GEORGETOWN'S WAR DEAD HONORED BY W. I. AT JANUARY MEETING
 The first regular meeting for the new year of the Georgetown Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. W. G. Marshall, on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 11th, at 3 p.m. Eighteen members were present and two visitors. The president, Mrs. W. O. McDowell, presided, and in the absence of Mrs. H. Bailey through illness Mrs. Geo. Campbell acted as secretary.
 The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. In response to an appeal from the I.O.G.F. for a cash donation for the purchase of books for the Armed Forces, $2.00 was voted for this purpose.
 Limehouse and Georgetown are to hold a joint meeting on Monday, Feb. 5th, at 3 p.m., when a Government speaker will be present and give a talk on Home Economics. Mrs. Fred McNally very kindly offered her home for this meeting and all ladies interested are invited to attend. The Helping Hand Committee and St. Luke's Committee reported the sick and shut-in members had been remembered at Christmas time. The program committee for the meeting was Mrs. Fred Armstrong and Mrs. A. Lewis.
 The roll call was answered by telling of an unusual Christmas gift received.
 As a tribute to the boys of the town and vicinity, twenty-seven in all, who have paid the supreme sacrifice in the Second Great War, the members stood and sang one verse of "O Canada" after which Mrs. Lewis read the Queen's message, from her personal Christmas card, and the members again joined in singing three verses of "Abide with me."
 The current events were given by Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Lewis. Miss Mamie Campbell was the winner in a humorous contest in which all the members took part. After a vote of thanks to the hostess and the programme committee for a most interesting afternoon the meeting closed by singing the National Anthem and a cup of tea and cookies were served.

STANDARDS OF THE KINGDOM
LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5:13-16, 43-48.
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.—Matthew 5:10.
 A kingdom must have laws, and here we have the laws for Christ's kingdom—the kingdom of heaven—which He shall one day establish on this earth. In the Church we have the joy of living as loyal subjects of Christ, and hence these standards are for our counsel and guidance.
 The verses of this greatest of all discourses are addressed to those who have actually taken Christ as King of their lives. These beatitudes are not a substitute for the gospel. They are not laws that the unbeliever can keep and thus be saved, for this would be utterly impossible. Only he who knows and has called upon the power and grace of God in Christ can qualify to walk as a citizen of Christ's kingdom.
 We note two things in this wonderful and instructive passage from God's Word:
I. The Character of the Follower of Christ (vv. 3-10).
 The eight characteristics of the Christian here presented are worthy of extended individual attention, but we can offer only brief suggestions. "Blessed are they of a humble and a commendable quality. How contradictory the present-day philosophy, which calls for self-assertion and self-reliance. But Jesus was not mistaken. The way into the kingdom of heaven is not that of assertive self-sufficiency. "Blessed are they that mourn." The world does not believe that statement. It shrines the house of mourning. It tries without avail to philosophize away the fact of sorrow. The Christian, on the other hand, feels with his fellow man and thus receives a blessing. One can really learn from sorrow.
 I walked a mile with Pleasure: She chattered all the way. But left me none the wiser When sorrow had to say.
 I walked a mile with Sorrow. And ne'er a word said she. But, oh, the things I learned from her When Sorrow walked with me.
 "Blessed are the meek." Poverty of spirit comes when a man rightly sees himself, and has a sympathetic touch with sorrow. Then he "inherits the earth," because he truly comes to enjoy it as a place of service and Christian growth, and not because he has a deed to a single foot of its soil.
 "It is the hunger and thirst for righteousness (v. 6), and not the possession of it, that is blessed" (Plummer). Self-satisfied people know nothing of the glory of having their hunger and thirst satisfied by God.
 We have here also the Christian's spirit of mercy which invites divine mercy; a purity of heart, cleanness of mind, and sincerity of purpose, which enable a man really to see God even in this impure world; that Christlike spirit which makes him a peacemaker in a fighting world; yes, that spirit which makes him like the Master in sweetly bearing unjustified persecution. These indeed are the marks of the man who follows Christ as King.
II. The Conduct of the Follower of Christ (vv. 43-48).
 There can possibly be no more severe test of a man's Christian character than the manner in which he treats his enemies. Many who pass the other tests meet failure (at least in part) at this point.
 It is no easy thing to love your enemies, but it is the standard of Christ, and He will enable us to live up to it. Now is a good time to put it into practice, not only personally, but nationally.
 There can be no doubt that love for the brethren will be a more intimate and satisfying experience because they return our affection (v. 46). Anyone can do that and enjoy it: Enemies often return hatred for our love—they persecute us (v. 44). But we are still to love them.
 That love must move us to treat them kindly and to pray for them. Someone says: "It can't be done. Yes, it can by the grace of God Christ, and it is being done."
 We need to exercise care lest we fall into the easy habit of speaking with derision or scorn of the ungodly—that wicked, dissipated neighbor who hangs around taverns and other questionable places. Let us never condone their sin—that we should hate—but may God help us to love them and lead them to Christ.
 This lesson is indicated as being a temperance lesson. The application can only be made indirectly, but it may have value. The use of alcohol is so destructive of everything that is good, that it is quite obvious it is not in accord with these standards of the kingdom of heaven. It is time some church people decided whether they want to belong to the world or belong to Christ. If the latter is their purpose, we believe the only consistent position to take is that of abstinence from alcoholic liquors.

MATRON EDITH DICK SPEAKS TO PUBLIC SCHOOL CHILDREN
 The senior rooms at Georgetown Public School had a distinguished visitor last Thursday afternoon in the person of Matron Edith Dick of Milton, who recently returned from overseas where she was matron of a Canadian hospital unit in Belgium.
 Miss Dick, who is a niece of Miss Georgina Young of the school staff was introduced by Principal H. C. Wigginsworth, and told the children something of how casualties are evacuated from the battlefield to the hospitals. She also described the institution at Buckingham Palace, on December 12th, where she was presented with the Royal Red Cross medal, emblematic of her service as a hospital matron. At the conclusion of her address, the children sang "There'll Always Be an England" and "God Save the King".
 Miss Dick also brought welcome news to two families in town who have relatives overseas. Major J. T. Biehn of Sarnia, a brother of the publisher, was a member of the same unit in Belgium, and she spent Christmas at a hospital in England where Col. Robert Nodwell, brother of W. E. Nodwell, is officer commanding.

Gratitude
