Navy League Week

Support the work of this good organization which among other things maintains clubs and hostels for navy men and sponsors National Youth Training program.

Cheques, made payable to the Navy League, may be sent to the local president, Clarence Bain. Official receipts are income tax exempt.

Hello Homemaker! Halloween—the night of frolic and fun. Mention it to dad and he will reminisce for hours telling of his bygone days. (It took several neighbours to get the buggy off the shed roof and the big gate out of the tree). Junior will be on the loose too, if you don't plan something for his crowd, and remember he is just a chip off the old block. It would be much cheaper to roll back indoors than pay for damage downtown.

It's best to prepare favorite inexpensive casual dishes which the young crowd enjoys. Hamburgers, wieners and rolls, coleslaw in orange shells, baked beans in custard cups, pickles, gingerbread or doughnuts and malted milk shakes, or sweet apple cider, are good suggestions.

If it's a buffet supper for teenagers, a hot casserole of creamed chicken or salmon, a Halloween salad, relish tray of carrot curls, celery, pickles, pumpkin tarts and hot coffee will set everybody singing your praises.

A pumpkin Jack O'Lantern with lighted candles within and a frill of black crepe paper as a dolly makes an easy centre. Or you may create a festive scene on the buffet if you have an assortment of squash, gourds, egg plant, apples and autumn leaves.

The old favorite pastime of bobbing for apples in a tub of water or trying to bite an elusive one swinging in a doorway, is a good game. Toast marshmallows or popcorn while the charades are in progress.

HALLOWEEN FRUIT CUP

Cut the top of orange like pumpkin shell in picket fashion; remove the pulp and cut into small pieces, reserving the juice. Combine orange with diced bananas, pieces of melon and sprinkle with fine sugar. Pile into orange shells and top with whipped cream.

SPICED CIDER

Stir 4 tbsps. brown sugar, 6 cloves, stick of cinnamon and 3 allspice into two quarts of sweet cider. Heat, then cool immediately and strain out the spice. Serve with warmed doughnuts.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. J. C. asks: Wax is loose around jars. What has caused this to happen?

Answer: Jam may have been stored in warm place. Or the jam jars may have been too hot when wax was put on. You may scrape off the surface; put on more melted paraffin and store in a cool place.

Mrs. T. B. asks:

CHICKEN BARBECUE SAUCE

2 green peppers, 1 red pepper, 4 small onions, 1 clove garlic, 1 cup salad oil, 3 cups tomatoes, 1 can tomato paste, 1 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. paprika, 1/2 tsp. marjoram, 1/2 tsp. celery salt. Trim the pepper, onions and garlic. Chop fine. Heat salad oil and cook in it the peppers, onions, and garlic until brown; then add remaining ingredients. Cook about 30 minutes.

Mrs. J. T. asks: Why do baked apples burst?

Answer: The oven should not be too hot—350 degrees for about 35 minutes. Variety makes a difference too. Use spies, kings, greenings and welfe.

Mrs. B. K. suggests: baking our gingerbread recipe in muffin tins to conserve electricity. Instead of 45 minutes at 375 degrees, bake 25 minutes at 375 degrees.

Mrs. T. L. asks: How to keep meringues light?

GEORGETOWN UNITED CHURCH

Mrs. Francis Thompson was the soloist at the Georgetown United Church on Sunday morning when she sang the solo "Come Unto Me" by Jessie Hilton Farrell. The lesson was read from 1 Cor., Chap. 13. Basing his remarks on the story of Zaccheus — Luke 19: 1-10, Rev. John M. Smith spoke on the subject "Monsters or Brothers?" The fog of sin, he said so distorts men in one another's eyes that they become monsters. It is only when sin is removed from our lives that we can see each other as men holding the potentialities of brotherhood under the Divine Fatherhood, he stated.

The evening service was opened with the singing of several well known hymns. Mr. Albert Tost accompanied by Miss Lynda Stewart sang the solo "The Blind Plowman". Pictures were shown depicting something of the Home Mission work of the United Church of Canada, especially emphasizing services rendered to the New Canadians and Indians.

A new addition to the local church services was inaugurated this week when a "Tower Music System" was installed. We heard something of its possibilities on Saturday night and Sunday when the chimes rang forth the melodies of some of the familiar hymns. It was announced that special services will be held next Sunday in celebration of the 100th Anniversary. The Rev. Newman J. Truax, B.A., of Carlisle, whose father was a minister of the church from 1915 to 1919, is to be the guest speaker at both services.

To print a department store's full-page advertisement for a perfume, an Oklahoma newspaper scented its ink.

Answer: Beat 2 egg whites until frothy; add 1/2 tsp. cream of tartar and beat until whites stand up in a point as you lift out the beater. Gradually fold and sprinkle in two tbsps. of fine sugar.

GORDON ALCOTT

as written in Andy Lytle's column in the Toronto Daily Star, October 22nd, 1948)

It is ten years since a young man came in to get an autograph for a small girl who gathers such abracadabra. At that time he was organizing what he called a "midget N.H.L." in Georgetown.

He went from there to Copper Cliff where he did similar work with boys for International Nickel. For several years, he put an average of 125 boys through his routine which features hockey but stresses good behaviour, scholarships and citizenship as the primary objectives.

When he went to Copper Cliff, there was little sociability among the polyglot nationals in that lusty centre. Boys were given to stoning each other in assorted gangs. Before he left, these lads were chumming without regard to race. The record shows that one out of four of the boys are now engaged in university study.

After leaving Copper Cliff, the young man whose mission in life is helping youth to become better citizens tomorrow, did similar work in Wexon. From there Guelph was summoning him at a higher salary when a captain of industry called and said Weston couldn't afford to lose him. He was offered and accepted physical direction for the firm at the salary Guelph was willing to pay him and the hint that a $5,000 a year job is just around the corner.

This young man is Gordon Alcott and I am acquainted with few Canadians who are doing more, or with greater consistency, for the country's boys. Not long ago he received a letter from a Copper-cliffian. "Do you remember," he wrote "when I joined your outfit? I was ten and swearing when you came in and told me that wasn't permitted. If I wished to stay with the team I'd have to be a good citizen."

"I haven't used profanity since. I am now in my third season of hockey in Scotland. Very soon, too, I'll have a $20,000 nest egg. I attribute it all to your good influence on my verdant mind." Alcott has repeatedly refused to let professional agents scout his boy teams. "Hockey," says he, "is simply a means to an end and our end is better citizenship. If a boy, after he leaves us, wishes to play professional hockey, it's all right. We won't discourage him and we won't urge it."

He's a peculiar genius this Alcott, for he says I inspired him when I scribbled on the little girl's paper: "Watch this Alcott, he's going places with an idea."

LORNE HUNTER WEDS TORONTO GIRL

A very pretty wedding took place October 16th in Queen East Presbyterian Church, Toronto, when Barbara Joan Conlon, daughter of Mrs. Conlon and the late T. Albert Conlon, became the bride of Lorne Wesley Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kenneth Hunter, Georgetown when the service took place by candlelight and the church was decorated with baskets of white gladioli. Rev. W. Scott Duncan officiating. Given in marriage by her brother, Russell James Conlon, the bride wore white slipper satin with long tight sleeves, fitted bodice and net yoke. Her fingertip veil was held by a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a cascade of red roses. Maid of honour was Joy Dearlove in yellow moire with peplum extending to the floor at the back and wearing a matching mohair halo. She carried a cascade of pink roses. Bridesmaids, Shirley Nicholson and Barbara Conlon, cousin of the bride, wore pale blue moire gowns fashioned on the same lines as the maid of honour and wearing matching halos. They carried cascades of yellow roses. Carol McLean, flower girl, was dressed in long flowered silk and carried a nosegay of pink roses. Her halo was of pink rosebuds. Thomas H. Ledwidge was best man and ushers were John Hunter and Vincent Magnus. The bride's mother received in cinnamon crepe with brown accessories and wearing a corsage of yellow roses and the groom's mother assisted in grey crepe with matching accessories and carrying a corsage of pink roses. During the signing of the register Margaret Stiffwell sang "Through the Years." After the reception at the Diet Kitchen Tea Rooms the couple left for a trip to London, the bride wearing a light blue gabardine suit with wine accessories and corsage of pink roses. After their trip the couple will reside in Georgetown.
