By H. L. Hutt We know of nothing more uncertain and unpredictable than the weather. This year it has been favoring us in this particular locality as evidenced by the way it smiled on us for Fair Day to display the bountiful crops in field and garden in this locality. On the other hand it has been so dry in the Western part of the Province that we are told many gardens between London and Leamington yielded little else but disappointment and in many places wells had gone dry because of the drought. In the far West it has been much the same only different. Yown and District Softball League

Norval Softball Team was declared champion of the Georgetown and District Softball League, when they tallied two wins at the park, on Fair Day. There was a large crowd of fans at both games, and they were well rewarded for the play was close and exciting. In the first play-off, Norval won 9 - 5 against Smith & Stone, thus eliminating the latter team. The victors went on to play off with Allinnce' Paper Mills team, and won again, 5 - 3. McMurchy of Huttonville pitched for Norval in both games. One casualty occurred when Jack Harlow was sliding into second base for

Smith & Stone and broke his wrist. The final standing of all teams in the League before the semi-finals commenced have been obtained from the League manager, Walt Richardson, and are as follows:

Smith & Stone 2 Provincial Paper Terra Cotta

In the semi-finals, Smith & Stone climinated Provincial in two straight games. Two wins also put Alliance in the finals, instead of Terra Cotta. Norval and Glen Williams played Saturday, and came out the victors.

The series has been on the go since games, with enthusiasm running high.

Over 400 Attended Fair Night Dance at Arena

Georgetown Fall Fair last Friday and Saturday proved to be one of the most successful events to be staged here in some years. The ninety-eight year old Esquesing Agricultural Society presented a program of exhibits and attractions that drew 4000 people to the show, and all expressed themselves as well-pleased with the 1944 fair. From early Priday morning, until late Saturday evening, President Craig Reld and his Board of Directors were kept busy arranging the hall and grounds for the exhibits, and attending the judges on show day. However, their efforts were certainly worthwhile, and Georgetown can now be assured of having an even bigger and better show in the years to come.

The weather did a grand job, too, further East about Portage la Prairie for Georgetown Fair, and on both there was so much rain they could not days the sun shone brightly, with only a sprinkling of rain on Friday evening. Everything went off in shipshape style and there were no dull moments for those who attended.

The Friday Dance

Opening the show with the usual Priday night dance, the Society was more than pleased to be greeted with a record attendance. The fair dance opened the newly renovated Georgetown Arena dance hall, "the rose room," and over 400 dancers enjoyed the season's first dance. Excellent music was supplied by Georgetown's prominent dance band, The Moderngires, who played both modern and old time music.

Fair Opened by J. A. Carrell

Georgetown Fair was officially opened on Saturday from the judge's stand by Mr. J. A. Carroll, Superintendent of Ontario Fall Fairs' Association, who complimented the Directors on the fine show and stressed the importance of agricultural fairs in the province. The fair was more than fortunate this year to have as their master-of-ceremonles, "Tory" Gregg, of Kincardine, who did a grand job at the mike, keeping his audience well-informed as to what was going on: in: the various show rings. Another prominent horseman on the stand was Mr. J. H. Lock, of the Toronto Milk Bottle Exchange, who assisted with the races by special invitation from the Board.

Hall: Exhibits

Not many fairs can boast of having a hall of exhibits so full, and arranged so tastefully as Georgetown fair. The quality and quantity of the cohibits far exceeded the past few years, and showed in a very real way the renewed interest being taken by our citizens in the support of the Society. With this continued interest by exhibitors, Georgetown fair can make a name for itself in this phase of the show alone, especially at a time when other fairs find it tough going in this regard. The very excellent exhibits of fruit and flowers caught the eye on entering the hall, and was only exceeded by the large collectionof roots, "sudden death" game a week ago vegetables and grain. The display of husking corn was an added feature. The school exhibits have always been July 1st, and there have been some ship, drawing, art, and handcraft, also exceeded the expectations of the Directors this year, with more schools competing, i.e.: Georgetown Public and High, Stewarttown, Limehouse, Hornby, Blue Mountain, S. S. No. 16, Glen Williams, Waterloo S. S. No. 2. The school exhibits has always been encouraged for the fair, and each succeeding year finds more schools interested in this class. Some of the children's Victory Garden displays were much admired, as were the displays by the Girls' Garden Brigade. These were judged by Miss Rowe of the Ontario Department of Agricul-
