DISCHARGED SOLDIER TOLD OF BENEFITS AVAILABLE

The world is the oyster of all Canadian servicemen returning from overseas—now, or when the war ends, for his grateful countrymen have made it possible for him to follow any of the recognized trades or professions. How the plan is working out can probably best be realized by the results being obtained at Military District No. 2 which enlists more recruits than any other district in the Dominion.

The soldier awaiting discharge is informed of all the benefits available for him. If he is going back to his former employment, a check is made later on to see if he is still satisfied, or if going to new employment, the same thing is done. If he is seeking employment, his background and capabilities are analyzed, and he is assisted in realizing either his objective, or the best substitute. If he wishes to take up full or part-time farming, or commercial fishing, he is acquainted with the provisions of the Veterans' Land Act, which provides loans up to $6,000 at almost nominal interest, and easy repayment terms.

The Fourth 1944 report of the special committee on War Expenditures is of special interest to agriculture. War needs made it necessary for Canada to produce nitric acid and ammonium nitrate on a large scale and plants were established at Calgary and Niagara Falls. During the operation of these plants surplus developed and on account of the scarcity of commercial fertilizer caused by the war, research work was done and a process was perfected for the production of commercial fertilizer for the use of Canadian agriculture and for export. The subcommittee making this inquiry has recommended that the title to both of these plants should be retained by the Government after the war and that they should be operated for the production of commercial fertilizer for Canadian agriculture.

The Conservative members on the committee voted against the report, but it was supported by all government members and members of the other opposition groups.

If he wants to learn a trade, or take a university course, he receives, if single, $60.00 monthly, with dependent's allowance, if married $80.00 monthly with allowances for children. In vocational training, this allowance can continue for a year—for a little longer in special circumstances. In the case of university courses, the applicant must qualify, within 15 months after discharge, for the university course, and his record must continue good all through his classes if he expects to receive allowances until he gets his degree. In these latter courses, extra provision is made for the applicant who has to leave his family to attend the university, and so must "live out", or for the applicant who has to pay daily transportation. The Government pays the cost of the course.

Chief Veterans' Welfare Officer for M.D. No. 2 is Mr. Bass Dawson, who with his staff, interview every dischargee from this military area with a view to rehabilitating each. Men are advised to avoid, where possible, jobs where competition may be keen and skill requirements limited. Many skills and trades learned in service have a definite civilian value. Lack of schooling need not always be a bar to training. There are many opportunities for skilled and semi-skilled manual workers. Employment value ensures continuing employment is the lesson taught all dischargees.

Parent or other relatives of soldiers are urged to make themselves acquainted with the opportunities afforded their fighting kinsmen for a better life on discharge, and to convey this information to the soldiers, urging them to study for courses which will qualify them for better jobs in civilian life.

At the same time, under a scheme worked out by Major A. R. Ramsey, O.C. Rehabilitation Wing, No. 2 District Depot, all soldiers awaiting discharge who are desirous of returning to their old trades are put in touch with men who will employ them, brushing up on the new wrinkles of their profession, while they await that little paper from Ottawa that signifies "Good-bye, Sergeant Major, We're Going to Leave You Now".

Each of us is both consumer and producer.

As a producer each of us would like to get MORE money for our goods or services.

As a consumer each of us wants the costs of living kept down.

But we can't have it both ways.

As long as goods are scarce and money plentiful, prices have to be controlled or they'd jump sky high.

If prices are to be kept down, then costs of production including salaries, wages and raw materials must also be controlled.

One Person Can Start It!

When any one of us—

- offers to pay more than legal prices;
- asks higher returns for his services;
- asks higher prices for his goods.

He helps start a chain that forces every one else to do the same and nobody is better off.

THIS IS ONE OF A SERIES ISSUED BY THE GOVERNMENT OF CANADA TO EMPHASIZE THE IMPORTANCE OF PREVENTING FURTHER RISE IN THE COST OF LIVING NOW, AND DEFATION LATER.
