HALTON FARM FORUM

Reports were received on the "As Others See Us" broadcast from S.S. No. 1, Nass, Zimmerman, Boyne, Stone School, Mt. Nemo, Town Line, Kilbride, Omagh, and N. Trafalgar. The question: "How could your particular farm community be made a better place to live?" brought almost every suggestion that could add to general welfare. Omagh advised, "Welcome any newcomer into our community, e.g., new Canadians." Omagh also has a unique suggestion in "Ladies should own a canner for fruit and vegetables." We presume a cooperatively owned one is the kind they mean. This Forum also says, "We object to profane language used on the radio." Kilbride says more co-operation in the community is needed and less criticism unless it be of a constructive nature. Town Line would like to see a doctor in the community and equalization of the school tax between regular farms and small lots in the area." Stone School asks for "a proportionate share of the National income so that rural communities can have more conveniences and more leisure time to make a fuller community life." Other things mentioned were community hall, more cultural and handicrafts education, better support to farm organizations, more neighbourliness, facilities for sports, courses in economics and practical farm subjects, better roads, telephone service, electricity. Nearly all the Forums were interested in rural library services. Full information concerning rural libraries may be obtained from Mr. Angus Mowatt, Inspector of Public Libraries, Parliament Buildings, Toronto. Some forums would like to know more about the Credit Union.

As to how the desired change can be brought about, N. Trafalgar says "Get the farmers in the neighborhood out to Farm Forum." Mt. Nemo thought donations should be made to the Community Park to further sports. Stone School says: "Patronize the Co-operatives, and back the Federation of Agriculture." Zimmerman recommends farm organizations, Boyne advocates, "working together on projects that will benefit the community."

Miss Ellen Chipman, of Omagh, brings back an enthusiastic report of her two weeks at the Folk School conducted by Zone 3.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

by Lamb
 Sorry there was no high school column in last week's Herald but we figured that we would have no chance against the political campaigning. However, now that election day is past we are going to take a chance and submit a column to the editor in hopes that he might be able to please (?) you readers. We also wish to wish the new council members good luck in their municipal posts in the next year of office.

If we remember correctly, a couple of weeks ago we made predictions that it was going to be an unseasonal Christmas. The next day it snowed like heck and we were very shamed. However, by the looks of the ground now our predictions are still true, so we will bide our time and watch the skies for further change. We will not be responsible for any change of weather like snow on the day of publication, cause that's what happened last time and guess who got blamed.

Only NINE more shopping days to Christmas. Which reminds us that GHS as per usual is planning a Christmas party in the school, and this is a confidential report for first formers only.

Dear Children:
 Will visit you at school on the day of your Christmas party. Hope you are the same.
 Affectionately,
 Santa.
 P.S. Rudolph the red nosed reindeer, will also be there. Hope you are the same.

The Christmas party at school this year promises to be a happy occasion, especially for first formers, they will probably get a free apple or orange. Anyhow each form is going to put on a short skit. Names will be drawn and presents to the value of approximately thirty-five cents will be exchanged.

The students were sorry to learn that Miss Luke has had an attack of appendicitis and will not resume her classes until after the new year. She is convalescing favourably in Guelph General. In her absence we have with us Mrs. P. Cleave who is taking over Miss Luke's classes.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

The Scouts were hosts to the Dads on Friday night for an evening of games and fun. The Dads turned out in good numbers and judging from the comments had no regrets at being Scouts once again, if only for the night. After the opening ceremony, A.S.M. Stewart Young led the group in a number of active circle games. Dad Ernie Simson and Scout Bob Simson then engaged in a blindfolded pillow fight. We suggest that you ask Ernie how he made out. S.M. John Smith and A.S.M. Robert Smith then led the group in a number of relay races, after which a couple of games of volley ball were enjoyed. Incidentally the lads took a beating. It seems that in Volley Ball Dad is still the best man. Lunch was served by the Ladies Auxillary of the
