

"small business" ISN'T SO SMALL!

Ordinarily one Canadian in every six gainfully employed, earns his livelihood in a "small business." It may be a farm, a store or a lumber-yard; an architect's office or a service station. Taken together, these individual enterprises provide a very substantial part of Canada's total jobs—must continue to do so after the war.

No fewer than 94 out of every hundred establishments in the manufacturing, wholesale, retail and services fields are small, employing less than 15 people. Together they employ 37% of all the workers engaged in these classes of business.
(From 1941 census)

During the years ahead many people who dropped small business for war reasons will want to return to their accustomed or new ways of making a living. Thus old businesses will be revived. Many new ones will be started by returned men and people now in war industries. The commercial banks will do their part to afford assurance that no sound credit requirement need be left unserved in the field of small business.

As such businesses grow, they create additional job openings; that has been the pattern of Canadian enterprises. Most large companies began in a small way. And practically all could name some bank which played a part in their growth by providing the loans they needed to finance their day-to-day operations.

Your bank stands ready to serve businesses, small or large, well established or just starting out. Banks do not initiate such businesses—but they do furnish necessary working capital and many other forms of banking service.

WAR MAGIC

No group of workers has a finer war record than the men and women of the pulp and paper industry. The magic skill of her chemists and the great effort of her workers has made it possible for this industry to pull many rabbits out of the hat to meet war's shortages.

Presto! Out of the raw pulpwood comes pulp. And from pulp come many things: plastics, explosives, synthetic varns for parachutes carrying supplies, paperboard for shipping containers, a score of other essential products for fighting the enemy.

In operations at home and in greatly increased exports to allied countries, this industry and workers are indeed performing war magic.

PROF. HUTT ADDRESSES LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

The regular meeting of the Local Council of Women was held in the Municipal Building on Friday May 18th at 3 p. m.

The President, Mrs. Paul, opened the meeting with silent prayer, asking the women to give thanks for victory in Europe; and to pray for the speedy victory in the Far East.

The President also read a paper clipping of Mrs. Edgar D. Hardy, National President of the Council of Women: "We must not forget that the war is not yet over. We face the days of greater sacrifice, demanding more understanding, more sympathy and a determination to do our individual best in order that the enormous difficulties facing us may work out to a sure and enduring peace. The spirit with which we accept these responsibilities will prove our sincerity and our profound belief in the democratic way of life."

Miss Lawson read a very interesting pamphlet on the League of Nations. A donation of ten dollars was made to the President of the Rehabilitation Committee for gifts for the returning boys from overseas.

Plans were made for the meeting on June 15th, when Mrs. Marshall, the Provincial President will be guest speaker.

The President welcomed Prof. Hutt who took for his subject Eight Months of flowers, covering a season. He started with the first bloom in earliest spring, and followed on with the blooms succeeding, till the mums in late fall. His address was very interesting, and very well presented.

Mrs. A. Roosevelt, in a few well-chosen words thanked the speaker. The meeting adjourned to meet June 15th.

HALTON CANDIDATES SPEAK AT LOCAL C.C.F. MEETING

Georgetown, Norval and Stewarttown had an opportunity to hear the C.C.F. platform for the forthcoming elections at the meeting held in the Gregory Theatre last Thursday and in Norval Parish Hall and Stewarttown Hall last night.

Robert Duncan of Oakville was chairman for the Georgetown meeting and first introduced W. C. Millward, provincial candidate, who spoke of the growth of the party in spite of adverse press publicity and said the C.C.F. offered a better life for the ordinary man.

Federal Candidate Carlyle Browne said that in 1935, Mr. King had promised public control of finance but it was not until war's outbreak that this control was taken. He said democracy was impossible under the present system and that social security and overall economic planning was offered by the C.C.F.

The third speaker, Andrew Brewin, said that misleading propaganda had been distributed in Britain regarding Ontario, and that we must first provide our own people with what they need. The C.C.F. promises five-star security — job, home, farm, health and dominion, and their aim is to unite, not sever, the provinces. Only when the Dominion and the provinces work in unison can a truly united Canada come into being.
