PATRIOTISM VS POCKET-BOOK

"Lives there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself has said, 'This is my own, my native land?'" And is there a true Canadian who has failed to be filled with pride at the great heritage that is his?

But being filled with pride is not enough. It is actions that count—not words or feelings. Patriotic is, as patriotic does!

But like many of those who inherit wealth, some of us little value or appreciate that which has been handed down to us. Now again, many families in our land are being called upon to make the supreme sacrifice. They are seeing loved ones killed on far-flung battlefields or the oceans of the world—that we here, safely at home, may continue what we call with pride—"The Democratic Way of Life."

For freedom is not something that can be bought and paid for once, and then forever after possessed and enjoyed. Until men have the vision and wisdom to banish war from the earth, free men can only remain free by being prepared at any minute, and at whatever cost, to defend that freedom.

The burden of actual defence rests always on the flower of our young manhood—those who are strong in sinew and limb to withstand the rigors of modern warfare. But each of us has a part to play, and how we play it, determines whether we are worthy citizens of this nation—worthy of the heritage that is ours. We can't hope, here at home, to equal the sacrifices of our armed forces. But there are important things we can and must do to co-operate in every possible way to win the war, and one of the most important is to "Speed the Victory—with War Bonds".

If we really believe in the freedom of democracy—really believe that equal rights also entail equal obligations to protect and support these rights—then we in Georgetown and district will not only raise the $370,000, which is our quota of the Fifth Victory Loan, but we will over-subscribe the issue. For money talks—it shows how deep and how real and how sincere is our patriotism! If our patriotism ends when it hits our pocketbook, then we are indeed unworthy of the heroic deeds and sacrifices of our fighting men.

Let us show Canadian fighting men that our words are not hollow when we cheer from the sidelines. Let us show them, by supplying in every-increasing volume the vital munitions of war they need.

BEAUTY AROUND US

Autumn has never been more glorious than this year; and our own town of Georgetown was a perfect sample of the beauty that comes to the Canadian countryside when the first frosts touch a scarlet flame to tree and shrub.

The grand old maples that border our streets met overhead in a bower of crimson and gold. The brilliant sunshine from a sky of cloudless blue seemed to catch some of their hues as it shone through their branches, to be reflected again from the rustling yellow carpet of fallen leaves. One seemed to be walking in sunlight at once more intense and muted. Here and there a tree of bright scarlet stood out against the dark of evergreens, reaching arms of fire to the infinite blue sky.

Driving through the village of Norval when the season was at its height of glory, we rounded the maple-fringed turn on No. 7 Highway and a panorama met our eyes which made us wish we possessed the gift to capture its beauty forever with paint and brush. The river shone bright as silver in the sun while the steep "cliff" behind, with its gorgeous sumac and maples topped by majestic pines, formed a 'back-drop' no artist could improve. Another place of beauty was the Credit valley which can be viewed from the "old iron bridge" near the lower Paper Mill. Here we could see the brilliance of trees against the green floor of the valley below; and as our eyes travelled up the valley toward the Caledon mountains, the colours formed a patchwork of scarlet, gold and green, gradually blending closer together and becoming muted in the blue haze of the distant hills.

These past two weeks whether walking or driving we saw beauty everywhere we looked.

WE CAN HELP THEM

In common with all people of decent human instincts, we in this country have read with horror of the atrocities committed against the victims of Nazi terrorism in Europe. Yet how many of us realize that the restrictive immigration policy of our country is preventing hundreds of these desperate people from finding a haven in a land where freedom still reigns.

There is a committee in Toronto called the Canadian National Committee on Refugees which has these victims in heart and mind, and they are launching a petition in an effort to show the Government that there would be strong popular support for admission of a larger number of refugees to Canada. During the last ten years Canada has admitted about 15,000 refugees. For the most part these were industrialists or people with special training, and their activity has constituted a valuable contribution to Canada. Meanwhile hundreds of thousands of anti-Nazi refugees, Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish, have been seeking the right to live in free countries. During this time Great Britain has taken nearly 200,000. Canada's share in this problem is surely larger than our immigration figures show.

We heartily concur with any effort made which will result in rescuing men, women and children from the grasp of tyrants who would crush the very life from them on the slightest provocation. We hope that Canada will open wider her doors to these unfortunate people.

FARMERS AND FARM WORKERS
 If Your Farm Work has Slacked
 for the Winter, You Are Needed
 Elsewhere in Essential Employment

Highly essential work—very important in Canada's war effort and for the welfare of the Nation—is threatened with shortages of workers. One of the few sources of men available for other high priority jobs is those men on the farm who will not be needed at home during the Fall and Winter. Heavy needs must be met in many lines—producing fuel wood and other necessary forest products; in base metal mines, in food processing, in railway track maintenance. If you live on a farm and are not needed at home during the Fall and Winter, you are urged to answer this national appeal.

Farmers engaged in essential work during the off season will be allowed to return home when needed. Also, those on postponement under Mobilization Regulations will continue on postponement while in approved essential work during the slack on the farm.

War Times Originates More Telegrams Now

"More Canadians are now sending messages by telegram than ever before in the history of the Canadian National Telegraph," stated Donald Ross, Montreal Manager of the Company. "At present, due principally to war conditions, a large percentage of the senders are people who very seldom previously had occasion to use the telegraph service. For this reason, telegraph employees who come in direct contact with the public have had to exercise diplomacy to a greater extent as some of the questions asked of them require considerable effort to answer in all circumstances."

Mr. Ross told of two old experiences which were reported from the Company's head office in Montreal. First, a woman wanted to send her son a cable who was serving in the Canadian Army overseas. That part was easy, but as an afterthought she said to the clerk: "I would like to attach a five dollar bill to the cable." The employee answered that she could cable the money to her son, explaining the system of cabling money overseas. She was greatly astonished to learn that the five dollar bill could not be attached to her cable message and sent over the wire.

The other incident reported to Mr. Ross concerned a young lady and her soldier friend who called at a Canadian National Telegraph office to send a message to a mutual friend in a Canadian National Telegraph office to send a message to a mutual friend in a Canadian training camp. The clerk handed the girl a telegraph blank and requested her to write the message she wished to send. After consultation with her friend she started to do so, then suddenly stopped and, turning to the soldier standing at her side, said: "I think you had better write it. He would be sure to recognize my handwriting."
