

An exotic Chinese beauty and a blonde woman of mystery intrigue Dick Powell in Columbia's "To the Ends of the Earth" at the Roxy Theatre. Signe Hasso is Powell's co-star, with Maylin playing her first role.

Chatting... With Anne

Snow at last, and then everyone gets the flu and can't go tobogganing. Well! Spring is just around the corner. Proof of this is the fact that garden enthusiasts are looking at the seed catalogues. We are like the babbling brook. Seasons come and seasons go, but we go on forever. At least it seems forever these cold days.

Seems to be some controversy in the Soo about the proper or best way to cure the flu. Possibly some people would enjoy Dr. Gimby's prescription. Taken in the proper proportion it is a good way to offset a cold. If it is overdone they might well be reminded of these words.

Last night I saw upon the stage a little man who wasn't there. He wasn't there again today. I wish that he would go away. We are glad our little neighbour Jimmy Campbell is recovering from pneumonia. No one likes to see a baby ill.

Each year brings its changes. Friends move away, but are not forgotten. We do not realize how much friends mean to us until they are gone away.

We did not see you half enough. The days rushed on so fast. But thoughts are made of shining stuff.

And friendship's gold will last. You cannot know how frequently

You knock at our heart's door. And come to spend the day with us.

A welcome visitor. Some folk have been kind enough to ask why there was no column last week. The real explanation is "Gone with the wind." It was tucked in the Herald Office door and never seen again.

I have been asked several times about the advertisement in the Herald regarding an attendance officer. It means someone to visit the parents of a child who is constantly absent from school, and find the reason for his or her absence, discuss it amicably with the parents and report their findings. I hope this makes the situation clear.

Our sympathy to Mary Gilbert, whose husband had many weeks of suffering before his death.

God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; And there shall be no more death,

Neither sorrow nor crying, Neither shall there be any more pain,

For the former things are passed away.

Rev. 21:4
Saturday night's feature "Rin Tin Tin" was an ideal picture for children. The management of the Roxy theatre must keep the children constantly in mind when choosing Saturday pictures, as they have many suitable ones for the kiddies.

One of my outspoken friends has said to me "Is there only one church in Georgetown?" I only attend one, therefore I naturally know more about that one than any other, and I would dislike to pass any remarks about a church about which I know nothing. It seems to me that churches are pretty much alike. It is the faith we bring to them that matters. One thing I could say. I have heard so often about the wonderful work Mrs. Clarence Buck is doing with her CGIT girls. A very popular leader is Mrs. Buck, and rightly so, and a very busy business woman too.

Don't forget the IOBE dance in the Rose Room on Friday night.

Gone are the days when we have to sweat and puff and spend half a day shovelling our driveway. We did what the little ad said, phone 100, and before we could say cat, there was no more snow on our driveway. Friend husband, who, incidentally, did the shovelling formerly, thought it was a good idea, as it saved his weary bones.

Winter time is one meeting after another. Someone said that Canadian women are clubbed to death, as they always had one club meeting or another to attend. One husband, whose wife was never home, said he thought it was a good idea if a few of them were clubbed to death. Ah, husbands! They are such candid folk!

In spite of all the things the strong sex say about us, they must admit they couldn't do without us. There isn't anything of any importance going on in this world without a woman's hand in it somewhere. The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world.

Don't forget to send a valentine to a shut-in. There are plenty of them these days, and a kindly thought is always appreciated. There are so many little things we can do for people if we but take a moment or two from our busy day. We have our life to live but once. But once I pass this way, And then no more. But once — and then the silent door

Swings on its hinges — Opens — closes — And no more I pass this way. So while I may With all my might I will essay Sweet comfort and delight, To all I meet upon their journey's

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALONG THE BOARDS

After reading the letter addressed to Acton hockey fans in the Herald of February 2, I had a very sour taste in my mouth.

There is an old saying that it takes a real sport to lose gracefully but a better sport to win modestly. Just because the Acton sports scribe gets down in the muck is no excuse for you, Along the Boards to do likewise.

Another thing, to accuse the whole Acton team and Acton sports fans of the unfortunate actions of one player is very unfair. In fact it is ridiculous. You will find the MAJORITY of hockey fans like their hockey in a clean park- ing, let the better team win, preferably the Georgetown Raiders.

No, I am not from Acton, but that old guy who followed the team these past few years under the name of

REBEKAHS HOLD EUCHERE FOR C P & T FUND

A euchre party was held in the Oddfellows Hall last Thursday sponsored by the local Rebekah Lodge in aid of the Cancer, Polio-myelitis and Tuberculosis Fund. Seventeen tables were in play, and prizewinners were Mrs. K. Prust, Mrs. Gilchrist, Mrs. Fred Sinclair and Mrs. Perc Olney, the latter winning the cut in a tie with Mrs. J. P. Reid. Light refreshments were served after cards.

Before the game, Mrs. Gordon Spence, Noble Grand of the lodge, introduced Mrs. J. H. Lillie, District Deputy President of Centre District, who explained how the fund was established and how it is administered. It is jointly sponsored by the Rebekahs and Oddfellows and all donations from individual lodges go to headquarters in Toronto, and are used to help those suffering from the three diseases who are unable to afford their own treatment.

TURNING THE PAGES OF "CANADA UNLIMITED"

Louis Mahou, born in Quebec in 1650, was our first Canadian-born medical man.

While practising, Mahou acted as harbour-master of Quebec in his spare time.

In 1724, the Sisters des hospitalières de St. Jean, built a 100-bed hospital at Louisbourg, N.S. To help pay expenses each ship in port was assessed 10 pounds of codfish a day.

Canadian medicine kept pace with man's knowledge. McGill University gave Canada its first graduate in medicine in 1833. Canada's first woman doctor was Emily H. Stowe who practised in Toronto in 1868.

Heroes of medicine—men like Charles H. Best, whose many contributions to medicine include the method of preventing blood clots during surgery—are showing the way to even greater discoveries, because there's room to grow in Canada Unlimited.

The full story of Canada's growth is told in "Canada Unlimited", an illustrated 144-page book published by the O'Keefe Foundation. You may obtain your copy by sending 25c in cash (no stamps or cheques, please) to "Canada Unlimited", Dept. N3-1, O'Keefe

House, Toronto, Ontario. All monies received will be donated to the Canadian Citizenship Council.
