Juice From Citrus Peel

Utilized for Feed Yeast

The production of feed yeast, rich in high-quality protein and in the vitamin B complex, by growing the yeast on the juice pressed from ground, limed citrus peel has been announced by the U. S. department of agriculture.

During the war this juice was concentrated and sold for use in compounding mixed feeds. But with the return of more normal times competition with blackstrap molasses is expected and additional uses for the juice are desirable. Furthermore its composition makes its disposal through sewers, lakes and other bodies of water a considerable problem.

It is estimated that a 90-pound box of citrus fruit will yield about three gallons of press juice of approximately 10 per cent solids. This juice is rich in carbohydrates, ideal for growing yeasts and available at central points in sufficient quantity to facilitate large-scale production, and at sufficiently uniform rates to permit continuous-plant operations. It is ready for use as it comes from the press. A pound of dried yeast can be produced from three gallons of the juice, and potential total production would run 30,000 tons a year. The wild yeast Torula utilis is used because it grows rapidly and is less susceptible to contamination than the true yeasts. The process is economical.

Ancient Bristol is Center Of History and Tradition

Bristol is a real old city, an ancient capital in miniature. It is indeed the capital of England's glorious west country and the birthplace of much of England's history. It is a city rich in contrast. The prefabricated shop on a blitzed site stands in companionable proximity to the historic stones of the thousand-year-old city wall; yet the atmosphere of the place is such that the juxtaposition escapes incongruity.

Bristol is an ancient city jealous of its traditions but a modern city ever receptive of new ideas, trends and opinions, whether in trade, commerce, religion, science or culture. Legend attributes Bristol's foundation to Brennus and Belinus in the year 5,000 B. C. That there was a town of some importance at any rate as far back as 1,000 years ago is proved by the discovery of coins minted at "Brigstowe"—the place of the bridge—in the time of Edward the Unrede.

Michigan Wood Products

Michigan is one of the most highly industrialized areas in the United States. It uses enormous quantities of wood in its 1,600 and more primary and secondary wood-using plants. These plants employ 60,000 workers, with payrolls of more than 20 million dollars annually. Wood products harvested each year in Michigan are worth approximately 10 million dollars on the stump. The annual value of the products processed from wood is more than 40 million dollars. These products come from sawmills, veneer and plywood mills, cooperage plants, planing mills, pulp, paper and paperboard mills, and establishments using the products of these plants for a multitude of manufactured items.

New Synthetic Gems

New synthetic rubies, sapphires and emeralds in settings of palladium sparkle as radiantly and cost considerably less than real gems. Scientifically manufactured and expertly cut into baguette shapes, the popular synthetic stones possess almost the same properties of brilliancy and clarity as their natural counterparts. Featured in engagement rings are synthetic blue and white sapphires, rubies and emeralds used as side stones. Palladium is selected as the gem mounting because this platinum sister-metal's brilliant white color mirrors the inherent sparkle of the gem, and is highly regarded by craftsmen for its ability to hold the stone securely.

Citizens Marine Corps

The citizens marine corps is the highly specialized postwar reserve force being built to back up the regular marines. These "home-town marines," 100,000 strong, enrolled between the ages of 17 to 32—volunteers may be older—are trained in the newest weapons, equipment, and tactics of amphibious operations in the air, on land and sea. Veterans of all services will have their military skills and knowledge refreshed while members without previous service will receive specialized, modern instructions. Sports, recreation and comradeship will be stressed in order to build the teamwork and "esprit de corps" which is the hallmark of a marine.

Like Cream in Milk

Topsoil is to the earth what cream is to milk, says Middle West Soil Improvement committee. Warning that this topsoil "cream" has been skimmed off at an alarming rate, the committee declares that 150 years ago there was an average of nine inches of topsoil spread over the United States. Today this average is only six inches in depth. Surest remedy for topsoil losses is a permanent soil building program. Such a program should include deep-rooted legumes in the rotation to restore mineralized organic matter, use of fertilizers and barnyard manure.
