

CHATTING

by M.H.B.

Perhaps you noticed, as we did, the picture of a very successful career woman in the Globe and Mail last week. It was of Lotta Dempsey, who is joining the staff of the Globe, very shortly, to write a daily column, spotted on the Woman's Page. Lotta, who in everyday life is Mrs. Richard A. Fisher, has a son John, who strikes the spark of local interest because of the fact he has been on the Smith and Stone Ltd. office staff for the past year and a half and makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. Mark Clark, John Street.

Justly proud of his clever and energetic mother is John, and we're going to try to tell you why.

Starting from the time she left High School in Edmonton, Alta., Lotta began her newspaper career, on the Edmonton Bulletin and Journal. Coming East, she has been associated with the MacLean-Hunter Publishing Co., as feature editor of Chatelaine for the past twelve years. Aside from this, during that time, she did a radio program "It's a Woman's World," did some work for the CBC and was with the WPTB a while during the war. Last year she won the award for Canada's Best Woman Writer, for an article she wrote in Chatelaine. . . . Just by way of rounding out her interests, Lotta Dempsey is on the Canadian Industrial Relations Board, and the Canadian Industrial Designers Board in Ottawa.

And, oh yes, we told you she was married, but didn't mention the fact that she and her architect-husband have three sons: Alton in his 4th year Architecture, John with Smith and Stone office here in town (formerly student of Commerce and Finance at University of Toronto), and nine-year old Donald. . . . Altho we didn't say so at first, John is equally proud of his father, Richard A. Fisher, and if you've seen the very beautiful new MacLean-Hunter building and the School of Practical Science building at the U of T, you'll have no trouble understanding why. With the firm of Allward & Gouinlock, Mr. Fisher designed both these buildings.

Getting back to the distaff side of the family, Mrs. Fisher does a lot of travelling in connection with her work including regular jaunts to Hollywood and New York. . . . They are just back from Bermuda. . . . Almost forgot to tell you, Lotta Dempsey has poetry-writing for a hobby. . . . Hope you never remember hearing us say we were busy. . . . What a life. . . . but she loves it.

The Lions Club scored another successful dance last Friday night. Good music, good crowd, excellent punch and cookies, in a tastefully decorated hall. . . . everybody had a wonderful time. Saw a lot of beautiful new dresses there.

Among the out-of-towners we said hello to were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hoare, Oshawa, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Clarke, Brampton, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jones, New Toronto.

On Thursday night, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schultz and Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Rawson attended the Policeman's Ball in Guelph.

Dunc Tost has been training in Toronto to be a member of the Provincial Police. He started March 1st on his six-month probation period.

A couple of weeks ago, Mrs. Jack Cotton and baby son David, flew to England, to spend three months in London with her parents.

Glad to see Mrs. Sam Tennant able to be out and around again after quite a long siege of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. A. De Beaulieu and son John have moved into an apartment in the Cordary Building. They formerly lived farther up Main Street in part of the Bill Hillier's house.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Noble and Ann Lorraine (they're the proprietor of the Georgetown Dairy) have moved into Mrs. Smyth's apartment. The Nobles come from Hanover.

And the Cal Clark's, Beverly and Don will be moving into the house next to George Mackarr's, recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Anderson at the end of the month.

The newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Taylor, are honeymooning in New York this week.

Mrs. "Bud" James was the bride's attendant at her brother's wedding in Hamilton. Mr. and Mrs. "Bob" Frank were married by the Rev. Mr. Thompson (formerly of Acton) and they will live in Acton.

Bill on the subject of weddings, Spruce Lawn farm, home of Mrs. John L. Robinson, 5th Street, was the scene of a very lovely wedding anniversary of a number of friends from

LINDY

The Lindy flows where the heather clad mountains
Rear their storm-battered peaks to the sky.
Foams o'er the boulders, icy cold fountains,
Shot through the tumult, the wild eagle's cry.

Voicing impatience and surging in thunder,
It starts a headlong course to the sea.
Faintly tears, each obstruction smother,
Void of all reason, bound to be free.

Wayward the journey, twisting and turning,
White capped its waters, spothed in spray,
Splendid is youth while youth's fever is burning,
But it sometimes forgets of a price it might pay.

For fleeting is youth and passing its splendours,
Slowed now the tempo, plain as can be,
Wearily through the flat marshes it meanders,
Soon to be lost in the gray heaving sea.

Remorse rode the thoughts of a man old and weary,
Alone by the marsh in the sun's dying glow,
Empty his days, now cheerless and dreary,
Dragging his footsteps, feeble and slow.

"Reckless my youth, like the Lindy I started,
Moth of the bright lights, imprudent and free;
Scared a mother's last days and a wife's broken hearted,
Again like am I to the Lindy" said he.

"In life's marshes I wander alone with my sorrows,
The hearts I had broken now have passed on;
How gladly I'd give all the dreary tomorrows
For just one brief hour from the days that are gone.

As vainly I search for a flickering ember,
No spark in the dead grey ashes I see;
My pals of the bright lights have ceased to remember,
And bitter regrets are companions with me."

BAPTIST CHURCH HIGHLIGHTS

The pastor was in charge of the morning service, but the speaker was the Rev. R. A. Wattam. Mr. Wattam was here in the interests of the Ontario Temperance Federation and brought a very enlightening message on the work they are doing.

At the evening service, in the absence of the pastor who was conducting a special service in Acton, Mr. William Sturges, whose home is in Toronto, and who is a student at McMaster University, Hamilton, was the speaker. Mr. Sturges is a very popular speaker at Youth for Christ rallies. He brought a real gospel message which was a blessing to all present.

The Women's Society held their meeting at the home of Mrs. H. Sienko. The president, Mrs. E. Simpson was in charge.

The Wednesday evening Bible Study went in a body to Acton, where special meetings are being held this week.
