PRINTING MACHINE CELEBRATES V-J DAY

Not to be outdone in the general celebration, the linotype machine at the Herald got temperamental just before the news of V-J Day was received on Tuesday. It was impossible to get it in working order until Thursday, and we had to call on our good friend, G. A. Hills, of the Acton Free Press for loan of equipment to finish this week's issue, which will not reach our subscribers until Friday morning.

—A company of 37 Toronto Girl Guides is camping on Eason's Flats beside the 10th Line Bridge. The Guides had church parade to St. George's Church Sunday morning.

—The Church Bells of St. George's rang for several minutes at 10 p.m. last Sunday night, when Prime Minister Mackenzie King's broadcast heralding the end of the war with Japan, lent authenticity to the fake "surrender" news flash announced over the radio at 9.34 p.m. Other than that, a flood of telephone calls placed through the local telephone office, there was no outward and visible signs of celebration at the premature announcement.

—The Brampton-Norval lacrosse game scheduled for Aug. 14th was val on Monday, Aug. 20th. This is postponed and will be played at Nor- the last league game of the season. Play-offs begin the end of next week. Watch this column for dates.

FARMERS' RALLY

On August 9th, the farmers of Nassagaweya Township, Halton County, attended the rally arranged by the township unit of the Halton Federation of Agriculture.

President Arthur Diamond and his able executive and committee are to be congratulated on the well-planned programme prepared for the annual event. The horseshoe pitching contest was close. Mr. Frank received the honours for the winning team, while captain Jas. Service pressed hard with his fingers. As usual the ball game drew the larger crowd, encouraging the teams in action to put on a good showing. The speed of three taking part in the races demonstrated that the people of Nassagaweya, are real movers.

As daylight faded into twilight the large crowd adjourned from the sports field to the Township Hall, in the village of Brookville, here they were refreshed from the service booth efficiently manned by Mrs. and Frank Rhinehart and Councillor John Robertson. In the council chamber, at the rear of the hall, was found the more nutritious foods served with coffee and ice cream by the ladies of the community, proving that the farm ladies do understand the arts of domestic science.

At 8.30 president Arthur Diamond took the chair and ran off a very excellent programme. Here again the observer was struck by the exceptional quality of talent that can be drawn upon in a community of farm folk, especially among the young people. Miss Phyllis Robertson delighted the audience with vocal solos, proving that the work of their music teacher had not been in vain. Mr. George Atkins of Bronte kept the audience in a jovial spirit while leading in several rounds of community singing.

Mr. Paul Fisher, president of the County Federation, outlined the work of the county board and the plans for the year, in introducing the special speaker, Mr. Kenneth Betzner, president of the Ontario Federation. Mr. Fisher congratulated the chairman and his co-workers on having Mr. Betzner with them. He pointed out the heavy responsibilities and countless calls on the president of the provincial organization. Mr. Betzner very ably covered the field of the Ontario organization and some of the accomplishments. In listening to the speaker it became quite clear that the organization had in their president, a man with a real grasp of the problems and responsibilities of agriculture. He especially pointed out the progress and success of Farm Radio Forums, emphasizing the power of public opinion created by the listening audience.

Mr. R. S. Heatherington, recently appointed full-time fieldman for Halton County, told the gathering about the programme prepared for the next twelve months. He said arrangements were being made to have twenty centres in the county, five in each township, where the sound films would be shown, once in the afternoon to the school children and once in the evening to the adults, each month.

Mr. R. J. Scott told a couple of stories, humorously sighting the trend of thought for agriculture, now necessary. He then dealt with the visit to Canada and the U.S.A. of the British Delegation and the brief they had submitted to the Canadian Federation of agriculture. Although it involved grave responsibilities, export and import trade, exchange, etc., he termed it a very simple plan, just being HONEST—HONEST with ourselves and HONEST with those with whom we deal.

At the close of the programme the young people soon cleared the hall and the local orchestra, led by Mr. Alex. Near, Reeve of the Township, provided the music for a community dance. The outstanding feature of the annual event was the grand spirit of friendliness and good fellowship.
