Italian Children Aided by U.V.

A young street musician plays to a cove of a Naples piazza, while his crippled "partner" collects the money. Sights such as this one are common in postwar Italy, where lack of proper food and treatment is turning many youngsters into professional beggars. To combat this situation, the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF) is now providing shoes, clothing and medicine to about 3,000,000 children and expanding methods. UNICEF is also financing millions of dollars against tuberculosis.

Loss Land Will Produce

More and Better Food

If American cropland were fenced into equal shares, your plot would be smaller than three football fields. That's only about three acres, compared with about four at the end of World War I, according to Clinton P. Anderson, secretary of agriculture. If our population grows as we expect, your share by 1970 will be reduced to about two and three-quarter acres.

Think of your future in terms of your diminishing share of land. You will have to depend on it because there is very little more that can be brought into use through drainage and irrigation. And we still are using up our soil resources faster than we rebuild them. Yet, your little patch of cropland, together with the permanent pasture and range, is giving you a higher standard of living and providing a great deal of food to relieve hunger abroad.

In the future, on the same land we have today, fewer farmers will furnish greater abundance for more people. The matchless science of agriculture already enables the average farm worker to turn out nearly two-thirds more than he did 20 years ago.

The future will see increasingly better crop varieties, including more hybrids. Plant explorers, after a wartime lapse, are searching the world for new plants. With the aid of new genetic stock scientists are creating new varieties to resist disease, insects and frost. They are also working to improve the quality of food crops.

Varied Qualities of Wool

Assure Innumerable Uses

Wool is a natural clothing fiber, comes mostly from sheep. Wool is made up of thousands of tiny crinkly threads called fibers, according to "Wool in the World." Among animal fibers wool fibers alone have an outer skin of tiny scales. The scales are too small to see with the naked eye. They interlock, allowing the fibers to cling to one another. Wool fibers may be woven together as cloth. They may be pressed together as felt. They are the only animal fibers that are usually spun, woven, knitted or felted. The fibers keep their "life" and "springiness." So wool's magic is still alive in clothes. Wool is a natural guardian of health and comfort.

Heart Disease Deaths

Heart disease deaths are increasing in Canada. The Canadian Heart Association reports that in 1947, 10,000 Canadians died of heart disease, an increase of 10 per cent over 1946. The association says that heart disease is the leading cause of death in Canada, and that the number of deaths is expected to continue to rise.

Kinds of Drain Tile

There are many kinds of drain tiles. Some will give good service if properly installed. If the concrete is properly cured and properly covered, concrete tiles will give good service under normal conditions, according to Iowa State college. But they are susceptible to deterioration when placed in soils with high acid or high alkali content. They are not subject to damage by freezing and thawing, as are some clay tiles. Clay tiles with low absorption capacity are good for use in high acid or high lime areas, since they are resistant to action of acid or alkali. They should be dense, uniform in shape, have proper strength, and be free from checks, cracks or foreign matter.

Back home again after a month at the beach and we'll be chatting from Queen Street from now on. July was a glorious month for those lucky enough to enjoy the sun and the sand and the water. But it is equally enjoyable to be back again in our lovely town. We often think that if Georgetown had only swimming facilities there would be no need for summer vacations at all.

Ron Mendham got himself in the news last week when he spotted an escaped mental patient and was instrumental in having him recaptured. Albert Lenoir was convicted in Brampton court in June of thefts from summer cottages at Erinville and after serving a sentence in Brampton jail was later committed to Hamilton mental hospital. Ron, who had been following reports in the Toronto paper asking people to be on the lookout for a Toronto murderer, spotted Lenoir sitting in a Brampton restaurant with a suspicious smile under his hat near the door. He notified Constable Philip Mutton, who apprehended Lenoir during the busy morning.

Glad to report that Art Hurst, former local hockey star and husband of the former Jess Murphy was a very sick boy for a few days in progressing favorably after a tonsil operation at Sunnybrook Hospital. Art is a "blender" and was a very sick boy for a few days after the operation.
