GOVERNMENT SUPPORT FOR A SPORTS DIRECTOR

The information which Mr. Stanley Hall, M.P. P. brought to the father and son social last Friday night was of primary interest to the executive of "Youth, Inc.," the new group which will promote athletics among Georgetown young people.

The province plans to assist non-profit community groups which are fostering recreational programmes by paying 33 1/3 per cent. of the salary of the director of such a programme, and a similar percentage of the salary of full-time or part-time assistants, as well as 20 per cent. of approved operating and maintenance costs, exclusive of capital costs. This proviso is necessary, as it is impossible for the government to assist in paying for expensive buildings which are planned by many communities as war memorials.

It is one of the first aims of "Youth, Inc." to secure a paid, full-time sports director to inaugurate a community athletic programme and the anticipated government support will materially aid in financing such a plan. We anticipate that at the first meeting of the group tonight, plans will be made to advertise for a sports director and we are confident that it will not be necessary to bring in a man from outside, but that by advertising locally a suitable man will be found.

A few years back, a local man did a real one-man job for hockey in Georgetown—a job which eventually led to the position of sports director for the International Nickel Co. up north. There are others in town, we are sure, with those same potentialities for leadership which Gordon Alcott possessed.

The success or failure of a community sports plan will rest to a great extent on the choice of a proper man to be sports director. Once chosen, it will be his job to see that things run smoothly and that Georgetown will be a leader among small communities in developing and encouraging healthy athletics.

BACK IN THE LINE-UP

A revival of interest in national league hockey is promised in Georgetown this year, with Bob Goldham back in the Maple Leafs line-up, after an absence of three years in the navy. Bob had one memorable year in professional ranks back in 1941, when he was the "golden boy" of that year's Stanley Cup champions, and we haven't been able to get quite so enthused these last years with no "local color" in the big time.

It is a great thrill to local sport fans to see a kid from John Street, who learned his hockey in the arena across the road reach the peak in his chosen career. And it's fine to see that success has not gone to his head and that he retains his interest in Georgetown and wants to assist in any way he can to promote sports back home. We wouldn't be surprised at all to see him out coaching the midgets and juveniles this winter when he has a day off. With Bob the game's the thing, whether it's professional sport or the most simon-pure amateur.

We'll be following his career this year with interest in the Toronto papers and watching him step farther along the road to stardom.

GUEST EDITORIALS

We're looking forward again this year to Education Week, when the Herald editorial page is turned over to the editorial efforts of G.H.S. students. The calibre of last year's editorial material was exceptionally high and set a standard which will really be hard to beat this year. It spoke well for the training received by pupils in our public and high schools—the latter despite severe handicaps of operating a school of higher learning in an inadequate, poorly ventilated building.

At present it is financially impossible for Georgetown to consider extensive improvements to the high school building when we are faced with the heavy costs of installing a sewage system. But as soon as the town can see its way clear financially to embark on a further major project, we think that the first item should be a completely renovated high school building—well-ventilated, with assembly room and gymnasium, and facilities for manual training and a business course.

HEADING TOWARDS NORMAL

This week the advertising columns of this newspaper are graced with something which has been absent for some time—the news that washing machines are once more on the market. It is a portend of the return to normalcy when once more we will be able to buy refrigerators, tires, canned salmon and white shirts, candy bars will openly display themselves on shelves and ration coupons will not be needed to buy

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Editor: Georgetown Herald,

Dear Sir:
 I am finally compelled to write you and bring to your attention and the good citizens of Georgetown the deplorable conditions that prevail at the Saturday night dances in Georgetown Arena.

The one complaint concerns the lack of order in the Rose Room, with brawling and drunkenness rampant. Another complaint is the thievery practiced at most of these dances with many valuable articles being stolen and nothing ever recovered.

Complaint number three is the lawless parking with many of the patrons to these dances, driving their cars on to lawns and private drives of John St. residents.

The last complaint concerns the noise and general disorder when the dance is over, where these young people flock out to their cars, yelling and swearing and making a general bedlam.

Surely the members of the Arena Board or our Town Fathers can remedy this situation with more strict supervision. If this isn't possible, then the Rose Room should be closed to public dances until law and order prevails.

butter and sugar. Slowly but surely we are heading back to normalcy, but though peace has come we are still facing a Ninth Victory Loan to help pay costs incurred and still being incurred by the war.

By buying bonds to speed rehabilitation and reconstruction, we will be doing ourselves a favour in saving to buy some of these war-scarce articles referred to above as they come back on the market. As has been said nine times before, we're not asked to give, but to lend our money at a good rate of interest. There's no sacrifice in that!
