Appeal for Funds . . . Will You Help?

To meet the ever-increasing demands made upon it, the Order of St. John is conducting a nation-wide appeal for funds.

The Order serves all regardless of race, color or creed. It is dedicated to the service of humanity. St. John Ambulance workers are always available to provide trained first aiders at any public event or gathering in any community where large bodies are gathered together and where accidents are likely to happen. Your local brigade always appreciates being asked to give its service where possible. The prompt and proper application of first aid when accidents happen saves more serious complications and frequently life itself.

Prior to World War 2, public-spirited citizens donated to support the work, but the demands on the Order have increased to such an extent that a public appeal for support is necessary so that trained workers can continue to give their service voluntarily to this humanitarian work in relieving the suffering and pain of others.

By donating to this appeal you can have a great place in the work. Industry as well as individuals, has benefited in the blood group service done by the Brigade in the past year. This service means a saving of time, sometimes lives. In all, more than 120,000 persons have been grouped without cost to either themselves or their employers.

By donating liberally to this appeal you play your part in providing protection to the individual. Give freely that your trained first aiders may help save pain and suffering of our fellowmen.

Thanking you on behalf of Local Brigade No. 80.
