Honor Discoverer of Marquis Wheat

The bust shown in this photograph of the late Sir Charles Saunders, Dominion Cerealist from 1903 to 1923 was recently unveiled in the William Saunders Building, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. The late Sir Charles was the son of Dr. William Saunders, first Director of the Dominion Experimental Farms. Most of the work that resulted in the discovery of the world famous Marquis wheat was done at the Experimental Farm at Ottawa. The unveiling was performed by Dr. L. H. Newman (left), present Dominion Cerealist, who succeeded Sir Charles Saunders to the position. Those shown in this photograph besides Dr. Newman are Lionel Fosbery, who made the bust, and Dr. E. S. Archibald, present Director, Dominion Experimental Farms.

Famous Lady Boats Returning to Peacetime Service

When the Lady Rodney docked at Halifax recently with nearly 200 Canadian servicemen's wives and children from overseas, she brought to a close more than four-and-a-half years' war service. The Lady Rodney was immediately turned back to the Canadian National Steamships by the Department of National Defence.

Taken over by the government in June, 1942, the former C.N.S. peacetime luxury cruiser to the West Indies became a troop transport. Since that time she has travelled almost 170,000 miles between Canada, Newfoundland and Labrador and the United Kingdom and in several trips between England, Rotterdam and Antwerp carrying servicemen overseas and after VE-Day in repatriation service. Much of it was logged when German submarines were desperately trying to choke off the flow of men and munitions going overseas. The Lady Rodney carried almost 67,000 persons in this service. Except for approximately 2,000 dependents, all were servicemen.

The Lady Rodney is the last vessel to be returned to the Canadian National Steamships. Two weeks earlier, the Lady Nelson, former flagship and only other survivor of the famous Lady boat fleet, was also turned back to the company. In March, 1942, while in the C.N.S. West Indies service, she was torpedoed and badly damaged in the port of Castries, St. Lucia. Returned to service as Canada's first hospital ship in April, 1943, just before the Canadian forces went into action in Sicily, she has since sailed 231,583 miles between Canada, England and other European ports. She carried 23,580 persons, who with the exception of about 1,000 dependents, were sick and wounded servicemen.

The Lady Rodney went directly into drydock for reconversion to carry passenger and freight traffic. When work on the two ships is completed in late February or early March, 1947, they will return to the West Indies run. Sailing from Halifax almost every three weeks, their ports of call will be

Boston, Bermuda, Leeward Islands, Windward Islands, Barbados, Trinidad and Demerara, returning via Saint John, N.B.

In the top photograph the Lady Rodney is shown steaming into the port of Halifax on the last mile of her long war service. On behalf of a large group of Dutch war brides on board the Lady Rodney on her final run, Mrs. M. Hagen, en route to Winnipeg to join her husband, is shown in the lower picture, presenting Captain Anselof LeBlanc, O.B.E., master of the ship, with a framed picture of a Dutch girl in expression of the hospitality shown them.
