"As We See It"

By J. A. STANG
IF ONE SEASON of the year is busier than the other seasons, we think that season would be the fall.
There seems to be so many things to do and so little time to do them in.
We know the housewife finds it the same way. She has the pickling and canning and the jam and jelly and tomato juice and all the rest of the good things that are so much appreciated in the winter-time to make. Then she usually has to take an interest in the way the vegetables are stored for winter and the chickens often get some of her attention also. The fall house cleaning gets some attention and the windows have to be cleaned ready for putting on the storm windows and with it all the meals have still to be prepared on time. Of course the man of the house has his many fall duties also. The fall plowing has to be looked after and the corn harvested and then the potatoes have to be dug and the other roots harvested also. Some years ago, when houses were not as well protected as they are today it was the fashion to mention, when the first cold spell arrived in the fall, that it was time to bank up the house for winter. However there is very little need for banking up the modern houses now-a-days. After this rather lengthy introduction we might mention that we had in mind the absence of any column in last week's Herald. Maybe you never missed it and anyway the other writers on the Herald staff reneged also so we had plenty of company along the absence line. Our excuse is the scarcity of time. Like everybody else we have all the time that there is but it didn't seem to be enough to enable us to get around everything that we wanted to do and perhaps you know how that stems to happen at times with all of us.

According to official statements, Fall didn't really arrive until last Thursday, however judging by the temperature we thought that it had arrived some time ago. The frost seemed to arrive early this year and as we had such a late spring it seemed to make the summer seem very short.
While most crops matured properly even if the season was short yet many of them were not as good as in other years. Driving up through Erin Township last week we noticed that the potatoes didn't look as well as usual in that well known potato section. The ones that weren't dug hadn't the usual amount of tops and the ones that were being dug were not turning out in the usual volume for that section. It was interesting to notice that the frost had touched some corn fields that were on highland and then a little farther on perhaps a low lying field of corn hadn't been touched by the frost at all. The corn really picked up wonderfully well this short season even if it did look like a failure early in the season. We were of the opinion that straw would be more scarce than usual this year, however driving along the highways we notice stack after stack of straw so maybe there was more straw than was expected.

HAVE YOU EVER visited the Caledon Lakes up past the village of Alton?
One could drive right past the lakes without seeing them as they are in off the road a little ways, and are behind some trees, however they are easy to locate and are worth a visit. Unlike most lake resorts the Caledon Lake resort is more of a private cluster of summer homes. We understand that it is a company affair with each house owner being a shareholder in the project. It has been on the job for some time as we have visited it ever since 1914 and as far as we can remember there were just as many houses there at that time as there are today. It is quite modern with its electric lights and other conveniences and the roads are well gravelled around the cottages.
Most of the owners of those houses live in the larger centres nearby, such as Orangeville, Grand Valley, Brampton and Fergus and seem to enjoy the quietness of their own lake resort just as much as others do going to such places as the Muskoka or Haliburton section. The fishing seems to be good and bathing facilities are of the best.
We dropped in there last week to visit friends and found that most of the houses are now closed for the winter although our own particular friends were still there and intended staying on into October. If you have never visited this nearby Lake you might enjoy seeing it. You could make it in less than an hour even at the not over 40 speed regulations that are in force today.
