Chatting . . . By M.H.B.

HAPPENING TO MENTION to Mr. and Mrs. Keith Barber how much we had enjoyed seeing television, Mr. Barber told us his brother Norman is directing a television show in New York City for Dumont Television Studios.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Greer, who recently moved to Toronto, are leaving shortly for California, where they will make their home. Mr. Greer was formerly cost-accountant with Smith & Stone Ltd.

OUR HALF A COUPLE, of little bits of chatting from Glen Williams this week. Incidentally we can't cover Glen now as well as we'd like to, so if you folks in the Glen have any news items or leads for news items please give us a call.

Our first item concerns the sale of home-made baking held by the Glen Williams Public School Junior Red Cross in the United Church Sunday School room. This effort netted them $29.60, and with added donations of $9.40, the members have forwarded $39.00 towards the Occupational Therapy Section in the new Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto. The girls in charge of the tables of cakes, cookies, and candies were: Jacqueline Lucas, Carol Crosbie, Donna Bennett, Marie Gibbs, Marilyn Felker, Kathryn Leads, Elsie Larsen and Eva Garvin. Mrs. W. Beaumont, principal of the school, supervised arrangements.

Mr. Charles Preston of Glen Williams is starting to get around again, after breaking his hip three weeks ago. The accident occurred while he was sweeping off the back steps of his home, and he received treatment in Peel Memorial Hospital, Brampton. Mr. Preston is convalescing at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Logman.

A WINNER ON THE ADAMS Chuklet. "Take a Chance" show a week ago Wednesday night, Mr. Joseph Hill Sr. received a food chopper and $500 when his letter was drawn from the mail-bag.

Last weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brill and children, Linda and Stephie moved from their Normandy Boulevard home to Lanang, where they have bought a house near Jack's Young Street clothing store. Jack is the last member of the Brill family to leave Georgetown. His father, Mr. David Brill was a Main Street merchant and manufacturer for many years, and his children were born and brought up in Georgetown. A few years ago Mr. Brill left his store to Mr. Jack Cotton, the present proprietor, and moved to Toronto.

We slipped up a bit in reporting another bit of Normandy Boulevard news. Back in December, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Alcott moved from their home on Main Street South, into the house formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Tyler.

MARRIED IN INDIA where both are missionaries, were Rey Russell Self, a brother of the Rev. J. L. Self, Norval, and the former Alice M. Gleason, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Gleason, Cranford. The wedding took place in Jagannathpur Baptist Church, in Kanchi, India. Pictures of Rey and Mr. Russell Self appeared in last Tuesday's Evening Telegram.

YOU KNOW THE old debate-able question of women dress to please other women, or do they dress to please the men. Well, the shoe seemed to be on the other foot last week, judging from the enormous crowds the advertising department of the Toronto papers gave to Men's Fashions Week. Just who do the men dress to please? We can't imagine them dressing to please other men, and certainly, most don't dress to please the women. Do they dress to please themselves? Not if complaints about heavy trousers and coats in the heat of summer, stiff shirts, fronts and tight, uncomfortable collars in formal attire, the inability ever to find a hat that really looks well, and the general all-year-round complaint about the nuisance of collars and ties is true. Could be, it is "convention" the lads are dressing to please, but who sets the conventions in the male fashion world?

Hadn't really thought much about it until a few top Parisian designers took a well-publicized hand in men's fashions last week, and came up with a soft silk shirt, gathered softly just below the shoulder and fastening at the neck with a graceful self-bow, and a fetching, masculine version of a knee-length sarong, for beach wear, along with all sorts of different trends in the cut of lapels, trouser lengths and breadths, and other such shades of difference in the conventional attire. . . . Would be willing to bet a healthy sum that we'll see very few bowled and gathered silk shirts, or beach sarongs in circulation this year, however. Men don't seem as obedient to the fashion whims of Paris as we women are.

Yet we must come to the conclusion that it is "going against nature" to have the male of the species dress that way. In all other realms, Mother Nature has decreed that it is the male who is decked in bright array, while the ladies are demure and mousey in appearance. Actually, it's only within the last century that men have cast aside felts, velvet jackets, gold head and elaborately powdered wigs, for their present somewhat staid attire. Perhaps we should end this little discussion right now, but having gone so far, we feel we must follow it through to its logical conclusion, and ask why the dramatic shift in male fashions.

Hate to repeat it, because it is tedious to our sex, but the suggestion has been made jokingly of course, that the switch in fashions, making women more conspicuously and gaily dressed than the men, has followed a switch in old-fashioned, courtly customs. . . . We wouldn't know about that. Yet we still don't know who or what arbitrates men's fashions, or what it is that makes most men reject anything in clothing that verges on the unconventional. . . . As far as we could make out, the Fashion Week and Show were not really very well appreciated by the greater majority of the men.

MENTIONED IN LAST week's column that Holy Cross Church was being redecorated and renovated, and in this connection, there is quite an interesting little story. Rev. Fr. V. J. Morgan told us how he had placed an advertisement in a Catholic paper, the Canadian Register, advising that Holy Cross Church wished to sell the altar and two large pedestals, which they had replaced with new ones.

In response to this ad, Fr. Morgan received a letter from Fr. Poirier, who is in charge of a mission church at Forget, Saskatchewan. This is a sparsely settled region, and the parish is quite poor. The pews in the outpost church were made crudely, from kegs with boards nailed to the tops, so naturally the parish was interested in the ad, which appeared in the Register, and wished to know the particulars. Touched by their plight, Fr. Morgan had the altar and pedestals shipped to Forget, Saskatchewan only that the western parish pay the freight charges.

THE RANKS OF THE Provincial Police Force have been joined by another former man, "Bob" MacKenzie, of Hamilton. And still another man from town, Calvin Vanzant, who has boarded with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gray on Church Street for several years, has entered training for a career with the Provincial Police. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kemshead have written their parents, to say how glad they were to have several visitors from Georgetown in recent weeks. George Cleave and Joe Rice stopped off en route home from British Columbia, to say "hello" to the Kemsheads, and P.O. John Wilson also visited Albert and his wife, on his way for a leave after taking part in the much publicized "Operation Sweetheart" in Alaska.

Sorry to learn of Mrs. Christ Nixon's unfortunate accident last Friday, at her home on Maple Avenue, when she fell and broke her hip. She is in Guelph General Hospital.

C.G.I.T. CHATTER

The regular meeting was held in the Sunday School room on Tuesday evening. After business a devotional service was conducted by Mrs. C. J. Buck who gave a short talk on "The Purpose." As a Canadian Girl in Training under the Leadership of Jesus. We then adjourned to our groups.

The Beavers and Skylarks were busily engaged in handicrafts. The Bluebirds, with their leader, Mrs. M. Armann, were absent from the meeting as they had gone to the home of Miss Margery MacKenzie for a cooking lesson. Hear they made a macaroni and cheese dish—wonder how they liked their own cooking???

HONOR GROUP—The Skylarks

NASSAGAWEYA COUNCIL DISCUSSES EARLY DATE FOR ELECTIONS

The question of holding elections at an earlier date than New Year's Day was discussed by Nassagaweya Council at their last meeting, but no final decision was made. Nassagaweya is one of two Halton municipalities which hold their election on that date, the other being Eastover Township. Others use earlier dates in December.

The clerk was instructed to send a copy of a resolution passed to the township solicitor, asking that action be taken for immediate settlement with the Milton Brick Company about a dispute involving the Town Line road, and that the company be stopped from activity until settlement is made.

Mr. Gage, from the Dept. of Lands and Forests, Galt, addressed council concerning the distribution of pheasant for this year. The tax collector was instructed to collect all arrears of taxes immediately. Road accounts amounted to $1239 and other bills passed were for $420.

ACTON CELEBRATION

Acton, to celebrate its elevation from village to town status, is planning an Old Boys Reunion, sometime this summer. A meeting of interested citizens was held last week and a further planning meeting will be held this Friday. Acton became a town on January 1st with Amos Mason as first mayor.
