SUNDAY FIRE NOT SERIOUS

The fire brigade was called to a chimney fire on Sunday morning at the apartment building on Main Street South across from Knox Church. No damage was reported.

Hydro Columnist Gives Ladies Some Housecleaning Tips

by Anne Allen
Hello Homemakers! Dirty windows are a bugaboo to us and I think the spring sunshines makes everyone more conscious of them. Then, too, the limp curtains are noticeable when the fresh air blows in. There's one thing about our curtain fabrics of today; they can be either washed or dry-cleaned with safety. There is usually a label on those which cannot be laundered.

Cleaning the windows is done best when the sun is not shining directly on the glass and with a cleaner that suits your purpose. We mean that small panes with sharp corners are best cleaned with a cleanser that does not leave a chalk powder embedded in the crevices. However, a non-scratching chalk is still one of the favorite glass cleaners for large panes. A soapless detergent in warm water is a good house remover. You can clean big picture windows without leaving streaks by using a sponge or damp cloth to apply the solution, then wipe off immediately with a cellulose sponge or damp chamolis that has been squeezed almost dry. Avoid using too much detergent in the water. Too little is better than too much. Coal oil in water is also recommended for cleaning windows that may get a lot of dirt. Use a lintless cloth wet with a solution of 2-tablespoons coal oil to each cupful of water. Dip with a fresh lintless cloth. Liquid cleansers may be sprayed on windows and polished with a piece of old satin or rayon cloth. Remember — these cleaners should not be allowed to dry themselves but should be rubbed dry. Give washable curtains a gentle shake outdoors to remove dust. Then soak them in a dye-warm solution, using a soapless detergent, for several hours. Next, make a fresh solution of mild soap flakes in warm water and wash the curtains by squeezing them gently with your hands. If there is too much soil, apply lightly the rubber plunger from the bathroom. Rinse in two changes of fresh warm water, squeeze out the water and then roll them in a towel — unless they are to be starched.

Short rayon curtains may be hung from their own curtain rods with another rod slipped through the bottom hem to hold them taut. Press hems when dry with lukewarm iron. Cotton curtains (voile, Marquisette, organdie) should be starched, then put on frames for best results.

Curtains may be stiffened with a light starch or a solution of gummed arabic (1 teaspoon of gummed arabic to 1 quart boiling water) or a starch solution made of 4 cups liquid starch with 5 quarts of water. Use only lukewarm solutions. For a basic starch of your own mixing, stir ½ cup starch with ½ cup cold water to a smooth paste, and add 2½ quarts boiling water, cooking over low heat until clear. Add a cake of blue wax compound for easy ironing, and by the way, the resultant shiny finish prevents dust from lodging in the curtains. You can buy a water-proof compound which gives body to curtains and protects them from dark streaks if rain should blow in on them. These compounds need to be used after each washing as they soak out in water.

Press the selvage of a straight curtain first, then the body of the curtain, taking special care to iron hems straight and even. Start from the top hem, iron curtain downward, stroking with the weave. Be careful not to stretch the threads. For a ruffled curtain, do the edge of the ruffle, then nose the iron carefully into the gathers. Do about a foot at a time so you can iron the straight part as you go along, as the body of the curtain tends to dry before the ruffle is finished.

TAKE A TIP

1. When you are decorating, consider white ceilings if possible.
2. For rooms where electric light is in one corner, as in the bathroom or under the kitchen cabinets, you may go modern by papering the ceiling with colorful wallpaper.
3. Tuck away the winter things with tissue paper in the folds to prevent sharp creasing. Make the box air-tight by using gummed tape around the edges.
4. Put an extra mat at entrance doorways to prevent grit from being tracked in and scouring your floors.
5. Always remove door handle plates and switch plates before the painter comes.
6. Do not use too much or too harsh cleaning powder on painted plaster. Measure each fresh portion of water and change the solution often, about every 8 square feet.

BAPTISM SERVICE AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Regular morning worship was conducted in St. John's on Sunday by the minister Rev. John M. Smith. The sermon title was "Happily in the Lord" and the message was based on the words found in Philippians. "Rejoice in the Lord always and again I say rejoice." The choir under the direction of Mr. Norman Laird sang the anthem "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say."

Barbara Edith De Forest, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester De Forest and Robert Arthur Jenkinson, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkinson received the Sacrament of Infant Baptism.

Mr. Alex MacLaren accompanied the congregational singing at the piano for the Sunday evening service. The lesson was read from 1st Corinthians, Chapter 1, verses 18-27, and the sermon was entitled "Foolishness or Power?" It was announced that Rev. Alex F. Cowan of the Norval circuit of the United Church would conduct the worship next Sunday morning, and that in the evening at 8:30 o'clock the sound film "The Power of God" would be shown in Memorial Hall. Mr. Smith will be preaching at anniversary services in Glen Williams United Church.

ASHGROVE

ATTENDS WMS ANNUAL IN GUELPH CHURCH

Mrs. Walter Brownridge attended the Conference Branch Annual meeting of the WMS in Norfolk Street United Church in Guelph on April 25th - 26th.

Not very Spring like over the week-end. She is a bit shy coming around that corner.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Graham motored to Burlington on Monday to attend the funeral of a relative, Dr. Henry Graham Arnott.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Davis and children of Brampton were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson and Marilyn.

Sympathy is extended to the Alexander family in the passing of Mr. John Alexander last week.

Mrs. Sweezy of Toronto has been visiting with her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sweezy and their children.
