Welcome Home. Biggest Show Yet Promised At Georgetown's 99th Annual Fair

ETTER TO THE EDITOR September 3, 1945

The Georgetown Herald.

The following is a brief general description of a proposed sewer system for Georgetown, as planned by The C. R. Hagey Engineering Company and presented to the Town Council in June, 1945 This plan has the approval the Ontario Department of Health. The system may be divided into the following components: Disposal Plant, Trunk Sewers. Lateral Sewers and House Services.

THE DISPOSAL PLANT would be situated in the vicinity of Cedarvale School. Feeding it would be a 24 inch pipe which roughly follows the course the stream to a point near the junction of John and McNab streets, the pipe reducing in size to 21 inch and 18 inch. From there two lines would branch: one following the south side of the O.N.B. tracks (East West) to Victoria and Chapel streets, the second passing under the C.N.R. subway Easterly to St. Michael Street. Stapleton of Norval, he was employed Two other short tranks complete the Trunk Sytsem: one from Market and Joseph Streets intersections and the second from the neighbourhood Water and Pactory Streets intersections; both empty into the main trunk

The section of the town north of the C.N.R. (East and West) tracks and East of St. Michael Street cannot be be sewered by gravity and would require a pump system, which would be situated at a point to which sewage from that whole low-lying district would readily flow. It would be collected there and pumped through 4 inch force main to the top of the

Such a Trunk System divides the town into several compact sections each of which would empty into the trunk lines. The configuration of the town lends itself admirably to a system composed almost entirely of small sized pipes serving small sections of the town and entering the Trunk System at various points.

Analysis of effluent from some industries have been made. Results indicate that this system would dispose of all industrial waste. Further, the construction is such that no replacements of sewer pipes would be necessary as the town grows; they will be necessary to add another unit to the Disposal Plant in such case.

It was found to be cheaper and more satisfactory for pavements to be out in the centre for a width of 30 inches than to run the sewers on both sides of paved streets. Laterals would be tunnelled under the street and sidewalk to the basement wall. Not more than one business block would be closed at any time and sidewalk traffic would not be greatly disturbed. The pavement would be replaced in a sat isfactory manner by the contractor. This plan has been printed in the August 22nd issue of the Georgetown Herald and is on display in the Municipal Building. It is subject to minor changes, some of which have beer made since its preparation. This system would require very little operating care or expense. The effluent from the Disposal Plant is clear water, which returns to the stream. The solid waste in the plant does not constitute a nuisance for those living in the neighbourhood and is in demand as fertilizer.

Thank you again, Mr. Editor, for

Yours truly. C V. WILLIAMS. M.O.H. Georgetown

All roads will lead to Georgetown next Saturday when Esquesing Agricultural Society presents its 90th annual Fair Pair at the park. Promising the biggest fair yet, both from the standpoint of exhibits and of entertainment, the Fair Board are keeping an anxious eye on the weatherman, and hoping he will favour them with just such a day as Brampton enjoyed at their Labour Day show.

There has been an extremely heavy demand for prize lists this year, which indicates that interest in the Georgetown show will exceed even the banner years of the past. Sure to attract lots of attention is the Arts & Crafts exhibit, put on by this enterprising Georgetown group who have revived interest in handicraft in this district. Fair petrons will be able to see hand looms in operation, angora rabbits, and hand-made articles of wearing apparel and novelties. Another popular ladies' feature is the non-compatitive Women's Institute displays, open to funior and senior Institutes in the

Once again the new crop of babies will be competing in the Cuthrie Beby Show always a favourite for me and pa to show off their young ones. A Georgetown old boy, Mr. Net Guthrie, of Toronto, has sponsored this for some years, judging and presenting the prizes himself and there are always plenty of youngeters competing in the two classes—under 9 months and under 18 months.

The school children promise good entries in handcraft, art and comes competitions and in the Victory Vegotable Garden Special, this latter being an entry open to rural and urban schools as units.

Horses, cattle, sheep, pigs and poultry will ail be there in good numbers. The poultry exhibit this year is in the form of a lawn show, promoted jointly by the Pair Board and the Georgetown and Halton Poultry Association. It will attract exhibitors from farther out who have never shown in Georgetown before and anyone who is & "feather fancier" won't want to miss

Tory Gregg, Wingham radio 60nouncer, will be in charge of thices around the grandstand, where horse races and high jumping will be among the features. The Lavoic_Midway by the best yet and will operate in the park on Friday evening and all the the fair on Saturday. Another Friday night feature is the dance in the "Rose Room" with the Modern Aires supplying the music.

Officers of the Fair Board, who have worked so hard to make the affair a success include—President, Oraig Reid: 1st vice-president, W. J. Alexander: 2nd vice-president, Harding Price; treasurer, P. W. Cleave and secretary, Garfield McGilvray. them have been a hard-working Board of Directors, every one doing his part to ensure a big day.

Let's give them, our fair and our town a boost and see all attendance records shattered at the park next Saturday. Join the crowd and "meet your friends at Georgetown Fair."

Miss Elma King Married at Ayr

The home of Mrs. A. L. Easton, in Avr. was the setting last Saturday afternoon, for the marriage of Miss Elma Jane King, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Dr. James H. King, of Guelph, gave his niece in marriage. She wore a frock of heaven-blue sheer, with news accessories, and carried pink rosss. There were no attendants. A reception followed, and the couple will live in Ayr after their wedding trip.
