HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

(by Lamb)
Making comments on the weather leads us into difficulties, we cannot be sure of our predictions or remarks on the present situation. Today the snow is beautiful (this is Tuesday) and in preparation for Wednesday, or Thursday, isn't this mud lovely. Possibly in the future we should forget about trying to keep up with the weather, for we hear from the grapevine that the equator is slowly moving up in our direction, and in about another million years we will be in the midst of a tropical age. Those of us whose families are not noted for longevity will not have to worry.

Buses go to Milton; Students follow
Yes, the first form students are finally getting the opportunity of their lives. They will attend Milton High School for the remaining Tuesday and Thursday afternoons in the school year. They attend Milton for the shopwork and the Home Economics (I think it's called Home Economics) courses. The buses leaving at twelve-thirty will necessitate the students leaving at that time also. Therefore we less unfortunate upper students will find our recess cut out altogether or shortened considerably.

Well GHS finally had another party and it was quite a success. The first part was at the arena where everybody congregated more or less to get their bearings straight, then with great commotion we all made a rush for Club Midtown where refreshments and a dance were being served. The admission was ten cents, very reasonable, eh what? Sandwiches were served and they were devoured immediately by the poor underfed students that attend GHS. Dancing continued until twelve fifteen, then we departed for parts unknown.

Flash! We have just heard a report from the grapevine that the all-star GHS hockey team is about to come to grips with the great Milton rangers. We have heard rumours about the date of the game, possibly next Friday or maybe this Friday but as to the locality we have absolutely no idea maybe in Georgetown, maybe in Milton, maybe even in Acton.

Alliance Paper beat Norval on Monday to take a one point lead in industrial hockey. Provincial has been forging ahead, too, after a slow start and have won their last two games. Alliance have 13 points, Norval and Businessmen 12 each, Smith and Stone 11, Meadowglen 8 and Provincial 5.
Apologies to Cliff Norton of Alliance, the league's leading scorer. By error we have been calling him Roy in this column. He notched two goals Monday to boost his total points to 16. Bill Barry of Businessmen has 14, Jack King of S&S 13, Denny Wright, Provincial 10 and Bruno Sellizzi, Businessmen 9.
Collier, Cuthbert and Thompson shared his scoring honours with Norton when Alliance beat Norval 5-4. Jim Coffell scored two, Grieve and Wright one each when Provincial won 4-3 from Meadowglen. Begumot scored two and Hennessey one for the losers. Businessmen and S&S played a three-all tie. Golden, Louth and Sargent tallied for S&S. Tyler, Kirkwood and Sellizzi scored for Businessmen.

Orangeville won a game from Georgetown Bantams on Saturday afternoon by a 4-2 score. Playing for Georgetown were Sandy Mackenzie, Julian Reed, Jim Thuleck, David Cooper, Dale Setore, Gerald Scott, George Webster, Bob Webster, Bob Allen, Ron Breen, Jim Wilson, Lynn MacNeale and Ron Ritchie.

In a juvenile exhibition game with Brampton, Georgetown had a good edge and won 6-3. Players for Georgetown included Keith Scott, Joe Louth, David Barber, Alan Gillis, Bill Hewitt, Terry Bludd, Bud Vary, Keith King, Blake Ingils, Butch Schenk, Earl Walters, Carnish Maltby, Ron Denham.

Retiring president of Esqueping Agricultural Society.

Hello Homemakers! We promised ourselves that we would have a few games ready for the teenagers' party on Valentine's Day. Having decided on several games to use, we hope to give you an idea or two. A party is off to a good start when guests are asked to find their own partners: From a hat, each picks a slip of paper on which is written the name of an animal — goat, goose, duck, cow, hen, doe, ewe, cat, horse and turkey. Then from another hat duplicate names are drawn by the boys. The noise will be deafening but satisfactory as each guest moves around the room, imitating his animal in search of a partner making a similar noise.
Simple games are the best. For example, the Clothespin game. Provide two milk bottles and twenty clothespins to the two contestants. Place the milk bottles behind chairs. Each boy in turn, kneels on a chair, rests his wrists on the back of the chair and drops the clothespins in the bottle from his mouth. The boy's partner feeds the clothespins to him.
"Name the Movie" is a guessing game. Clip the advertisements of current movies from newspapers and cut off the titles and number them. Ask the partners to write down the name of each, allowing 1 minute per look per picture.
A fast-paced sleigh race may be fun. Fasten strips of paper tape to the floor with Scotch tape. Mark off irregular space on the tape and set out a set of dice for the game. Ask each couple to select a winning number. Set six empty spoons (with a number marked on each) at the starting line. When everyone is ready, let someone throw the dice. A mate from one set of spoons will indicate the number of the spoon to move and another of a different colour, the number of spaces it will be moved. The winner will score ten, second place seven, and third place, four.
Have someone lead the singing while the hostesses prepare the refreshments.
