Noted Editor Sportsman W. A. Fry Dies

One of Canada's most widely known newspaperman and sports suppofters William Alexander Fry, 71, editor of the Dunnville Chronicle, died on April 21st at the Hamilton General Hospital. He had been ill since the middle of March, and was rushed from Dunnville to hospital here last week.

When "Bill" Fry organized the Chronicle in July, 1896, there were two other newspapers published in the community. His ability as a business manager and editor made it possible for the Chronicle to outlive both its established rivals. He was an active member of both the Weekly Newspapers' Association of Canada and the Class A Weekly Association.

Born in Dunnville district he received his elementary and secondary school education at local institutions and was very popular among both the older and younger residents of the district for his interest in sport.

For many years "Bill" Fry served on the Olympic Committee. He attended sports festivals when they were held in Switzerland in 1928. Los Angeles, Rameses Shrine, Toronto; honorary 1932, and Germany in 1936.

Past president of the Amateur Athletics Union of Canada, he was also a life member and past president of the ville Fire Department; honorary mem-Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and the Ontario Hockey Associa-
