Round the Bend

with Steamboat

The afternoon sun was beautiful. A crisp breeze jostled the warm rays just enough to prevent them being too warm. As the leaves on the trees swayed gently to and fro, "Round the Bend" relaxed, nearly prostrate, in a deck chair. The quiet still of the country railed our love of nature as we watched the trees, the grass, the beautiful flowers and the rippling stream. As a rushing, busy weekly sports reporter for the Herald, the picturesque solitude of Stewarttown was a welcome haven of retreat after covering several major sporting events in Georgetown the preceding week.

Resting comfortably, our mind a blank, we devoured all the beauty of the afternoon. From a nearby source, we were constantly disturbed in our dreaming and peacefulness by the clang, clang, clang of iron, and some utterances by an excited group of young men. Before we located the group, we heard some enthused cries of "Drop her here". Too much on that one!

"Give her a little more twist on the next throw." By this time we were imagining things. Maybe the village belle was being wooed in a country-style manner. Maybe the mortgage was due on the old homestead and the villain was trying to make the village belle his bride. Arising from our chair we stalked in the direction of the voices. Just as we were about to descend upon the group on the other side of the fence, we heard a voice holler "Wring her, wring her." Expecting the worst as we jumped the fence, what should we find but... horseshoes. The grip of fear gradually melted and we broke into a smile. Well, well, we certainly feel better now that we know no one is being murdered.

"You ask if we pitch horseshoes?" Hah, hah, we laughed, "Can we throw horseshoes. On with the game, fellows." At the other end of the pitch was Sonny Barclay, the eagle eye of the village. Beside him stood Corey "Corn Kob" Herrington, Jr. At the other end was Ken "Light Shoes" Murray. While we stood there calm, collected and perfectly still, Eagle Eye was preparing for the first pitch. He balanced himself, took aim, threw... Bong. There we laid, calm, collected and perfectly still. Regaining our senses, we came back to pitch as we never had before.

The games were exciting, close. Each game was settled by a point. In the last game the score was tied, and our opponent's turn to pitch. He threw a leaner and a shoe in close to the peg. We took aim, threw... Clang. We waited till the dust cleared. There was our shoe on top, his leaner was down in the dust. We had won the game. Before any congratulations could be offered, we heard a feminine voice, Come here, Eagle Eye. You're taking me to mother. The big idea, making me wait while you and that "Round the Bend" pitch horseshoes. Now get cleaned up and no fooling, we're going to supper.

We returned to our chair, and the sun, trees, flowers and grass. Sparky Dron is handling the Ladies' Softball team again this year. Brampton, Port Credit, Woodbridge and Oakville are also in the league. Georgetown has entered an Intermediate softball team. At the softball meeting in the park Friday night, the main discussion was about entries of teams. It is hoped to have eight teams. The recreational director, Rev. J. L. Seff, proposed the idea of a two week series. The first four teams would then be "A" teams and the second four "B". It is hoped to have two teams from Smith and Stone, one each from Provincial Glen Williams, Meadowglen Growers, Alliance, Norval and the Lions Club.

There have been horseshoes pitched in various homes by the GRC for those interested and we would like to see a League organized. Quite a game, horseshoes.

Have seen some tennis being played on the St. George's Church courts these past few nights.

Our apologies to Bruce MacKenzie for failing to report him — as team manager of next year's hockey team in the report in this column last week.

Have you heard the one about the city girl who didn't like farm-hands, because they were too rough?

TURNING THE PAGES OF "CANADA UNLIMITED"

When Canada was growing up, hawking a living from the virgin forest left little time for holidaying. By the 1790's, visits to distant friends were popular. Settlers would travel three hundred miles by sleigh in winter to see their friends.

Picnics were popular by 1835. While the men fished, the women picked berries, and all joined for lunch. In Springtime, excursions to the woods for "maple sugar making" were greeted with delight.

With the arrival of the automobile about 1900, and improvement in the roads, people began to travel to "see the sights". Touring to Niagara Falls, Muskoka or the Laurentians, became a common holiday pastime.

Today, tourists are big business. Canada is a vast wonderland, with countless surprises for the sightseer—and each year millions of Canadians and visitors tour our land. The opportunities that exist in the tourist industry are many—for there's room to grow in Canada Unlimited.

Just how much room is told in "Canada Unlimited", an illustrated 144-page book published by the O'Keefe Foundation. You may obtain your copy by sending 25c in coin (no stamps or cheques, please) to "Canada Unlimited", Dept. NS-8, O'Keefe House, Toronto, Ontario. Please print your name and address clearly. All monies received will be donated to the Canadian Citizenship Council.
