ODDITIES IN THE GARDEN

This is the time of year when gardeners have their innings after months of cultivating, and can sit back and see the fruits of their spring and early summer labour. It is the time, too, when you hear frequent boasts about the biggest, the heaviest, the most, the thickest, et al. . . . and then we have the oddities which always crop up to make things really interesting. A little of all was contained in the bunch of tomatoes brought to the office this week by Reg. Williams of the Glen, whose garden is always fruitful. There was a group of fourteen well-developed tomatoes on the one stock, with a total weight of five pounds. Ripening quickly as they did in the heat of the show-window, they weren't allowed to go to waste and made a tasty addition to the editor's supper table on Friday.

Reg. already has a challenger, for Mrs. W. H. Taylor on King Street says that one plant in her garden produced 31 tomatoes, which is also something of a record in itself. (Anotypist's note—In view of the above, might say that Edgar Ostrander and yours truly intend proving who can grow the best asters by displaying them at the Fair in open competition with the world. And speaking of oddities, maybe you have oddities in the vegetable, fruit or flower line in your garden. For displaying these at the Fall Fair on Sept. 12-13 we will give a $2.00 prize for the best in the opinion of the judge. There will be no entry fee attached for this special.)

Teen Town Weiner Roast Held at the Hall

Because of inclement weather, a weiner roast planned for last Friday night by the Teen Towners had to be held in the Hall. Some 135 members of the Georgetown Hi-Crowd attended and after downing generous quantities of hot dogs, danced to the recording machine, with Charlie Dickson and Lorne McBride officiating at the mike for lucky spot dances. It was announced that the first fall dance would be held on September 25th, with a special prize offered to the young man wearing the most striking flash tie and suit.
