Had Captain's Quarters For Channel-Crossing

STATES LIEUT. NURSING SISTER MULHOLLAND

The second letter from Lieut. Nursing Sister Irene Mulholland, since she arrived in France with the invasion forces, was received by her family last week, dated July 2nd. "Molly" said they hadn't had to work too hard, and that most cases come in early in the evening. They are eating highly concentrated food, so, to use her own words they "could do wonders to a steak dinner just now." The first few nights were noisy, but she is getting used to it. Life is better than was expected, and she wrote that she was well and happy. Telling about the attitude of the French toward the Allied Invasion Forces, Molly said that some were glad and others indifferent. The latter had evidently been through so much that it did not matter who had their country, so long as they could have peace. The people of Normandy are poorly clothed, but have plenty of food.

The following press dispatch was published in an Airforce publication "Wings Abroad" recently which tells of the Nursing Sisters' arrival in France: France:—Tin hats on and battle dress trousers tucked into rubber boots, two R. C. A. F. nursing sisters Irene Mulholland, Georgetown, Ont., and D. C. Pitkeithly, Ottawa, walked down the ramp of an assault craft on to a Normandy beach early last week, the first Canadian servicewomen to land in France.

Main Group
 They came in with the main party of RCAF mobile field hospital supervised by W/C M. Growse, London, Ont., who, with a few other ranks, has been in France since the day after D-Day, preparing the way for the main body as well as acting as a casualty clearing station for Army and Air Force alike.

Coming ashore in the first inclement weather experienced since the invasion started, the nursing sisters said they had had "a wonderful crossing."

"We had the captain's quarters," Miss Mulholland said. "Lovely linen sheets and a private shower bath. It was really grand."

Barney
 "Of course," added Miss Pitkeithly, "I think we have to admit some of our success to the fact that we softened up the captain by turning up the bottoms of his trousers for him. They were too long and had bothered him for some time."

It wasn't very long before the nurses were pitching in with the rest of the party, helping putting up tents, and unloading vehicles. W/C Growse expected the hospital, only RCAF unit of its kind in France, would be fully operational within a few hours. Even though greeted by miserable weather, the personnel were happy in settling down in their field atop a hill, for it was a climax to many months of training.

Really Mobile
 The unit had probably lived and moved around in the field more than any other RCAF body during the last year, preparing for this day. It was on repeated scheme, setting-up-all-its-equipment on a particular site one day and breaking it down the next day for another move. Now, it is mobile in every sense of the word.

W/C Growse and his small advanced party are already seasoned workers in this theatre for more than 100 casualties, most of them soldiers from the front lines, have passed through their hands as part of the cohesive air evacuation established by the R.A.F.

Operations
 Too, they have treated and in some cases operated on Army and Air Force casualties from night-bombing attacks within their area.

"First night we were here they wasted us continually," said W/C Growse. "I spent most of the night with an orderly, running here and there, treating as many as I could. Our surgeon, Sgt. Church (Perth, Ont.) had to operate during it all too."

Church's operating theatre inside a tent consisted of a wide, deep trench with the operating table in the centre. Light was obtained by two Aldis lamps fastened to tent poles on either side of the trench. The roof shows several holes where machine-gun bullets ripped through it, but fortunately nobody was hit.

Close Call
 "We had one narrow escape, though," Growse recalled. "A machine-gun bullet went through a truck roof and hit an instrument used in transfusions. Underneath that instrument was our container of ether. If the bullet had gone that far the whole works would have gone up."

But the wing commander isn't planning on digging in at the new location. "We're going to display our red cross prominently," he said. "I hope Jerry respects it."

HORNBY

(Intended for last week)
 The annual Sunday School Picnic held last Friday afternoon on the flats on the farm of Mr. Frank Stark was attended by about sixty persons of all ages.

The chief centre of attraction for girls and boys seemed to be the old-fashioned swimmin' hole which the boys had made by building a dam across the creek. In spite of the extreme muddiness of the water they enjoyed a cooling refreshing bath.

A game of softball was played, after which there was a program of races for all ages, all keenly contested especially the clothes-hanging race for the ladies, all of whom appeared to be adepts at hanging things of all shapes and sizes on the line.

Then followed the delicious and satisfying picnic supper, during which all sorts of good things to eat seemed to disappear as if by magic.

Mr. Thos. Douglas, superintendent of the school in a few well-chosen words thanked Mr. and Mrs. Stark for their kind hospitality.

Mrs. Fred Wigglesworth of Ashgrove has been spending a few days at the home of her son Clifford.

Mrs. J. E. Bally spent a few days over the week end at the home of her daughter in Hamilton.

Mr. Andrew McIntosh of LaMar, California, who has spent the last few weeks visiting his mother, left for his home on Monday evening last. His mother accompanied him as far as Winnipeg where she will visit her brother and other relatives for a month or two. Her many friends will miss her greatly during her absence, but all wish her a most enjoyable time while she is away.

Miss Mildred Hurst and Miss Glenna Fleury, of Welwyn, Sask., are spending a couple of weeks visiting the latter's uncle and aunt at the parsonage.

Mr. Harold Robertson returned home last week after having received an honourable discharge from the Canadian Army.

Fall wheat cutting is in full swing this week, and the crop is a large one. Our local threshers are on the road once more for a good long heavy season's work. The harvest truly is great and the laborers too few.

Sunday afternoon, the members of Hornby L. O. L. attended divine service in the Hornby United Church.

Berry pickers from far and near are finding their way to Austin's big berry patch, and returning well laden with the choice fruit of the bushes so generously provided by nature.

THIS WEEK
 Thirty-two officers and members of Hornby L.O.L. attended service in the United Church last Sunday afternoon.

During the absence of the Minister on vacation for the next three Sundays, the services will be as follows:

On July 30th, all three services will be withdrawn. On August 6th, Mr. Gordon Hume of Milton, recently received as a candidate for the Ministry, will conduct the services in Bethel and Ashgrove Churches. At Hornby Rev. J. B. Moore of Milton will be in charge at 8 o'clock in the evening.

The services will all be withdrawn again on August 13th, to be resumed the following Sunday with the Minister in charge.

Mrs. Thomas Douglas and daughter of Brandon, Man., are visiting Mr. G. A. May and other relatives in the community.

The fall wheat is all out and being threshed. Yields as high as fifty bushels to the acre are being reported.

NASSAGAWEYA BUSY BEE NEWS

The July meeting of the Nassagaweya Busy Bee Club met the home of Mrs. Stan Robinson with thirteen members attending. Meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. C. E. Davenport in the chair and leading the repeating of the Lord's Prayer in unison. Mrs. J. J. Kennedy the Secretary Treasurer then gave roll call and was answered by each member presenting a crazy quilt block 18" by 18". Fifty-four were handed in.

Mrs. Stan Robinson Assistant Secretary Treasurer then read correspondence. Letters from overseas were received from Pte. Norman, Gnr. George Sgt. James Wallace, Sgt. Carl Frank, and four letters from Pte. Officers Reg. Finney, three of which were delayed in reaching the Club. All letters were those of thanks for cigarettes and parcels sent by the Club, alternately each month.

Two members gave thanks for cards of sympathy in bereavement sent to them. Mrs. W. W. Dredge thanked the ladies for a gift received from them in honour of their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

A motion that the Club pay half the costs, their share being $7.50, of installing rods for coat hangers in the town hall was carried. Mrs. Britton was given money by the Sec.-Treas. to send cigarettes this month. The quilt convener, Mrs. J. Frank then took the chair for a few minutes. A quilt top in crazy pattern was pieced during the month by Mrs. D. Talbot, who pieced a pattern one for the Club last month. She is over 80. Plans were then made for finishing pattern quilt orders that are farther behind than crazy pattern ones. Only three quilts had been quilted during the month. As this meeting was before the garden party, final plans for its success were made. Members are to be ready to discuss dances at the August meeting which is to be held in the school house if available, if not Mrs. Wilfrid Kennedy offered her home.

A pattern quilt was quilted during the day and evening.

Mrs. Margaret Robinson sent a fine donation of money to the Club this month.

Mrs. Robinson served a lovely salad plate, cookies and tart for lunch which the ladies enjoyed.

Mrs. J. Frank motioned a vote of thanks to Mrs. Robinson for the use of her home. Miss Ethel Kennedy gave a humorous reading during the afternoon. Meeting closed with all singing "God Save the King."
