Thus concludes another of the many outstanding agricultural functions for which the County of Halton has won an outstanding reputation. Needless to add, a large number of Halton citizens, both rural and urban, contributed to the success of the day's programme. Space will not permit us to enumerate these, but we cannot overlook making special mention of the splendid co-operation rendered by the ladies of the Omagh and Mt. Union Women's Institutes who most capably attended to the needs of the inner man at the banquet at the town hall and the lunch on the field, respectively.

"IN OUR MAIL BAG"

To the Editor, Georgetown Herald.
Dear Sir:
Last week we received one of those cowardly things—an anonymous letter. It was signed "A Resident of a Disgusted Neighbourhood." To put our reply in your column seems to be about the only way to be sure our neighbour will get his answer. Perhaps it will also serve to answer the letter published in this column last week. I find it hard to compose a printable letter.
Yours truly, Catherine Verdec.

Dear Disgusted Neighbour:
There are several ways in which you could have made your complaint to us about our dog. You could have done the friendly thing—called at the door and politely requested us to do something about the dog nuisance which you believe our dog was causing. But that's too much to expect from you I guess. You could have done the manly thing—pounded on our door, shook your fist, called us names and demanded that we tie our dog up. But you wouldn't know about manly things. You could have taken legal action. Made your complaint to the police and have them look after it for you. Were you afraid to do that? And I suppose there are other decent ways to solve a problem like yours, but why discuss them? Decency is right out of your line. We wonder if you realize how little you have accomplished. Our dog won't be any further nuisance. It won't be seen on your lawn or your flower bed if we can help it, but not because of your anonymous, threatening letters.
Your Disgusting Neighbours.

November 14th, 1944.
The Editor, The Georgetown Herald.

Dear Sir:
The officers and members of Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., Branch 120, deeply regret that the Two Minutes' Silence, in respect of our fallen comrades was not properly observed in Georgetown on November 11, 1944. The fire siren was not heard and some mill whistles were not blown.
Yours truly, Wallace Thompson, Secretary.
