Leaside are Central Ontario Midget Champs

WIN IN 7-TEAM TOURNAMENT HERE SATURDAY—BRAMPTON ELIMINATES GEORGETOWN 3-1

It was the midgets day to shine at Georgetown Memorial Arena last Saturday when the second of a series of minor hockey matches was played for the central Ontario Zone championship. On the previous Saturday, Brampton had won the bantam championship and this time it was Leaside who came out on top, beating Barrie and Gord-Alton Westons to take the honours. The Georgetown entry was downed 3-1 by Brampton early in the day, and played a consolation game later in the day with Toronto Township, losing 1-0 to the victors.

Both Saturday programs were arranged by the Georgetown Recreational Council, in cooperation with Recreation directors of the municipalities concerned. It is hoped this summer to arrange similar events in baseball, with Weston possibly being the meeting centre.

Forty Years With Bell

A former repairman and installer who has been with the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada for nearly 40 years has been placed in charge of labour relations for that company and appointed an assistant vice-president. He is Alexander Mackenzie Mackenzie and he will represent J. H. Grace, O.B.E., vice-president in charge of personnel and public relations, on all matters related to wage surveys, current wages and working conditions and collective bargaining.

Mackenzie was born in Guelph. His father was a public accountant in that city, and a Scotsman as the name might suggest. The son was educated at the public and high schools and in 1908 joined the Bell company as a repairman and installer.

In 1910, he entered the University of Toronto, to study engineering, working at his telephone job during the summer vacations. He graduated in 1914, and was soon after appointed plant wire chief with the Bell at Guelph.

With an interruption in 1917-1918 when he served as a lieutenant in the Signal Corps, Mackenzie has been with the engineering and plant departments from that time until his recent transfer. In 1930 he became general plant supervisor Montreal; in 1940 general employment and safety supervisor and in 1946 general plant personnel supervisor.

One of Mackenzie's achievements in the latter position was helping to guide relations with the plant employees during the stage when their association was developing into a fully fledged union, with its own salaries officers. "Our long record of good relations stood us in good stead at that time," Mackenzie said. He is proud of the fact that relations are as good now as they were before the association was re-organized.

One of the most important aspects of plant work in the Bell company or elsewhere — is safety, and much of Mackenzie's work has been concerned with this problem. As a result, he became keenly interested in the St. John Ambulance organization in which he is a member of the Ambulance Committee, Ottawa. Last June he was invested an Officer of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem by Lord Alexander at Rideau Hall. The award was made for wartime services in organizing first aid training.

Training has played another important part in Mackenzie's career. He was, for some years, in charge of craft and supervisory training courses, and, in addition to training men for special signals duties, including a detachment for the Alcan Highway in the services during the recent war, he was largely concerned with the program for rapid training or retraining of ex-servicemen for company positions after the war's end.

Mackenzie's main hobbies are Boy Scout work — he is District Commissioner for the central district of Montreal in the Scout organization — and golf. He used to play frequently at Summerlea, but in recent years his golfing had been largely confined to vacations at Tadoussac, Que., where he and his wife, (the former Mildred Barker) of Guelph and Georgetown, have spent their holidays for many years.

Self-control in men is the basis for self-government in nations.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Vic and Jo

There is absolutely nothing to report in the school routine. The exams are over and we are busy recovering. By the end of this week all the papers with the marks (if any) will be returned. There are plenty of failures to go around and because of this there is a rumour that the lower forms may have to write their June exams to keep them in practice.

The (whole) school has settled down into its continuous rut. We are not sure but there was mention of a school dance to be held very shortly. Maybe this week of it, who knows?

We know it's a bit early in the year but we are going to give you one coin, fresh off the cob (besides, we have to fill up a little space).

Doug Latimer (our esteemed scientist) "I can tell you to the quart how much water goes over Niagara Falls."

Miss Wilson: "How much?"
Doug L.: "Why, too pints."

Mr. Lambert: (in English Lit.) "Tomorrow we shall take the life of Shakespeare. Please come prepared."

Here is a couple of all purpose jokes (using the term loosely) that we will throw in for good measure. Two little kittens were watching a tennis game very closely, when an old cat walked up and asked the two little kittens why they were watching the game with such interest. (Get this now, it's kinda sly) The kittens shook their little heads sadly and replied, "Mother's in that racket."
