In answer to our query last week about long-term Herald subscribers, Mrs. Harry Lawson, R.R. 2, reports that she has been a subscriber since 1910. A few years short of Thos. E. Lyons 56-year record with the Brampton Conservator, but a good record nevertheless.

Here's an early bird. Bob Cain, Tom Sykes and Harold McMenamy saw a crow near the Glen on Monday afternoon, which is an all-time record for this harbinger of spring.

time with two wins and no losses in the league standing.

Both teams were very evenly matched and both teams showed lack of team play, which is to be expected in the first couple of games. However, as times goes on and their brand of play develops, the local club should round out a very smart team, and one of which the hockey fans will no doubt be proud.

Milton took the initiative in the first period and outplayed the Perimeter makers with more shots on the home citadel and only the sterling efforts of Rhodes in the net kept the visitors off the score sheet. The teams drew equal penalties for roughing, tripping and interference. While the Milton players warmed around the Georgetown net, Kent Storey grabbed a loose puck and scored on a breakaway at 19:25 to give the locals the edge going into the second period.

The second period the home team showed more superiority, and added another counter to their already lone tally and gave the Milton players plenty to do to keep the score down. The period had only nicely started when Leigh Bradbury nicked the corner on a pass from Bertwistle. Both goalkeepers turned in good efforts in this period.

The Milton team outscored the home team in the final period 2-1, with Stott getting both goals for Milton and Hal Gibson scoring for Georgetown. Gibson scored at the half-way mark and Stott netted his second goal at 19:54, when many of the large crowd had already left the arena believing the local team had won 3-1.

Georgetown's three stars were: first, Rhodes, for an outstanding game in the nets; second to Hal Gibson for a fine game all round, especially his forward attacks; third to Leigh Bradbury, who played a steady game all the way and made many fine attacks on the Milton net. For Milton — the goalie Lever, made the first star here, with Linton and Stott earning the other two stars on some nice steady playing and during rushes.

Another one of these Intermediate 'A' fixtures will take place at the Arena here on Friday night when Orangeville will visit the local club.

Georgetown — Goal, Rhodes; defence, Patterson and Binsell; centre, Leigh Bradbury; wings, Gibson, Storey, J. Kemshead and Ferri; alternates, Nash, Martin, Bertwistle, M. Bradbury, A. Kemshead.

Bridesmaid at Toronto Hungarian Wedding

Miss Joan De Vries was bridesmaid at an interesting wedding in Toronto on Saturday when Martha Brautigan and Leslie George Varga were married at St. Elizabeth's Hungarian Church. A banquet and dance followed in the Toronto Hungarian Hall where many customs of the homeland were observed including the auctioning of the bride's gipper and the bride's dance at which the male guests pay for the honour of a special dance with the bride.

Mrs. A. Grace was the victim of an unfortunate accident last week. On Tuesday evening she attended the Week of Prayer service in the United Church and fell on the steps while coming out of the church, receiving a broken hip. She is convalescing in Guelph General Hospital. Mrs. Grace had returned to town only a few months ago after making her home at Terra Cotta for the past few years.
