CAN WE END LABOR UNREST?

Labor asks for fair wages, security, holidays with pay, a shorter working week. Employers seek a fair return on invested funds, tax easements to enable savings against declines in business, and production standards that permit Canadian goods to compare favorably for world markets.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

29th September, 1946

The Editor,
Georgetown Herald,
Dear Mr. Editor:
May I reply to "A Teen-ager thinking of the future"? As a former student of Georgetown High School, I feel qualified to express an opinion on his (or her) letter.

To my mind, the Teen-ager has forgotten the basic necessity for obtaining an education, namely, WORK. This is the "Key."

Granted it is very important that the minds of our students should not be over-taxed with studies to the exclusion of all else, however, after carefully reviewing a recent Examination Report, it appears to me that the preponderance of "Credits" cannot be blamed on the fact that there is no auditorium gymnasium, etc., but rather that the students seem to be spending more time on extra-curricular activities such as student council meetings, dances and so on, than on the business of setting themselves to the task of developing a mind that will be ready to face the "dark side of life" referred to by the "Teen-Ager."

No, I am not an old "fuddy duddy," for am I in the "Zoot" class, I do, however, know from experience that the boys' and girls at present attending Georgetown High School can, despite its many shortcomings, provide themselves with a tremendous amount of useful knowledge and mental fitness, if they will only accept what is available and make the most of it, instead of griping for things which are for the present at any rate, beyond the realm of financial possibility in our community.

Yours very truly,
EX-G.H.S.

LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN PLAN FALL MEETINGS

The first fall meeting of the Local Council of Women was held in the Municipal Building on Friday, September 27th, with Mrs. R. T. Paul presiding. She stressed the need for members to attend the meetings, pointing out that "we who are here make the society and if we don't pull together, we fail."

After the usual business, Mrs. Paul read a message from H.R.H. Princess Alice which said: "The National Council of Women embraces every conceivable interest which affects the lives and well-being of women in particular, and of people as a whole. I feel sure that they may be counted to throw the whole weight of their influence into the scales for the advancement of wise and progressive measures, tempered by a practical sense of proportion, not only on behalf of the nations who have suffered such unbelievable distress and starvation. Where the interest of all women meet on a common ground, great advantages to humanity may arise from a common effort on the part of all and who is able to give better leadership than the National Council of Women?" Mrs. J. B. Mackenzie gave a synopsis of one chapter of Richard Livingstone's book on "Education." Plans were made for the fall meetings the next of which will be held on October 18th.

Nature Unspoiled

"THE MOOSE"

Based upon a picture painted for Carling's by C. H. Sinclair

This is one of a series of illustrations on the subject of the Conservation of Canada's natural assets designed to emphasize the fact that the beauty of unspoiled nature that we enjoy today are a precious birthright which we must protect for tomorrow.

"Give Him a Sporting Chance"

Wily, courageous, resourceful, the Canadian moose asks of mankind only a sporting chance of survival. In the vast forests which are his home, he is king—able to overcome most of the dangers that beset the creatures of the wild.

His sharp hooves and antlers are a match for predatory wolves his thick coat and mighty frame equal to the hardest winter his skill, speed and endurance are such that he can be expected to survive even the high-powered rifle of the huntsman providing that the hunting is carried on according to the reasonable and just laws of conservation

Things that he cannot survive are indiscriminate hunting, the destruction of his feeding grounds by fire, and the disturbance of the "natural balance" by which Nature protects all wild-life. The destruction of beaver causes marshes to be drained and the moose are deprived of their best feeding grounds. The destruction of smaller game will cause wolves to turn in ravenous packs upon deer and moose. Thus we see how conservation protects not one, but all wild creatures.

We all have a vital interest in the conservation of our wealth of wild-life and natural resources, for these are part of a heritage in which we all share. The preservation of that heritage demands, from each one of us, a thorough understanding of the needs and methods of conservation, and this realization prompted the forming of The Carling Conservation Club.
