

ALL IN HER DAY'S WORK

Here is Claire Wallace, popular commentator, pictured in the reference library at CBC's Toronto studios just before going on the air for one of her recent "They Tell Me" broadcasts. Miss Wallace, who must spend much of her time in painstaking research on behalf of her listeners, has here apparently found what she went after—judging from her smile. She is heard Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, CBC Trans-Canada network, at 1.45 p.m. EST.

One of us

THE COOK WHO FEEDS MILLIONS OF CANADIANS

Yes, he's an important man in our industry. Hundreds of thousands of our woods workers have heard the bang of his spoon on the frying pan and his welcome "come and get it".

His name? Well, it might be MacNair or Jolicoeur or Karowski — it's not important. What is important is that his "come and get it" echoes, not merely in our logging camps throughout the country, but in the household of every Canadian.

Why? Because his work — our work — produces expenditures of $300 million yearly by our industry. These benefit every worker in Canada. Amongst all Canadian manufacturers, pulp and paper stands first in employment, first in expenditures, first in exports, and first in net value of production. Thus our industry is the greatest single factor in Canada's prosperity.

Every Canadian has a stake in the success of our work.
