The Mixing Bowl

by ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! After collecting everything required for a picnic and after an hour in the country, people "build up" appetites as ravenous as though they had been digging in the garden all day. Whether or not this is partly a matter of imagination, the fact remains that picnickers look forward to being fed. The good homemaker remembers to bring along satisfying picnic dishes and all the requisite utensils.

If there are cooking facilities at the picnic grounds, plan to serve a hamburger surprise. Holiday Hamburgers; the peppery flavour will please everyone. Fresh fruit with a cup of steeped coffee will complete the meal. However, any sunny day can be a "picnic" if you have supper on the porch, or in the backyard, or the park. Make a combination salad, butter hot tea biscuits and take covered berry tarts along with the thermos filled with chilled fruit juices.

We maintain that a simple but ample lunch eliminates fuss and bother. The items that are frequently overlooked are salt and pepper shakers; we sometimes forget to take off the caps, stick in a bit of wax paper and screw tops on tightly to prevent spilling.

BERRY TURNOVERS

Cut circles of puff or flaky paste three inches in diameter, having the paste more than one-eighth of an inch thick. Moisten half the edge of the circle with cold water and in the center lay a teaspoon of thick raspberry jam. Fold one-half of the circle over the other, making edges meet. Press closely and mark with a fork dipped in flour. Brush with beaten egg, prick the top with a fork and chill before placing in the oven. Bake in electric oven for 15 mins. at 450 degs. F. (Other fruit may be used in the same way).

TAKE A TIP

1. Dip graham wafers in thick chocolate syrup. Stack 4 together on individual plates and keep in electric refrigerator until serving time. Top with whipped cream tinted pink and sliced bananas.
2. Cheddar cheese will not harden if it is kept in a cloth dampened with

- Leftover sponge cake may be sliced and toasted on the broiling element. Top with berries folded into a syrup.
- Use orange juice in place of water and 2 teaspoons orange rind for special pastry. This pastry is wonderful for rhubarb and berry pies.
- With a small amount of berries on hand you can make tart shells and fill with a caramel custard into which you can fold the berries. In an emergency this dessert will be very helpful.
- Add a teaspoon of lemon juice to simple syrup and pour on fruit instead of cream.
- Grated cheese, coconut and rolled prepared cereals are good for topping fruit pies. This really saves time and shortening.

"FOREST FIRE" after a painting by J. M. Hanes

All through the summer, Canada's fire-fighters wage a continual, tedious war against the forest fire destroyer of priceless timber and wildlife, transforming beautiful recreational areas into charred, forbidding wastelands. Far more effective than the fire-fighter in preserving our forest wealth is the vacationer who prevents forest fires by observing the few simple rules of fire prevention.

"With a crop that takes so long to mature, it is important that it be not injured or destroyed by fire. A large proportion of our Canadian forests are softwood or coniferous forests which are particularly susceptible to destruction by fire."

An excerpt from—CONSERVATION and FOREST FIRE PREVENTION IN CANADA by James Ruxton, one in a series of pamphlets published by The Carling Conservation Club.

THE CAMPER—a Conservationist

Campers can do more than any other group to prevent forest fires. Care in the selection of the site for a camp fire and keeping it under control until it is extinguished is the most important responsibility of the camper.
