gallon to take care of one animal per season. One gallon of WATKINS FLY SPRAY, which is a light oil, A A Fly Spray, will take care of 3 animals per season. This means that the cost of spraying per animal per season is cheaper when you use WATKINS FLY SPRAY.

Figuring butterfat price at 46 cents per pound a farmer would lose $7.73 during the fly season from each cow producing 20 pounds of milk per day, by using heavy oil spray. Heavy oil sprays reduce the milk flow as much as 20 per cent.

YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO LOSE BY USING HEAVY OIL SPRAY. See your Watkins Dealer.
