LORNE SCOTS N. C. O.'s HONOUR C.S.M. CARNEY

Last Friday evening, the N.C.O.'s of "C" Coy Lorne Scots (R), held a party in the armouries in honour of C.S.M. Carney, for his untiring efforts in instructing men for the N.C.O. School. Twenty-five N.C.O.'s and officers of the Company sat down to supper. The newly appointed platoon commander of the Milton Platoon, Mr. Adam Armstrong was welcomed, along with newly appointed Sgt. Kenneth Cox, also of Milton. Both were veterans of the last war, and Sgt. Cox was a member of the 76th Battalion under command of Col. Ballantine. Col. Ballantine welcomed both men to the Company.

On behalf of the N.C.O.'s, Col. G. B. Cousins presented Sgt. M.J. Carney with a Service Pen and Pencil set.

BIBLE TEACHINGS ON WINE'S DECEITFULNESS

LESSON TEXT—Proverbs 20:1; 23:29-34; Matthew 24:45-51.
 GOLDEN TEXT—At the last I blith like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder.—Proverbs 23:32.

Deceitful is a good word to describe both the product and the propagandists of the liquor business. Alcoholic beverages are in themselves most deceitful, and the methods by which they are sold to the public certainly cannot commend themselves to right-thinking people. Intoxicants are associated with social preference, festive occasions, radiant beauty, when they ought to be connected with the blear eye, the babbling tongue, the ragged children and brokenhearted mothers. What about the men who have lost their positions and their characters, and the women who have paid with their virtue for their love of intoxicants? Why not picture them in the beautiful magazine advertisements?

I. Wine Is a Deceiver (Prov. 20:1).

Wine is personified here as an evil demon who leads men on in the hope of some pleasure or advantage, and then lets him down to the depths of destruction. It makes him think he is great and powerful, when he is only weak and degraded. It excites him to foolishness and wild boisterousness, when he would normally be sensible, quiet and orderly.

He who thought he was wise in partaking of its stimulation, finds himself deceived, and to his regret he realizes that he is a fool in the hands of a malicious deceiver.

II. Wine Is a Depraver (Prov. 23:29-35).

Depravity is a word not used as much as it was a generation ago, but it well describes the condition to which the drunkard comes in due time. And it is wine and other liquor which has depraved or corrupted him. A number of things appear in the text.

1. Liquor Destroys (vv. 29, 30). This is true morally, mentally, physically, and spiritually. Red eyes, wounds, complaining—these are only the outward signs of inward physical destruction of alcohol. Wee and sorrow speak of mental and social distress. The moral and spiritual destruction follow.

2. Liquor Deludes (vv. 31, 32). Its color, its sparkle and effervescence, its smooth appearance—all excite the anticipation of goodness and pleasure. And what does the drinker receive? The bite of the serpent and the sting of the adder. How true!

3. Liquor Demoralizes (v. 33). Alcohol is the handmaiden of immorality. "Strange women" come into the picture very quickly. They and the drinker soon find that drink sets them free from the limitations of decency and good sense, and the result is beyond description.

Those who defend liquor, or temporize with this problem, may as well recognize that they are encouraging the moral destruction of our boys and girls. It is a terrifying responsibility!

4. Liquor Dulls Man's Senses and Dazes Man's Mind (vv. 34, 35). Only a fool would lie down to sleep in the midst of the sea, or on top of the mast of a ship, or in the gutter, or against a lamp post. That's what drink does for a man.

His perceptions become so dull that he can be beaten, and he does not know he has been hurt. Exposed to inclement weather, he knows not enough to seek shelter. His money is lost or given away without concern on his part.

And when he sobers up—what then? His faculties are so dazed that he can think of only one thing to do, and that is to seek more wine. What is it that Scripture says about the dog and the fool? (See Prov. 26:11).

III. Wine Is a Destroyer (Matt. 24:45-51).

We have already touched on that point in its personal application, but now we see it in its bearing on his occupation and standing in the community.

The contrast is between the good servant who recognizes that his one and constant obligation is to serve, whether his master is present or absent, and the evil servant who violates his trust.

Notice that his first thought after cruelty to his fellow servants is to satisfy his appetite "to drink with the drunken."

Cruelty, mismanagement, unfaithfulness are tied up without question with drinking. Is it not so today? If you doubt it, read your daily newspaper. Why trifle with anything which keeps such evil company? You may find yourself mixed up with them beyond your ability to get free.

The final result is the loss of his position and of his life. Who will deny that this aptly states the end of the drunkard's way. But someone says: "I do not intend to be a drunkard. I only take a social drink." That is the way the drunkard started. Why begin to travel that road?

Plans Air Service Across Ocean

Trans-Canada Air Lines, Canada's national air service, plans a trans-oceanic service, according to an announcement recently made by H. J. Symington, R.C. President, in his annual report tabled in the House of Commons. Mr. Symington declared that T.C.A. is destined to play an important part in world aviation. "Canada occupies an important position in the future of the air world," he said. "The shortest routes between North America and Europe and Asia cross Canada and weather conditions are stable. Formulation of detailed programmes must await developments."

H. J. Symington, R.C.

Three T.C.A. flight crews have been flying the Atlantic Ocean service, supplementing the crews of British Overseas Airways Corporation, the report revealed. The crews assigned to this duty in 1942 were composed of captain, first officer, flight engineer, navigator and radio operator. The R.C.A.F. for duty with the company. At Montreal airport maintenance and overhaul on the British Overseas air transports is performed by T.C.A. More than 200 mechanics are engaged in this work.

Mr. Symington also announced that Trans-Canada plans a shorter route for its Canadian transcontinental service, the new route when opened to be over Lakes Huron and Superior, instead of to the north of those lakes, and thence to points of exit in western Canada and the Yukon territory. Extension of the Company's service to the Yukon Territory and Alaska has been deferred, Alaska having been declared a military zone by the United States Government and all civil flying operations prohibited there.
