GEORGETOWN SINGERS TAKE HONOURS AT MILTON AMATEUR SHOW

Mrs. Leslie Tomlinson and Mr. Thomas Warnes topped the list of winners in the senior division of a Milton amateur show sponsored by the Milton Fire Brigade. Mrs. Tomlinson won first prize with her singing of "The Lord's Prayer" while Mr. Warnes sang "I Walk Beside You" for second prize. Both of these artists are members of the St. George's Church choir and have appeared at many local functions. Glenna Doherty, was an entrant in the junior class, which was won by Faye Clement of Milton.

CHATTING.

by M.H.B.

Watching our toddler enjoy her first taste of freedom in the yard, we're reminded that . . . "The world is so full of a number of things, I'm sure we should all be as happy as kings." Can't think who wrote it, but it seems to express the way she feels just now. Innumerable things to surprise and delight.

It surely is a small world, to use a time worn cliché. But it seemed really so, when a tour party from Georgetown registered at the Hotel Taft, New York, last week and ran into Mr. Ralph Ross, formerly principal of the High School here, for a good many years. Mr. Ross now makes his home in Toronto, but often comes back to visit his friends in Georgetown.

Following the same line of thought, we were interested to learn that Jean McNiven, who boarded with Mrs. Maude Robinson, Edith Street, while working in the office at Smith and Stone Ltd., now has a position with a Montreal firm, and is making her home with Rev. and Mrs. Charles C. Cochrane (guess most of you know Mr. Cochrane was the former minister at Knox Church). Jean comes originally from Shawinigan Falls.

Wonder if you've been reading "Flitt the Butterfly" stories which have been running in the Herald.

We consider them very good and congratulate their authors, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Souther. (Collaborating they write under the name Robin Wynne). Originally Mr. and Mrs. Souther wrote only for their own children, Don, 12 and Marilyn, 8, but now, along with their illustrator Jeanie Galt, Toronto, they hope to publish someday.

The Souther's have just moved from Acton to a new home near Wildwood, on the 8th Line. Their house was the former summer home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kingsburgh. Incidentally, Mr. Kingsburgh is a Northern Vocational teacher.

Writing is just a hobby with Mr. Souther, who has a development firm here. "Amalgamated Engineering," which works in conjunction with the Emmerson Brothers Tool and Die Company, developing a number of new products.

The Souther's are natives of Edmonton, Alta., and lived in Toronto, before moving to Acton. Were surprised to find, on learning where Mr. and Mrs. Souther lived, that there was quite a little "settlement" just back of Wildwood, so decided you might be interested in knowing who lives there.

The countryside thereabout has a quiet, pretty charm — a factor which likely contributed in no small measure to the building of these attractive homes.

There are four homes, built originally as summer homes by four Toronto men who were buddies in the first war. Mr. Ben Case, an insurance company executive has one. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith and Son John spend their summers in another. Mr. Smith, incidentally is a Financial Post editor. Mr. Rudy Corbett, maintenance chief at the University of Toronto, and his wife are planning to move permanently to their Wildwood home in June. The Kingsburghs, incidentally, have sold their Toronto home, and are going to live at Willowdale.

Have you been asked yet? Right the first time! To join a "Pyramid Club," of course knew when it struck (don't let the type gremlins drop that "Pyramid" word). Even heard of someone winning some money, too. They're not giving parties tho, like in the original clubs.

On fine Sundays we're having more than our usual quota of strollers pass this way. Have an idea they are interested in the work being done by Mr. S. W. Orr, on his subdivision. Changes are certainly in the making there. The hill-top has been levelled off with a bulldozer, and as the subdivision plan crystallizes, some very choice building lots are in the making.

Met a most interesting and talented person last Saturday, in the person of Mrs. E. R. Hinchey, of Moose Jaw, Sask., who was visiting her son, Jim, a member of the Smith & Stone Ltd. office staff, who makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. Mark Clark.

Mrs. Hinchey, prominent in Arts and Crafts circles in the West, has some beautiful hobbies, and we saw a few fine samples of her work. Amazingly versatile and original, Mrs. Hinchey is equally talented at sculpture, painting, sketching, pottery work, petting, and making birds, small animals, etc. out of odd-shaped peanuts, with bits of twigs and feathers to carry out the idea. She brought with her a beautiful collection of miniature urns, each one hollow

GEORGETOWN UNITED CHURCH NEWS

The theme of the regular morning worship at the Georgetown United Church on Sunday was "Our Christian Witness." The lesson was read from St. Matt. 25: 14-30 and the text taken from Acts 1: 8. In his message Mr. Smith stressed the importance of Christian witness and testimony in the furtherance of the work of the Christian Church. Such witness, he said, must be grounded in experience and a natural outcome of that experience. It was stated that true Christian witness is identical with obedience to the divine commission. "Go teach," and demands the wise stewardship of life. Under the direction of Miss Lynda Stewart the choir sang the anthem "Stand up for Jesus" — Turner and the offertory "Near to the Heart of God."

The evening service was opened by the singing of several well-known and favourite hymns. "The Sacred Word" was the title of the message which dealt with the need of a return to the Bible for a deepening of Christian experience and for direction in Christian witness. Misses Dorothy Fox, Dorothy Ting, Tami Fern, and Myrtle Kitchener sang a quartette arrangement of "Serving With a Smile" — Edwards.

It was announced that a sound moving picture "It's the Brain that Counts" would be shown at the Sunday School and evening services next Sunday.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED BY BUSY BEES INSTITUTE

All officers and conveners were re-elected for another term when the annual meeting of the Nassagaweya Busy Bees Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Elmer Cox. Mrs. Peter McLean was in the chair and acted as pianist. Roll call was answered by payment of fees. Mrs. McLean and Mrs. Stan Robinson were chosen to attend the officers' conference in Guelph.

It was decided to purchase 100 cups, and arrangements were made for a special meeting to plan the year's program. The May meeting will be devoted to arrangements for the booth which the Institute will operate at the Nassagaweya Centennial. Mrs. D. Henderson was asked to see about snapshots for the booth. Mrs. McLean offered her home for the May meeting, and Mrs. Stan Robinson hers for the special meeting. A quilting was planned at the home of Mrs. Oscar Locker.

A former member, Mrs. William Allison of Kibbide, was a guest at the meeting. Jimmie Davenport, grandson of Mrs. C. E. Davenport, won the lucky draw.
