

Dowager's Rights

"LEI MING" complained of her dowager from the depths of her silken bed, "you aren't going to work in that hospital again today?" Her daughter continued fastening her quilted black jacket. "Yes, Mother. They need me."
"But must you degrade yourself? Isn't there something more genteel you can do?"
"Lei Ming shook her smooth dark head. "They need every helping hand they can get. The city is full of refugees in need of medical attention."
"But how can you expect me to arrange a suitable marriage if you persist in such associations? No man of character will want you."
"There are too many children who need attention now," sighed Lei Ming, turning away. "Many of them are homeless." She turned back suddenly. "If you would only come with me!"
The dowager settled her plump, perfumed self deeper among her pillows and sighed. There had been a time when the many splendid rooms of her house were filled to overflowing with prominent, notable, important people. But with the war's coming lavish social affairs were frowned upon, and life was exceedingly dull. And Lei Ming was becoming harder to understand.
Tears ran down her cheeks, and with her plump hands curbed helplessly on the coverlet, her small mouth drawn into a pout, she fell asleep. When her frightened handmaid shook her she awoke with a start. "Madam! Lei Ming needs you. The ricksha boy who brought the message waits without. Make haste!"
For the first time in all her sheltered life the dowager hurried. Toting on her tiny bound feet she arrived at the rambling old mission

"OLD MAN SUNSHINE" DIES IN HAMILTON

Radio listeners in town will remember "Old Man Sunshine," whose broadcasts from a Hamilton radio station a few years ago were so popular. Many in Georgetown had become acquainted with him, in the person of Rev. George W. Tebbe on his frequent appearances in town as an entertainer, as guest preacher at St. George's Church and on visits to the Lions Club, in which he was an active worker.

We regret to report the death of Mr. Tebbe at his home in Hamilton. He had been in ill health since retiring as rector of St. Luke's Church, Burlington, after serving in that parish for 25 years. Funeral services were held yesterday, and Ven. W. G. O. Thompson of Georgetown was among those who paid their respects to this well-known Christian gentleman.

STEWARTTOWN

(Intended for last week)
Archdeacon W. G. O. Thompson of Georgetown visited St. John's Church, Sunday afternoon and was the celebrant at a service of Holy Communion. This was very much appreciated as no Communion Service has been held since Mr. Colebrook left early in June. M. P. J. Henderson spent the weekend at his home here.

Mrs. S. Hunt, who recently moved to Stewarttown was a visitor in the village last Thursday.

Visitors for Labour Day at Mrs. Bally's were Mr. and Mrs. E. Bally, John and Paul of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Bally and Dawn of Hamilton.

Everybody is appreciating the new paved road and the freedom from dust. Township Council meeting was held Tuesday afternoon.

School re-opened Tuesday morning. Miss Coyne of Toronto is our new teacher and we welcome her. Beginners this year are Janie Henderson Ruby Tennant, Jean Corley and Bill De Vries.

Ronald Cash is attending Georgetown High School this year.

FIRST WEEK FILM SHOWING

The films shown in Nelson Township last week were the first to be shown of the year's program of the Halton Federation of Agriculture. The Fieldman reports these meetings were most encouraging and comments of highest praise were expressed by those attending, on the type of film shown and the educational value. The three outstanding films were Timber Front, Farm Front and the Peace River District in color.

The film Timber Front pictured the wonderful forests of Canada being cut, logged, milled and put to use in construction. It also featured the immense waste during this period by the lack of a definite policy in the handling of our forest resources, the enormous waste by fire and the methods employed for fire protection and prevention also reforestation and conservation.

The Peace River District film is a beautiful colored picture showing the settler clearing the land, building homes, etc. and the wonderful progress and accomplishments of agriculture up to the present day.

250-YEAR CURSE OF THE GIBNETS

Out of the woods came a pillar of green fire in the shape of a woman and reached out with huge arms to engulf a horrified bicyclist. That's O'Donnell, the "Ghost Man," saw this apparition, and writes about it in The American Weekly with this Sunday's (September 16) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times. Get Sunday's Detroit Times.

I saw the doctor today about my loss of memory. What did he advise? That I pay him in advance.

"I told my brother."

hospital, her hair awry. The curious eyes of weary, hungry refugees followed her progress across the crowded courtyard. Greedy hands twitched at her silken trouser leg, and shrill voices pleaded for alms. Angry maledictions followed in her wake as she swept past, unheeding.
Rushing from the bright sunlight into the gloom of the building she collided with a very dirty-faced little girl who had been standing directly in her path watching her approach with awe.
"Must you stand in the way, child?" the woman scolded. "Goodness, don't shriek so. Here."
She dabbed at the child's tears. Immediately the howling ceased, and a radiant smile lighted up the youngster's face. "Mmmmm," she cried. "You smell good."
An odd, half-forgotten warmth swept over the dowager. "Thank you, child," she said abruptly, and hurried on. She stumbled through three crowded rooms before she found Lei Ming efficiently bandaging a man's shoulder. "What does this mean?" demanded the dowager indignantly. "I thought you needed me."
"We do, Mother," Lei Ming said without ceasing her work. "Hand me the scissors, please."
Trembling with anger the older woman obeyed. "I never dreamed you could stoop to such trickery."
"I merely sent word you were needed, and you are. I'm sorry if you were frightened."
"Frightened! Of course I was —" A tug at her clothes caused her to look down. The little girl she had run into was holding a dirty little boy by the hand.
"I told my brother if he would let you wash his face he could smell you," cried the child eagerly.
The small boy grasped the dowager, pushed his face against one leg and inhaled deeply. He smiled and clung, staggering a little.
She stooped and picked him up. His head dropped against her soft shoulder and almost instantly he was asleep. For a moment the dowager looked uncertain. But when the child stirred and sighed, her clasp tightened. Decision brought pink spots to the plump cheeks she hadn't taken time to rouge. "I'll take these two home with me."
"Oh, thank you, Mother," Lei Ming cried. "But are you sure you can manage?"
"With a household of empty rooms and servants? Of course I can," was the retort. Then, with vigor, "And tell Dr. Wu if he wants to retain his fees he'll get the rest of the children up to my house — at once!"
