Notice to Hydro Consumers

Complying with instructions from The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, all services, where one meter supplies more than one household, will be billed by multiplying the kilowatt-hours charged at first rate, namely 120, by the number of households on each meter.

This applies to two or more separate households under one roof, electricity supplied by one meter.

MILTON

In the list of awards announced during the week by the Department of National Defence, Sgt. W. G. Childs of Milton, now serving overseas with the Lorne Scots, received the Canadian Expeditionary Medal.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the United Church Parsonage, Guelph, on Saturday March 4th, when Peggy Ann Harris, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harris, Milton, was united in marriage with Lorne McKinnon MacIsaac, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. MacIsaac, of Acton.

In collision with a freight train at the Martin St. crossing of the C.P.R. the delivery horse on the milk wagon of the 'Milton Dairy' was killed on Monday morning about nine o'clock. The animal was apparently frightened by the train whistle and ran directly toward the tracks and ran into the train. Every piece of harness was broken and the wagon with the occupants was left standing on the street with one shaft broken. Fortunately both the drivers escaped without injury.

Another of the older residents of Milton died at her home, Main St., Milton on March 2nd, in her 84th year, Margaret Ellen McAsan was the wife of the late Allan Bowman of Esqueving.—Canadian Champion.

ACTON

The balance sheet and operating report of the Hydro-Electric department was presented at the meeting of Acton Public Utilities Commission on Monday evening. It showed a net profit from the year's operation of $2279.86, after providing for depreciation on the tangible plant to the amount of $1704.00 and other reserves to the amount of $2200.00.

A fire completely destroyed the barn on the Douglas farm at Lot 2, Town Line, Nazesagawa and Esqueving last Thursday afternoon. This farm is now occupied by Sam Dunnington who resides there with his family.

Mr. H. A. Lever, auditor of the Jenkins & Hardy Co., was present to discuss with Council the report for the past year. Mr. Lever stated that Acton was in an enviable position financially with no bank borrowings. The outstanding taxes were negligible and all the books were in splendid condition.

Native of Acton and a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moore, early settlers of this community Samuel Hebert Moore, died at his home, 275 Runnymede Road, Toronto, on Friday last. He was in his seventy-second year.—Acton Free Press.

BRAMPTON

Brampton's Fourth Federated Drive passed through its twelfth thousand dollars objective this week and at time of going to press the grand total to date was $14,106.00.

Brampton's 25-year venture into real estate holdings, instituted in 1919 during the housing shortage created by the last war, has come to an end. Council on Monday night gave authority for sale of eleven municipality-owned homes and dissolution of the Brampton Housing commission.

After deliberating for about forty minutes yesterday afternoon a jury brought in a verdict of "not guilty" against Arthur Edward Coleman, facing trial for manslaughter in connection with the death of Frank Sutherland on October 18th, 1943. The trial was the sequel to a fracas in the kitchen of the Air Observers' School at Malton in which Sutherland was thrown out and died from resulting injuries to his back.

Word has been received by Mrs. Wilfred Beckford, Brampton, that her husband, Private Wilfred Beckford, has been wounded in land operations in Italy.—Gazette & Conservator.

GLEN WILLIAMS

ACE Herbert Preston R.C.A.F. stationed in Toronto spent the week end with his parents Mr. and Mrs. H. Preston.

LAC Harold Schenk returned to his station on Monday evening after spending a short leave at his home here.

2nd Lieut. Bruce Zimmerman and 2nd Lieut. Leonard Elmes both of the Highland Light Infantry of Canada Regiment called on Mr. and Mrs. Robt. McMenemy last week before returning to Canada these young officers were stationed with Pte. Bob McMenemy, Sgt. Trevor Williams and Pte. Ralph Bludd, all Glen boys. They had many interesting incidents to tell of the local boys.

Mr. Wilfred Cain who recently underwent an operation and is a patient of St. Joseph's Hospital, Guelph, is now progressing favourably.

Miss Marjot Williams, Toronto General Hospital, returned to duty last week after spending three weeks holiday in Montreal and at home.

The Employees of Glen Apple Products held a successful Bingo Thursday evening in the town hall. The proceeds amounting to over $40.00 was handed over to the Treasurer of the Boys Parcel Fund. Winners of the specials were: Mrs. Garvin, Mrs. Morris Miller and Joey Fry. The door prize a $2 box of groceries was won by Bud Haines.

CANADIAN RED CROSS

This is the emblem of mercy wherever The Victims of war in their misery be— Emblem of selfless and tireless devotion Help the helpless by land or by sea Symbol of sacrifice, danger disdaining, Answering swiftly humanity's call— Healing for wounded and friendship for captive— Give to the Red Cross who cares for them all!

For whom the bell tolls, as we battle for freedom, None may be certain, but this much is sure— None is immune in this war universal, None from its terrors may feel quite secure— Some day on you or your dear ones its menace All unsuspected may suddenly bear; So, for the sake of the mercy you hope for, Give to the Red Cross—that they may be there!

He may be yours who will pray for their coming— Theirs the sole link between you and his need; Give without stint as you would were your loved one Now in the toils of the tyrant indeed! Give! In the Name of the Lord of all mercy Who on a blood-reddened crucifix gave His life for yours—and in giving, remember All that you give to the Red Cross—you save!

—Squadron Leader G. L. Creed, R. C. A. F., Ottawa

THIS GAME CALLED LIFE

We read the sporting page in every paper, Some playing games by artificial light; But there's the game of life we all are playing, I wonder just how many play it right?

Now in the game of baseball they quote Spalding, He's their authority on every play; They always go according to his teaching, And never play it any other way.

The game would surely be an awful muddle And you can bet the players classed as fools, If everyone should play the game his own way, And disregard each one of Spalding's rules.

And so it is with life we have to play it According to the One who made the game; He made the rules and told us to observe them, If we refuse we've just ourselves to blame.

At times we're bound to make mistakes and errors But who can say that these have been in vain; If they have served to teach some simple lesson And helped to bring us down to earth again.

And then some day the Manager will call us To get our pay, 'Twill be our rightful share; The question won't be "Who's the season's hero" But "Who has played his part and played it square?"

IT SNOWED

Last night it snowed. Today the barns are thatched With winter's plump extravagance, Within Their dim interiors the sun has patched The dark with yellow stitches, long and thin. Bright chimneys, eloquent with cedar-smoke Point from the nest of house-tops, Window-panes Wink frosty eyes at juniper and oak Shaking the stars out of their shaggy manes. The stubble-fields now sleep beneath white quilts, And in the pasture-lot, nuzzling the snow A gentle colt with spindly legs like stilts Explores a pleasant world he does not know. Last night it snowed and dawn has glorified This portrait of a winter countryside —Cosette Middleton

COMPENSATION

My Grandmother's kitchen had no instant ice; She washed on a board which was not very nice; She used coal-oil lamps which were messy to clean; She bought nothing canned—no not even a bean. She made all her bread and her butter and cheese; She scrubbed all her floors on her very own knees; She raised seven children and raised them all right;

NEWS FROM BRITAIN

KATHLEEN MOODY

The popular young singing star of the British Music Hall and of London pantomime, sings to British forces overseas in "Variety Bandbox". This is a regular British Broadcasting Corporation programme, broadcast from the Queensberry All Services Club in London, in which all the artists appear at the request of the forces. Miss Moody was only two-and-a-half years of age when she made her first stage appearance. Sang "My Gipsy Baby" from a cinema stage in her native Manchester. When a little older she entered a number of singing competitions held throughout the district. At the age of twelve, she went to see Miss Grace Fields who was appearing in the city. She sent in an urgent request to see the star. Miss Fields heard her sing "Sally" and then advised her to go to Mrs. Beams who ran leading juvenile troops in London and all over the country. Mrs. Beams was so impressed by the young singer that she put her on as a soloist. After her fourteenth birthday, she became one of the youngest "principal girls" in pantomime. She has since appeared in most of the leading Music Halls in the country and as a leading lady in revue theatres. She became very popular with BBC listeners for her performances in the "Starlight" and "Spotlight" series.

ROLAND YOUNG

Stage and film actor, a guest star in "Hindle Kakes" at the Maxine Elliott the British Broadcasting Corporation's Theatre. Subsequently he appeared New York studios in a transatlantic programme. London-born, he studied at the Bandbox Theatre, in Ipswich for the stage at the Academy of Dramatic Art. After several appearances in London he went to New York and the 49th Street Theatre, and in Innuplayed the part of Alan Jeffroote in merable films.

JOHN MORRIS

Who regularly broadcasts to Japan after Japan entered the war. Since his from London, is the British Broadcasting Corporation's Far Eastern Programme Organizer. He spent four years in Japan, as a University lecturer on English literature, and as an adviser to the Japanese Foreign Office. Because of this last, he was the only Englishman allowed to remain free in the East well.

Her net daily mileage I'm sure was a fright, And never like me was despised and rejected Because her bridge technique had not been perfected. —Ira Grindlay Jackson
