ASHGROVE
This is June, the month of brides, rose and strawberries, the loveliest month of the whole year but how we do need rain! Everyone is praying for it to come and refresh our gardens, crops and pastures. I hope by the time you read this we will have had three good days of it!

Miss Viola Bridgen, spent the week-end of June 5th, with relatives in Toronto.

Don't forget this coming Sunday is Father's Day. He is deserving of something specially nice.

Those who listen in Georgetown on Sunday evening to the Mayor of the Town would be pleased to hear their own Mayor Joseph Gibbons speak on behalf of the Industrial activities and his people of Georgetown, also he extended a cordial welcome to visitors to the town.

BALLINAFAD
Mr. Sam Snow has returned home from Brampton Hospital where he underwent an operation for appendicitis. We all wish him a speedy recovery.

A joint meeting of the W.M.S. Evening Auxiliary and Mission Circle, was held Friday night at the home of Mrs. F. Smith. During the evening a Kenwood blanket was presented to Rev. and Mrs. O. R. Flindall who are leaving to take up residence at Allenford.

Miss Bonnie Carlisle has accepted a position with the Maher Shoe Store in Georgetown.

JESUS' DEATH AND BURIAL

It was but a few hours from Gethsemane and the trials to the Cross. Having secured the sentence of death upon their victim the enemies of Jesus probably urged that the crucifixion take place as soon as possible. It is good for us to know something of the facts of our Lord's death and to know something of its significance as related to our personal experience. In studying this lesson we would do well to bear in mind two great passages of Scripture: "All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all" (Isaiah 53:6) and the second passage "I am the good shepherd; the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep" — John 10:11.

The Biblical Basis:

Luke 23: 33-38; Mark 15:34; Luke 23:46, 47; Matt. 27: 37-60

The first of these passages tells us of the crucifixion of Christ upon Golgotha's Hill. In this word picture we see the three crosses — that of Christ in the centre and those of the malefactors on either side. At the foot of these crosses, we see the faces of gambling soldiers, satisfied leaders and a derisive mob. At the top of the centre cross we see the words of three languages — Greek, Latin and Hebrew — reading "This is the King of the Jews", and upon that centre cross we see a body bruised, beaten and nail-torn and from the almost lifeless lips come the words "Father, forgive them: for they know not what they do."

The next two passages tell us of other words from the Cross. "My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken me" and "Father into thy hands I commend my spirit." The first of these has had many interpretations but is usually interpreted as a quotation from Psalm 22, "which describes the suffering of one of God's saints who makes his supplication unto God, and in the end experiences a happy issue out of all his afflictions". The second quotation reveals Jesus dying as he lived, in absolute faith in the goodness of his heavenly Father. The last of the passages chosen for study speaks of the burial of Jesus by Joseph of Arimathea under the permission of Pilate.

The Application:
Our study of this lesson ought to bring before us not only the death of Christ, but his life, and the whole purpose of His coming to men. It ought to make us ask why? If we ponder that question sincerely we shall see that it is closely bound up with our personal life. It demands our response. In the words of the hymn:

"When I survey the wondrous Cross On which the Prince of glory died, My richest gain I count but loss, And pour contempt on all my pride. Were the whole realm of nature mine,

That were a present far too small, Love so amazing, so divine, Demands my soul, my life, my all." His complete surrender to God's will brought him to the Cross, but that seemingly shameful defeat was turned into victory, and ever since the vicarious life and the vicarious death of our Christ, has challenged men of every clime to surrender themselves to him and through him to the Great Purpose of God — a surrender which "demands my soul, my life, my all."

Helpful Quotations:

Indifference

"When Jesus came to Golgotha they hanged him on a tree, They drove great nails through hands and feet, and made a Calvary;

They crowned him with a crown of thorns, red were His wounds and deep,

For those were crude and cruel days, and human flesh was cheap.

When Jesus came to Birmingham, they simply passed Him by, They never hurt a hair of him, they only let Him die;

For men had grown more tender, and they would not give him pain,

They only just passed down the street, and left Him in the rain. Still Jesus cried "Forgive them for they know not what they do,"

And still it rained the wintry rain that drenched Him through and through!

The crowds went home and left the streets without a soul to see, And Jesus crouched against a wall and cried for Calvary."

NEWSCASTER DIES

One of the best known figures on the air, Jim Hunter, veteran radio newscaster, died in Toronto recently after a short illness. Mr. Hunter's news broadcasts for several sponsors, including the Evening Telegram, were popular all over Ontario. His last visit to Georgetown was at the time when CFRB was protesting the CBC ruling which made that station change its frequency and he called at the Herald Office to present the station's point of view.

HANDS IN TRAINING...FOR ONTARIO

Learning Business Practice

IN Ontario the wheels of industry turn for the benefit of every single one of us. Our lathes, dynamos, drill presses, farm combines, tractors, business machines, etc. are producing goods and services which earn dollars. These dollars provide food, clothing, medical care and other necessities which contribute to our security and high standard of living. Every single one of us, therefore, has a very personal interest in the flow of a steady supply of trained workers to industrial plants. These workers will operate machines which are important to our way of life.

We should appreciate, then, the co-operative efforts of government, industry and labour in the field of employee training. In schools and in factories our workers, young and old, are given the opportunity to develop new and specific skills in every field of business and industrial activity. For instance, every effort on the part of office workers to become proficient in typing, filing, shorthand and secretarial work, will mean greater business efficiency — will help to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and work.

Our Way of Life Rewards Trained Hands

Ontario workers know they can earn more, have executive responsibility and enjoy a higher standard of living in direct ratio to the skills they acquire and the way they make use of them. That's always true in a free economy — that's why our competitive system will continue to make Canada great and a great place in which to live.
