16 or 60—You

Can Groom Hair Well

Whether you are 16 or 60, you can have well-groomed hair. Keep it clean and well-brushed. For a shampoo, simmer one-eighth of a cake of soap in one pint of hot water until the soap is dissolved. Add one teaspoonful of borax and one tablespoonful of alcohol.

If you have to use hard water to wash your hair, try a rinse of lemon juice or vinegar; that helps to remove the soap curd formed by hard water. Lemon is also a mild bleach. Use the juice of one-half lemon or two tablespoonfuls of vinegar in one quart of water. Follow this with a clear rinse.

One of the first steps to overcome the dullness of hair is to brush it. Brushing stimulates the glands of the scalp and makes the hair shine. Do not brush the hair flatly to the head, but rather up and out. Bend from the hips and brush the hair from the nape of the neck forward. Then separate the hair into small strands and brush away from the scalp. Wipe the brush on a towel after each strand is brushed. To remove excessive oil from the hair, dip a piece of loosely woven cheese cloth in alcohol. Pull the cloth tightly over the brush. Let the bristles push through the tresses. Divide the hair into small strands and brush it thoroughly. Rinse the cloth in alcohol often.

Matching Materials

Important in Remodeling

Remodeling always involves the problem of combining colors which go well together. Safe combinations lie in the use of neutrals, with soft greyed tones; for example, a rich warm dark brown may be used with a soft greyed light blue, or brown with beige, or grey with a soft yellow like winter butter. Then be sure the color combinations are becoming to you. Remember that the larger areas are usually more becoming when soft greyed tones are used.

Textures of materials in combinations are important considerations too. Be careful that these textures have qualities in common—similarity in weight, in texture or in "feel"—unless it may be desirable to use a texture entirely for its contrast value, such as a dull crepe with satin or faille.

Be sure the colors fit in with the general scheme that has been previously planned. One of the color principles that might be emphasized for best results in an economical wardrobe is that of keeping our background clothing—suits, coats, basic dresses—within the more somber color path. Then add accents to these with brighter touches of color.

Busy Seabees

Navy construction battalions (Seabees), landing with the troops on every liberation front, have built airstrips of crushed coral or of waffle-iron-on-sand on scores of islands of the western Pacific. They have set up portable sawmills and cut millions of feet of lumber which they used to build huts, mess halls and offices. They have repaired harbor installations, notably at Cherbourg, Brest and Le Havre; built supply roads and bridges; salvaged landing boats and equipment—all under combat conditions. The Seabees shared with Britain's Royal Engineers the task of towing caissons and pier equipment prefabricated in England across the channel to the Normandy coast behind the invasion troops and erecting two harbors with breakwaters, enclosing a water area larger than that of Britain's channel port of Dover. Although extremely rough weather wrecked one port as it neared completion, the other played its full part in the big invasion supply system.

Found Relief

It was by accident that in the search for food many of the old remedies for the relief of pain, for stimulation and hypnosis were discovered. The poppy of Asia Minor contributed the opium for the alleviation of pain; and morphine, one of its constituents, even today is held in high repute as an indispensable analgesic in medical practice. According to legend the use of the extract of the coffee bean as a stimulant was the result of the observation of Arabian goatherds that goats which had eaten the berries of the coffee plant continued to be active over long periods of time. History does not record the number of victims who suffered and sometimes died in their search for knowledge and its proper utilization for the benefit of mankind. That their number is legion there can be no doubt.

Meat Alternate

A valuable meat alternate is cottage cheese, which at present requires no points. Cottage cheese is not only an important protein food, which may be used as a meat alternate, but it has an excellent value in various minerals and vitamins. Since it is easily digested, it may be used in the meals of young children, older people, and convalescents, as well as of others. Advantages of cottage cheese are its bland flavor, the fact that it combines well with many different foods and seasonings, and that it is quick and easy to use in a wide variety of hot and cold dishes from first courses to dessert.

TRINITY COLLEGE

PROVOST HERE FOR

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

The 94th anniversary of the establishment of St. George's Church of England was marked last Sunday. Rev. R. S. K. Bealey, D.D., provost of Trinity College, Toronto was special speaker in the morning and based his remarks on Christian Discipline. He particularly stressed regular church attendance as something to be aimed at and urged church people to take an active part in the service through song and prayer and not leave it to the minister and choir. Some people, he said, seemed content to consider the service as a combination lecture and musical program and overlook the deeper significance of worshipping together.

At the morning service, the Junior Choir sang a hymn under the direction of Mrs. L. E. Dawson, of the Glen. Mr. Thos. Warnes was soloist in the morning and Mr. Jack Thompson in the evening for special anthems. The anniversary was also marked by the first use of the new oil heating system just installed.

REV. FORBES THOMPSON
LEAVES ACTON FOR HAMILTON

Minister at Knox Presbyterian Church, Acton for the past four years, Rev. Forbes Thompson left for a new pastorate in Hamilton last week. As a token of community esteem, evening services in the Baptist, United, Anglican churches were withdrawn and the congregations attended Knox Church to hear Mr. Thompson give his farewell sermon. A congregational gathering was also held in the church during the week when Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were presented with a purse and a silver tray as gifts from the congregation.
