Chatting ... With Ann

Wakened early Saturday morning with the feeling it was good to be alive, and prepared for a busy day. Our first call took us to Wildwood to the home of Brigadier and Mrs. Girvan. Here, we found Mrs. Girvan charmingly informal, and kind enough to tell us about their recent trip to New York. Going by plane, they report a wonderful trip, staying at the New Yorker and seeing as much that was interesting of the city as possible. Had a look at the beautiful sterling tea service in shell pattern, which was presented to Brigadier and Mrs. Girvan, upon his retirement as head postmaster for the city of Toronto.

Driving along the Glen road, we saw Darrell Dawson happily busy in her garden. Darrell's sparkling happiness reminded us of that old caption—she's lovely!—she's engaged! The lucky man? Phil Howard. Stayed to chat with Mrs. Dawson, and admire her latest pride and joy, which was nineteen little ducklings. Hurrying back to town, we dropped in at the Creamery for a pound of our favourite butter, and heard the Saxe family were planning a get-together in honour of Father's Day at the Great China Restaurant on the Queen Elizabeth Way. An interesting feature of the occasion is the celebration of two birthday anniversaries, Ethel Bridger and Milton Fleishman, husband of the former Leona Saxe. Had a look at the locker storage plant which Mr. Saxe guarantees would freeze an Eskimo. After spending about three minutes in there, we were quite in agreement with him.

Dropped in at the bank, and found the staff with complacent looks on their faces. Seems that Don Rand had had a birthday anniversary the day before, and had received a delicious birthday cake from his mother. Missed Spence and Eleanor who are honeymooning this week. Here was Marg Hoare furiously counting cash, and muttering between the thousands "I must do the 12.09" and so we have Fred Helson week-ending with the Hoares.

Continued on our way up Main Street to Lorne Peters. The Peters have as week-end guests Mr. and Mrs. S. Webber of Calgary. They were planning to see the Aqua Parade of 1948, and travel in comfort and style in that smart 1949 Monarch.

Found Mrs. Ken Langdon admiring her own garden, and who can blame here, and entertaining Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Langdon of Timmins.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Orr had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Adam Orr of Hamilton, Mr. Allan Orr, and Miss Norma Neal. Just had to stop a moment to take in the beauty of the lawns and gardens.

Next stop took us down town, where we stopped to chat with gentle Jim Taylor, and enquire, if when and where he planned to spend his holidays. "I have no time for holidays," said he. "I am here to sell machinery." He wasn't fooling. Before we left, weren't too sure whether we had bought a Massey Harris Combine or not.

Thought we had better have a look to see what 'Reta' was planning for the week-end, and found her literally up to her neck in strawberries. Teaching a tentative hand for a luscious looking berry, we were informed those berries were for sundae and not for us. Reta has turned the old Inn, with a little help from Win. Vettege, into a modern tea-room, and, in her own inimitable way, looks after everyone.

Happy to find Nora Tuck and Norma Chapman home from hospital and convalescing after recent illnesses.

Mrs. Armann, Karen and Marsha week-ending with Mr. and Mrs. W. Schielke of Kitchener.

Al and Helen Zeravely busy with their new house. With Mr. Porter coming from Toronto to help with the finishing touches, Al hopes to move in, in August. It looks like a nice house, Al.

Asked our good friends Marshall and Zella Timbers what they were planning for week-end recreation, and Marshall, with a piece of toast in one hand, and a pen in the other said he had no time for recreation. He was a busy man, so we left, before we committed ourselves to any more insurance.

Was Freight and Mail Trucker Here

William John Hall, youngest son and last remaining member of the family of the late Christopher and Sarah Hall died in Peel Memorial Hospital, Brampton, on Saturday, June 12th. He had always enjoyed good health and never knew what it was to be laid up until stricken with pneumonia two weeks before his death.

Born at Hornby in 1870, he spent his early boyhood in that part of the country. He lived his entire life in and around Georgetown with the exception of a few years spent in Orangeville, Toronto and Guelph. While in Georgetown he drove the mail and freight to and from the station. Of late years he has been gardener at Scotsdale Farm on the 7th Line. Of a quiet disposition, he made many friends by his acts of kindness.

He was predeceased eighteen years ago by his wife, the former Maggie Wallace, whom he married forty-five years ago. Surviving to mourn the loss of a loving uncle are a number of nieces and nephews.

Rev. John Anderson of Knox Presbyterian Church, Acton, conducted the funeral services on June 15th from the Johnstone and Rummel Funeral Home in Acton. Pallbearers were old friends and neighbours, Harding Price, Jack Cole, Frank Smith, Andrew Mino, William Beavers and Bernard Miller. Honorary pallbearers were Morris Baker and Alex Mitchell. Flower bearers were great-nephews, Ken, Lloyd, Gordon and Lorne Hall. Friends attended the funeral from Guelph, Toronto, Teeswater, Windsor, Kitchener, Arthur, Hornby, Burlington and Brimpton. Interment was in Greenwood Cemetery, Georgetown.

Floral tributes were received from: the Gordon family and Alonzo, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Thornton and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robjohn Hall, nieces and nephews, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. R. Licata, Mr. and Mrs. John Cole, the boys at Scotsdale Farm, Mrs. Gilmer and Bert, Mr. and Mrs. A. Norton, 7th Line neighbours.

Mackenzie News

Have you seen the Girl's baseball team in their new uniforms? No reason for the Georgetown boys to leave home, except to cheer the girls on.

Now is the hour for all sidewalk superintendents to get busy on their own private sewage systems. That won't be hard for the first few feet. Maybe you'll be able to borrow one of Scott Jack-on's machines. We have on hand a supply of 4" tile and 6" reducers just for this purpose. The tile are 40¢ per foot and the reducers $2.00 each.

Meet you at the Candy Table at the I.O.D.E. tent. It's Saturday afternoon on Mrs. Hewson's lawn on Main St. North.
