but the reason you can't talk over your toy telephone is because there's lots more to telephoning than the instrument itself. It takes wires and cable and complicated exchange equipment and a mass of other telephones which make up the Bell system. These telephone materials have been going to war. That's why so many people are waiting for telephone service today.

It will take time and money and manpower to carry out the large-scale construction and improvement program we've planned for after the war.

Take our dial conversion program along: Almost three-quarters of the telephones in service are now of the dial type. But that still leaves thousands of telephones and exchange equipment in scores of communities, to be changed over.

After the war when equipment is again obtainable, the job will take years to complete. And this is just one of several projects which spell jobs not only for all our present employees both at home and overseas but for additional workers, too.

Rationing helps the FARMER

HERE'S HOW!

- Rationing assures everyone a fair share of scarce foods. Without rationing, farmers might get all the butter they need; they might not get sugar. City dwellers might get sugar but no butter.
- Rationing helps to keep prices steady.
- Rationing has assured farmers sufficient ammunition to protect their crops and livestock
- Rationing makes it possible for farmers to get coupons to feed harvesters and other transient farm workers

The FARMER helps Rationing HERE'S HOW!

- By collecting and turning in the coupons acquired against the use and sale of butter and the sale of honey and rationed maple products.
- By writing to the Local Ration Boards for application form RB-77 as SOON as they know definitely that transient labour rations will be needed to feed extra help hired for periods of less than two weeks.

Rationing is not intended to add unnecessarily to the burden of Canadian farmers who, faced with shortages of labour, materials and machinery, have continued to respond to repeated calls for greater production.

It is a protection against waste . . . shortages . . . inflation.
