Special music for the day was provided by the choir assisted by Mrs. Frank Hadley, Mr. Ernest Fay, Mrs. Clarence Ford, and Miss Anne Clifton. The new minister, Rev. Fred Ainsworth, spoke in the morning on "The Kingdom of Heaven," and in the evening on "The Price of Your Soul." A good arrangement of flowers added much to the services, and was enjoyed by the many people that attended.

DR. C. V. WILLIAMS, M.O.H.

A full discussion on this important subject is invited, so that every ratepayer may be informed.

Guelph on the grounds back of the judge's stand. Shows that more interest is being taken in fall fairs.

While the midway people let the fair board down badly, the kiddies did get a thrill out of the boat-racer and the pony rides up by the grandstand.

It was certainly nice to have genial Jack MacPherson, of the OBC Farm Broadcast department, at the fair all day Saturday, and those who were fortunate enough to hear his broadcast on Tuesday, will agree that he gave Georgetown fair the credit it deserved.

It is doubtful whether any fair in the province can boast of as school exhibit such as we had at Georgetown fair this year. The effort put into this work by the students and teachers must have been tremendous, and shows the fine training our boys and girls are getting. To the teachers of both the urban and rural schools, and to the judges who spent so much time in placing the awards, the fair directors would like to say a big "Thank You."

It would help the work of the Secretary greatly if all rural schools would send in a list of their winnings, also stating whether they had a non-competitive display or not.

The Board of Trade tent was a grand place to get in out of the sun on fair day. Also noticed Secretary Bill Rodwell getting a few more "shots" for a display of pictures for the 100th show next year.
