Chatting... With Anne

We are still talking about the weather. Whether it is good or not, it certainly was slippery on Monday.

We extend sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Webb of Painswick, Mrs. Webb was formerly, Lillie Wilson of Georgetown, and a bride of last summer. Mr. and Mrs. Webb's home and business was destroyed by fire. All of those lovely wedding gifts were lost.

"How come you never say anything about our corner of the town?" said Sam Walker the other day. The point is it never seems necessary. Judging by the traffic on a Saturday, Sam and the boys are kept pretty busy. It would be a good idea, in my opinion to get a few people like Sam Walker on the Recreational Council. In the old days when Sam was at the Arena, I think he had the confidence and respect of almost every youngster in town. Sam had a finger in almost every pie in town, and was, certainly well-liked by the youngsters.

Something else I would like to know. "Where is Tim Stacey these days?" With his ability to handle boys and the personality he has, he should be one of the men to help with Georgetown's recreation. These are the men we know sincerely like children, judging from past successes they have had. These are the type of men we know are good for our children's minds. It won't do a particle of good having someone look after the younger generation who would be interested solely in the financial end of it. There has to be a keen interest. The present committee is having a difficult time finding out just what the public wants to do about the situation. Anyone is free and welcome to call these people and express their opinion. Perhaps if this is done there will not be so much criticism afterward. What we should realize is that these people give of their time and talent to our children and we could show our appreciation by cooperating in any way we can. Ted MacCormack has given a lot of time to many organizations, not to mention the other members of the GRC who have worked hard to put recreation across.

Where is Bill Marshall? We all had a great deal of respect for him. These men are getting along in years, but we would like to see them come out and offer suggestions. They all had many years experience with youngsters.

It is a well known fact that Georgetown is practically a crime free town and the credit goes to its sportsmen. While the kiddies are watching a hockey game they are not getting into mischief.

Harold Hall has left for Sault Ste Marie where he plans to make his home.

Some of our recent newcomers say they find us an unsociable group of people. My own experience has been the opposite. I never seem to have a minute to myself. However it seems to them, so they say, that they aren't invited anywhere. The hand of friendship is always welcome. "Hold it out, Georgetown!" Let this be the spot where friendships flourish. And hate and jealousy abolish. I like you and you like me. Where everyone is so friendly.

THE MAIL BAG

Dear Editor:

I should like to comment on the meeting held by the Recreational Council in the Town Hall, Thursday, January the twentieth.

It was an interesting meeting, well organized, and, definitely enlightening.

While the attendance was gratifying, it is unfortunate all of Georgetown was not there, for it was clearly shown that a recreational programme in any community belongs to EVERY member of the community. Most of us have laboured under the delusion such a programme concerned only a few, incidentally placing these hapless few directly in the line of fire from our big guns of criticism.

The impression that a recreational programme is one vast playground or nursery, where Mom or Pop can dump Junior, is a false one indeed. The meeting showed us such a programme would necessitate a large staff of trained supervisors. This elaborate undertaking is not necessary in a town the size of Georgetown. The members of the town can handle a simple programme of sports and various activities if everyone, men, women and children pull together to make it a success. The meeting proved there are a lot of enthusiastic public spirited citizens who want to try.

Twenty five volunteers have formed a committee towards that goal. This is a good beginning, a healthy sign that given a chance every talented, interested member of this community wants, and will, have a hand in the formation and ultimate success of a venture which should prove beneficial to all.

Do you ever browse through the classified ads? Some of them make you wonder. The other night an ad offered $40 per year return on $100 investment. Think it over. Forty per cent interest means that the advertiser has found a vein of pure uranium in his cellar, or he must figure on at least 100 per cent profit on whatever he has to sell. Possibly he has just figured out a simple way to part people from their pile. Or did you notice the ad offering 'Pet Skunks' for sale? Can you imagine a local housewife taking per pet shopping on Main Street Saturday morning? Not long ago a classified offered 70,000 fig bars for sale. Sounds like a schoolboy's dream or somebody's white elephant. Anyway it's an awful lot of fig bars.

Here's a thought for the by-law makers and the local barbers, suggested by a lady with an eye to improving the well groomed look of the Georgetown male. Week days a lot of us are working until 5 o'clock. To drag our weary bodies to a barber chair and have our ears returned to view calls for a high grade of courage. But more than courage is needed to join the readers of 'Life in the Saturday Line' up for tonsorial attention. To open one barbershop each night until 10 o'clock, on a rotating schedule or whatever could be worked out among the operators, would give the town males a good excuse for an evening out and for the necessity improved hair-dos for the excusers. The barbershop bottlenecks on Saturday and the closing hour rush should be partially eliminated.

Saturday in town calls for a lot of meetings on the sidewalk. Two or three people in the center of the traffic make it pretty difficult to handle a couple of shopping bags in the journey from store to store. It seems to me sidewalk conferences could be held at one side and leave the centre free for shoppers.

RAIDERS BEAT WESTON 9-5

In a wide open hockey game last Wednesday the locals wrapped home nine goals to Weston's 5. Georgetown were too strong and fast for the Weston Club who had were unable to keep up with the fast-flying Raiders. Poor refereeing let the game become badly disorganized at times.

STONE SCHOOL FARM FORUM

Monday was the Farm Forum review night and the Stone School turned it into another one of their social evenings by the members inviting various friends. The school house was filled to capacity and all fully enjoyed themselves with Mr. Wm. Norton as master of ceremonies. After a friendly half hour of visiting, euchre was started and eleven tables progressed. The winners were firsts, Mrs. Wm. Harding and Mr. Cam Sinclair, and the consolations going to Mrs. Harold Hurber and Mr. W. A. Wilson. After a lovely lunch, Mr. Clarence Vary got his violin ready, with Mrs. Pearl Barber at the piano and Mr. Bert Davidson as caller offer the party finished off with round and square dances. So the old Stone School house has another friendly night to remember.
