Area Convention W. I.
Held at O.A.C., Guelph

done in factories. A busy country-woman should have time to do something she liked and suggested her taking up handicrafts.

Mrs. Ford Sudden obliged with one of her much enjoyed readings: "Mrs. Brown Drives."

In the absence of Mrs. Hugh Summers provincial president who is attending a conference at Amsterdam, Mrs. E. A. Duke represented the Federated W.I. of Ontario. She stated a few facts: the marked increase in membership was partly due to Red Cross and other war working groups forming W.I. branches rather than disbanding when their original work ended; that each branch should fulfill financial obligations by sending to the secretary 5¢ per member for Fed. W. I. of Canada, 1¢ per member for Associated Countrywomen of the World and 15¢ per member for our Prov. federation; still more donations are needed for the Adelaide Hoodless Memorial Fund to establish a scholarship for a deserving girl at McDonald Institute, Guelph; a booklet commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the W. I. will be published at a set price.

In her address to follow, Mrs. Duke said that the theme also meant home security, and went on to define it in religion, education, financial security, municipal security, security in love. She said that rural communities are more stable than urban. Parents develop a sense of inner security in their children by letting them rely on their own ability somewhat, by giving them a job to do and seeing that they do it, by letting them have a little daring in work or in play, and add a little praise once in a while too.

Decorations in the dining hall for the banquet on Thursday evening followed the W.I. colour scheme of cornflower blue and gold and the head table was centred by a three-tier fiftieth anniversary cake in the same colour of icing. Over four hundred attending the banquet toasted the King at the signal from Mrs. J. H. Speir, chairman for the evening.

President of O.A.C., Mr. W. R. Reek, welcomed the guests and invited them back for further conventions. He said that theirs was a work to be proud of in hard times or otherwise.

Miss Celia Synott, vice-chairman of the area responded to the address of welcome. Mrs. J. R. White of Ripley proposed a toast to our past chairmen of the area.

Since it is but a few years since this area was re-organized from parts of Toronto and London areas there are but three past chairmen: Mrs. Crozier of Wauerton, Mrs. P. Merry of Hornby and Mrs. J. H. Speir of Brussels. Each responded to the toast, Mrs. Crozier briefly outlining her reasons for organizing this area and a few highlights of its doings since.

Entertainers for the evening included accordion numbers by Mr. Antonelli of Guelph and Messrs. R. B. McMurdo and W. J. McPayden of Galt with Scotch songs and piano. Mr. McPayden took the audience for a world trip with his folk songs of different lands, while Mr. McMurdo was recalled again and again.

The special speaker for the evening was Hon. Russell T. Kelley, Minister of Health for Ontario, who amid his numerous jokes, paid tribute to Britain in the last war and asked all to contribute to another relief shipment for her in the near future. She deserved all and more than the nearly $100,000,000 worth collected in the last shipment. He stated that the farm youth are the hope of that occupation. He called on them to do a better job than their ancestors who kept boarder cows and left the farm implements in the orchard from year to year.

The speaker then went on to his own subject, health. He did not advise closing small hospitals in preference for the large urban ones. He claimed that the smaller hospitals close to those needing them can take care of eighty per cent of all illnesses. He said that $18,500,000 of the budget is set aside for health with many more thousands being spent through illness. He then outlined eight points for keeping well: diet, posture, rest, do not overeat, medical check ups while well, regular care of teeth, care of eyes and most important, be cheerful. Mr. Kelley closed his talk with the reciting of "The Lifters and the Learners."

Mrs. Speir voted a toast to Mrs. Ford Sudden, retiring secretary, who was responsible for the banquet arrangements and table settings.

Friday morning session presided over by Miss Celia Synott of Rockwood opened at 9:00 a.m. with the singing of the Institute Ode.

The chief speaker on Friday was Miss Irene H. McBride of the W. I. Branch, Toronto, who addressed the convention on Family Relations. She again said the hope of stabilization rested on the rural communities since cities were ever changing. In these rural districts forty per cent of Ontario's population are found. She stated that anything unused for long is lost and if we do not shoulder our responsibilities our chance to do so will be lost too. She quoted from an article by Prof. Morgan who said: "The rural communities are the best place to bring up the next generation."

Only one resolution was read and the original mover from Mill Creek Women's Institute, Mrs. T. D. Cowan, of Galt spoke on its behalf. The resolution which had already been forwarded to the Attorney General was accepted as read by the Guelph Convention area. It is as follows: "Whereas a manslaughter trial for the death of an infant has been in the courts of our province at a regrettable late date, the members of Millcreek W. I. urge the Attorney-General to take immediate steps to (1) Establish a centre for the training of police women. (2) Inaugurate legislation requiring municipalities in which there are women's beverage rooms and cocktail lounges to maintain as part of their regular forces a number of trained policewomen. The number to bear definite relationship to the number of women's beverage rooms and cocktail lounges within the municipality.

A debate "Resolved: That the parents of the past generation did more to prevent juvenile delinquency than the parents of today" was judged closely contested, but by factual figures in favour of the affirmative by Dr. Reaman and Mrs. (Prof.) Moffatt, both of O.A.C. In announcing the judge's decision Dr. Reaman stated that it was a vital problem interestingly presented. The affirmative was upheld by Mesdames C. D. Fogarty and Francis Kreeger of Galt, and the negative by Mesdames E. H. Marston of Elora and Mrs. Lorne Guild of Rockwood.

Mrs. Duke presided for the reading of questions in the bag provided. She ably cleared up some problems asked in that way.

"There'll Always Be An England" was sung in honour of a visitor from Sussex and an English war bride now living at Purple Valley near Winton.

Mrs. Robert Fowler of Moorfield in her report of the courtesy committee thanked the staff at O.A.C. including their dining hall help, the officers and executive of the area and all others who contributed to the success of the convention.

The election of officers for 1947-48 was conducted by Miss Irene McBride. It was noteworthy that the names selected by the nominating committee were all accepted and elected by acclamation.
